HUNT KIDNAPERS OF BANKER

REBEL LEADERS PUZZLE BRAZIL; WHO WILL RULE?

Presidency Offered Vargas; He's Mum.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Oct. 26.—In Rio de Janeiro it was reported tonight that ex-President Washington Luis, with the consent of the junta, has decided to leave Brazil and will sail on the Italian liner Duilio, which leaves Rio on Oct. 28 for Spain.

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Oct. 26.—After two days of revolutionary exhilaration the military junta in Rio de Janeiro is actively consolidating itself by appointing a host of high executive officers. It is clear that any resistance from former federal supporters is out of the question. The question on the lips of every one tonight is: What will Getulio Vargas do?

Dr. Vargas, the defeated Liberal candidate in the presidential elections last February, who started the revolt in the state of Rio Grande do Sul, is en route to Rio de Janeiro from Paragua, the port of the state of Parana.

Is Man of Mystery.

Whether he is coming by plane or by rail is unknown. What his intentions are is unknown. What he will do when he confronts the junta that seized the revolution three weeks late is the crux of the situation. It is said that he has already been asked to assume the presidency. Even if this is correct responsible quarters say there is going to be a grand scramble among the higherups for power and position.

Dr. Vargas is already being referred to popularly and in the press as the president elect. This designation is assumed on belief in the corruption of the last election, in which Julio Prestes was declared winner. The presidency of the military junta, it was semi-officially announced tonight, has been offered Dr. Vargas. But friends say he may prefer to remain in Rio in an unofficial but influential position, directing affairs under cover and abstaining from office so as not to abrogate his rights to candidacy in the new elections. His name is being linked with that of Gen. Juarez Tavora, the northern Liberal leader, who is now at Bahia. It may be they will confer in Rio before taking any definite step.

Backed by 30,000 Men.

Dr. Vargas appears to have several names of action. He has an army of 30,000 gauchos from the south back of him, as well as popular sympathy. The troops are still advancing north now that the federal armies have laid down arms. It seems a question of whether he is determined to take over control of affairs immediately or prefers to let the junta straighten out its mess and then come in under the new elections with a revised constitution and secret ballot for a full presidential term.

There are factors in the situation about which no one tonight seems sure and they will probably be decided early this week when Dr. Vargas, Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, Gen. Pedro da Cunha, Christiano Machado, Mello Soares, Gen. Tavora and other political chiefs, as distinct from the military leaders who have formed the junta, reach Rio de Janeiro.

Burn Down Bastille.

The most serious of yesterday's acts of violence in Sao Paulo was the liberation of all political prisoners as well as criminals in the notorious bastille of Sao Paulo, known as Cambucy prison. The mobs burned the jail down. Only the gaunt and blackened walls are standing. After completing their work on the gambling dens and political clubs the crowds turned to Cambucy which was detested by the populace because it was known for the cruelty and third degree methods practiced there.

Infuriated police control the rabble that broke into the jail, storming the upper stories and opening the doors, letting every one free. All the furnishings and property were then hurled into the street and a fire started. Soon the prison building was set on fire. One was killed and 50 injured in the rioting here.

Riot Also in Rio.

In Rio de Janeiro mobs also tried to effect a jail delivery of political prisoners and journalists. The Rio troops were stricter. The soldiers fired on the mob and one man was killed.

As a mark of popular expression

H. P. WHITNEY, SPORTSMAN AND FINANCIER, DIES

New York, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Harry Payne Whitney, sportsman and banker, died tonight at his home, 871 5th avenue, after an illness of several weeks. It was reported six physicians had been in attendance on Mr. Whitney, who was 58 years old. Death was caused by pneumonia.

At the bedside when Mr. Whitney died were his two daughters, his son, and his two sons-in-law. They are Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Barclay McKee Henry, and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.

The family announced that arrangements for the funeral will be made tomorrow.

Illness Begins with Cold.

The family, through Thomas J. Regan, secretary to the financier, tonight issued the following statement at the Whitney town house:

"On Tuesday, last, at his residence in New York, Mr. Whitney was taken ill with a slight cold with fever from which pneumonia developed, which was apparently not severe until Saturday morning when there was a rapid extension. He died Sunday evening at 9:35 o'clock."

Mr. Whitney not only built up the fortune he had inherited from his father into one of the greatest in America—it has been estimated at $200,000,000—but found time to devote to other interests in sports and social activities.

Won Fame as Polo1st.

As a member of the "Big Four," the celebrated polo team which he organized and led to victory in 1909, he brought back to this country the international polo cup after it had been in England for many years. He was a ten goal handicap player. Even since the close of his playing career he has been prominent in the direction of the game in this country.

Mr. Whitney was born in New York April 29, 1872, the son of William Collins Whitney and Flora Payne Whitney. His father, who had amassed an immense fortune by amalgamating a score or more of surface railways, had a remarkable success in everything he undertook.

The younger Whitney was educated privately and at Yale. After his graduation from that university in 1894 he had been his father's constant companion for several years.

On Many Directorates.

Mr. Whitney had proved himself a thorough sportsman on the water, on the track and on the polo field; and had been a director in a dozen banks and corporations whose capital ran into millions.

He had studied law, too, at Columbia university. He had traveled over most of the world and hunted tigers in India where the viceroy entertained him. Two years after leaving Yale he had been married to Gertrude Vanderbilt, daughter of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Mr. Whitney's one desire was to carry on his father's work, and to carry it along on exactly the same lines the elder Whitney had planned it. He inherited about $24,000,000 when his father died in 1904.

Prominent Figure on Turf.

The work which his father had started in building up the American race track, he carried on. His stable was one of the finest in the country, and his horses won at various times the Pimlico Preakness, the Kentucky Derby, and virtually every other important race on the American track.

But despite his widespread interest in sporting activities Mr. Whitney's principal interest was always business.

HUNDREDS SEE STUDENT PILOT FALL TO DEATH

Michael Molnar, 37 years old, who lived at the Ashburn airport, 79th street and Cicero avenue, where he was a student pilot, was killed late yesterday afternoon when his plane crashed to the field in full view of hundreds of spectators.

Molnar had not qualified for his pilot's license, and his stunts which preceded the crash had first thrilled and then terrified the spectators.

Police Sergeant Francis J. Caraher, who was in the crowd, was on his way to protest to the management when Molnar's plane crashed.

Molnar was dead when taken from the wreckage. The plane was a Cessna four passenger cabin monoplane, powered with a Warner motor. Molnar came to Chicago recently from Pennsylvania, where he was a miner.

'DUMB' BEGGAR FINDS COPPER IS NOT SO DUMB

Answering a knock at the kitchen door of his home at 2236 North Lawndale avenue, Policeman George Willfhoft of the Town Hall station yesterday encountered a man with a pad and pencil, who handed him a note. It read:

"I am deaf and dumb. Can you help me?"

Last winter, having contracted a cold which made him speechless for three weeks, Policeman Willfhoft had mastered the one hand deaf mute alphabet. Raising his right hand, he gesticulated rapidly with his fingers. The mendicant smiled. So did Policeman Willfhoft, who donned his cap and uniform and escorted the man to a patrol box. He was identified later as August Fleming, who in 1922 had been sent to Joliet prison for one to four years for burglary.

"How did you guess?" Fleming asked Policeman Willfhoft, having recovered his voice.

"Easy," replied Willfhoft, "I called you a liar and you smiled."

Trade Future of U. S. Bright, Survey Shows

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Optimism over the future of business, both nationally and internationally, was expressed today by the national business survey conference in a summary of economic conditions for the first nine months of 1930.

The organization, set up a year ago by business and financial leaders in coöperation with President Hoover, has conducted a continuous study of business conditions.

"In the preparation of this summary several factors were apparent," the report, signed by Julius H. Barnes, chairman, said. "Among these were the large amount of new capital provided for productive purposes and evidences of stabilization or advancing tendencies in prices of raw materials. All such factors each business man will wish to weigh for himself."

Bank Loans Increase.

Supporting this conclusion, it was pointed out that lending operations of banks had markedly increased; that capital issues for September were 80 per cent greater than those of August and that "a decreasing number of foreclosures and delinquencies reflected continued improvement in the field of first lien banking." No uniform trend, either up or down, was visible as to savings deposits.

Installment selling of automobiles and other items was said to be showing "no material increase in repossessions." Some betterment exists in wholesale collections, with no change in retail collections. Life insurance selling increased in September over August. Premium income of fire insurance companies has declined.

Public Utilities Build.

For the first nine months of 1930, the report said, residential construction had declined under last year's mark by $714,000,000, but public works and public utility construction had been above last year's volume by $180,000,000. Paving contracts exceded last year's total by 7 per cent. Residential vacancies over the country were normal for September in six out of seventeen districts of the United States.

Street railway traffic in September was 8 per cent under that of the same month last year, but August records of such traffic were 10 per cent under last year's. Freight traffic on railroads was less.

New capital investments in utilities continued to be above last year's records in most cases, the survey continued. Output of electrical equipment was above 1928 levels, though below that of 1929.

Production of cotton seed products and industrial alcohol has been at high rates, the report said. September also "carried forward the seasonal improvement in the textile industry," with increased takings of cotton by mills. Consumption of silk markedly increased.

Foreign trade volume was said to have declined, but it added that abroad there "were promising signs of stable conditions and also of improvement in a variety of industries, scattered through many countries."

Fate of Two Ships Caught In a Storm Is Unknown

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The fate of two unidentified vessels which apparently came to grief in a northeast gale and rainstorm was unknown tonight. One was a three-master, reported ashore on the Northumberland strait coast near Richucto, N. B., the other a schooner, reported five miles off Cape Negro island, Shelburne county, N. S., with one of her masts blown away. Coastal shipping ran for Nova Scotia ports yesterday as the wind increased in velocity, first blowing from the south and southwest and then veering to the northeast.

URGES PASTORS SELL LIQUOR IN CHURCHES TO THIRSTY AT COST

New York, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Only clergymen should be bartenders and school teachers bar maids; only the government or the churches should be permitted to manufacture liquor and sell it at cost; and churches should be used as saloons in the best residential districts, according to the Rev. Dr. S. P. Meyer-Oakes, who preached today at the Fourth Unitarian church in Brooklyn. He offered the proposal as the only remedy he could see for the prohibition problem in its relation to humanity.

"Only men who are trying to save men should be allowed to judge how much a man should be permitted to debauch himself," declared Dr. Meyer-Oakes.

Moran Jailed Again; Needs $20,000 Bond

Despite loud protests that his rights as "an American citizen" were being violated, George (Bugs) Moran, public enemy and gangster, was rearrested yesterday morning at Mrs. Elizabeth Cassidy's resort at Bluff lake, near Antioch, and locked up in the Lake county jail.

Moran had been arrested at the same place a week before, charged with vagrancy in both Lake and Cook counties, booked also for carrying concealed weapons, and released on a total of $30,000 bonds. He was charged yesterday with conspiracy to defeat justice and vagrancy, and an additional $20,000 in bail requested. Unable to furnish the bond, he was put in a cell.

Found Reading Newspapers.

The gangster was lying on a bed, clad in his pajamas and reading the Sunday newspaper accounts of the investigation into the Aiello murder, when Constable George Stried and George Hargrave, private detective, walked in. They were looking for Leo Mongoven, Moran's aid and another public enemy.

"We didn't expect to find you back in Lake county," said Stried. "Come along, Bugs."

"I'm out on bail now," declared Moran, wrathfully. "I've got some rights as an American citizen. You can't pinch me."

But they did. They took him before Justice of the Peace Harold Tallett of North Chicago. He was accused of concealing Mongoven and thus conspiring to defeat justice. The vagrancy charge was added for good measure.

Accused of Hiding Mongoven.

"What are you trying to do, pull some Lyle stuff?" demanded Moran. "This is double jeopardy or something. You can't do it."

But Justice Tallett mildly insisted that he could. He added that he could imprison Moran for contempt of court if he talked too much. The gangster subsided for a moment.

"You're going to be taught to stay out of this county," State's Attorney A. V. Smith told Moran. "You'll be arrested every time you're found here."

Just Out Duck Hunting.

"I was only up here for some innocent little duck hunting," wailed Moran. A shot gun (not sawed off) was found beside his bed.

"What do you know about the murder of Joe Aiello?" he was asked.

"That double crosser?" Moran inquired. "I haven't seen him for eight months. I haven't been in the rackets for four years. I'm a respectable guy."

Moran laughed when questioned about a report that he was reorganizing his gang, demoralized since the St. Valentine's day massacre of 1929, in order to wrest control of Chicago gangs from Al Capone.

"I'm out of it all," he insisted. "I'm not after anybody and no one is after me. Don't get me wrong, though. I'm not afraid of any one, Capone or whoever it is."

Will Be Arraigned Today.

He was reminded that he is to appear in Justice Tallett's court today on the first charge of vagrancy placed against him. On Tuesday, he is due to answer the charge of carrying concealed weapons. Yesterday's new charges will be heard Nov. 5.

Pasquale Prestigiacoma, Aiello's associate, and in whose home Aiello hid for two weeks previous to his murder, will be surrendered to police today, according to his attorney. Prestigiacoma disappeared after the shooting and the investigators believe he may know something about the killing.

Arrangements were made to give Aiello a grandiose funeral Wednesday. A silver bronze casket costing $11,200 was ordered yesterday for the gangster.

WEALTHY GALVA MAN HELD; NOTE SILENCES WIFE

Sworn to Secrecy, Her Friends Say.

Galva, Ill., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Earl L. Yocum, reputed millionaire and president of the Yocum State bank of Galva, was in the hands of kidnapers tonight, held for ransom.

Yocum disappeared last night from in front of his home almost under the eyes of his wife. For several hours there was some doubt as to whether or not he had been kidnaped, but tonight it was learned that Mrs. Yocum had received a letter this afternoon.

"Sworn to Secrecy."

She denied repeatedly receipt of the missive, but it was learned from a friend of the family that a letter had arrived, and that it "swore Mrs. Yocum to secrecy." Authorities pointed out that a ransom letter would naturally bind the recipient to secrecy, and asserted there was no question that the banker was being held until a reward was given for his return.

Reports were that the letter arrived at Galva on a train of the Burlington railroad, east bound. This would indicate that the abductors had taken Yocum to some place west of Galva. On this information, Chicago police who had been asked to join in the search, were inclined to believe the abductors were not Chicagoans but members of a gang operating in central Illinois or St. Louis.

Citizens Form Posses.

The disappearance of Yocum aroused this town of 3,000 persons. About 40 citizens, all friends of the banker, formed a posse under Sheriff Charles Nash of Henry county, and searched the rural districts and nearby small towns. They began their search last night, continued until early in the morning, and resumed their hunt at daybreak today.

Yocum vanished at the gateway of his residence, a few minutes after he had driven his daughters, Ann, 8, and Mary, 13, to a motion picture theater. He drove back, and was walking toward his house when a man stepped up to him, and asked him directions to a neighbor's home.

Wife Sees Encounter.

Mrs. Yocum, sitting in the living room a short distance away, observed the meeting, and overheard part of the conversation. She did not understand the name of the neighbor given by the stranger. Thinking nothing of the incident, she turned away.

When her husband failed to appear a few minutes later she became uneasy. An hour passed, and then two. She picked up the telephone. It was dead. Certain then that some harm had befallen her husband, she hurried to a neighbor's home, and notified Sheriff Nash.

The sheriff examined the telephone wires and found they had been clipped at a pole at the edge of the garden. Apparently the kidnapers had severed the wires to prevent a speedy alarm.

Daughter Saw Two Men.

Clews were meager but it was learned from Mary, the elder daughter, that a small automobile was standing near the front of the Yocum home at the time that she, her sister and her father drove to the motion picture house. Two men, neither of whom she knew, were seated in the machine.

As reconstructed by Sheriff Nash, the kidnaping was accomplished by one of the men asking house directions, walking out toward the car with Yocum, and then forcing him into the machine. Evidently he was gagged for no cries for help or sounds of a struggle were heard.

A thorough inspection of the roads leading to the Yocum residence and extended investigation along the highways leading into the town yielded no information as to the abductors. It was thought, however, that they drove along the highways probably 100 miles or more away. It was possible also, that the two men after overpowering Yocum drove him to another and larger automobile and turned him over to confederates.

Highly Regarded in Galva.

Yocum is described as a family man of exemplary habits and prominent in financial and business activities of the Kewanee and Galva region. He is well known to bankers in Chicago. Among them Norman J. Ford, executive vice president of the Continental-Illinois Bank & Trust company. Mr. Ford was notified of Yocum's disappearance.

Yocum is 50 years old, short and stocky, and weighs about 190 pounds. When last seen he was attired in a blue suit, blue overcoat, and gray fedora hat.

Originality Is Keynote of Women's '30-'31 Fashions

White hats for milady for winter! Ridiculous? By no means. Last year or the year before they might have seemed a bit bizarre—but not in these days of varied mode. Originality is the keynote of winter styles. Fashion experts are doing a lot of different things with fabrics and trimmings and styles. The departure from set fashions this season can be noted everywhere.

A wool frock forms the background for a silver flower and silver buttons. The hostess gown—an autumn innovation—delights the heart of every woman, for it affords her an opportunity to wear a distinctive, unusual costume in her own home. Then there's what they call the paja-gown—a compromise between the old-fashioned night gown and pajamas. Shoes, gloves, bags, tailored suits—every article of feminine apparel exhibits a touch of originality.

And there's another fascinating note in the fashion situation. These charming new styles cost no more than ordinary garments. Unusual styles at unusually attractive prices make this the profitable time to assemble that winter wardrobe.

in the aims of gangsters who have found that ransom collecting is more profitable and less hazardous than other rackets such as bootlegging. The whisking away of Yocum was not perilous to the hoodlums, for he was not armed and could not resist.

It is easier, also, than the robbery of small banks, of which there has been an epidemic in Illinois towns, especially in Will county, during the last few weeks. However, the kidnaping racket, as distinguished from the old time abductions such as that of Charlie Ross, Edward Cudahy, and others, is a new enterprise dating back to 1927.

Other Bankers Abducted.

Members of the gambling fraternity are the most frequent sufferers from this new parasitic business. However, bankers were not omitted. The outstanding case was that of Charles W. Pershall, bank director of St. Louis, Mo., whose family paid $40,000 for his release after he had been held two days. Another instance outside the gambling circle was the kidnaping of Thomas Gaynor, part owner of the McCormick hotel, in Chicago, who was spirited away in April, 1928, but rescued by a police squad near Crystal Lake several days later. The original ransome demand for his release was $100,000. The month before James E. Hall, hotel owner of Detroit, was kidnaped, and released on the reported payment of $10,000.

Bank in Good Condition.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Record of the state bank examiners' office here tonight show that the Yocum State bank of Galva is in excellent condition, and bears a reputable name.

ADAMS PRAISES NAVY MEN WHO RESCUED FLYERS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Four naval officers who rescued several army flyers from drowning in the Pacific ocean and three navy enlisted men who aided them have been commended by Secretary Adams.

The army planes were on a training flight in the Hawaiian islands when the flyers fell in the ocean and were rescued.

Meninrad A. Schur, W. C. Herbster, Lieut. C. A. Hawkins of Wichita, Kas., and Lieut. W. R. Spear of Chula Vista, Cal., have been given special letters of commendation.

In Absence of Other Food, Floyd Is Full of Prunes

Floyd Simpson was freed last night from a freight car in which he had been a prisoner for five days and nights when a brakeman discovered him in the Alton yards, near Canal and Harrison streets. Floyd is a 15 year old colored boy, whose home is in Lovejoy, down near Cairo, and he crawled into the car there to take a little ride. When they sealed the door on him Floyd didn't mind very much, because the car was loaded with prunes, and Floyd was fond of prunes. But last evening when the brakeman let him out after 120 hours of prune diet Floyd said: "Boss, I wants no more prunes."

Hunt Woman's $5,000 in Gems Missing at Hotel

Chicago avenue police last night were investigating the disappearance of $5,000 in jewelry belonging to Mrs. Annie R. Harwood of Brookline, Mass., from her room in the Drake hotel last week. The loss had been kept secret to permit a secret inquiry. The gems were in Mrs. Harwood's purse, which was found empty later in a corridor of the hotel.

Bandits Rob Cashier of Movie House in Berwyn

Two young bandits held up Miss Vivian Bullinger, cashier of the Berwyn theater, 22d street and Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn, and escaped with $222 last night. The robbers arrived and escaped in a small automobile.

PUPIL AND HIS INSTRUCTOR DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Fall on Golf Course Just Outside Mitchel Field.

Mitchel Field, L. I., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—A student pilot and his instructor plunged 1,580 feet to instant death just off the boundary of this field shortly before 11 o'clock this morning as they were trying to make an emergency landing after their motor had started to fail. The plane, which fell in full view of a group of golfers and the occupants of a score of automobiles along the Hempstead turnpike, struck the ground on the eleventh hole of the Cold Stream Country club, 500 yards short of Mitchel field. So terrific was the impact that both men were thrown clear of the wreckage.

The two men killed were Maj. Philip Watson, 36 years old, who lived with his wife and two children at Westbury, L. I., and Julius Nester, 27 years old, of New Rochelle.

Flyer of Experience.

Maj. Watson was a prominent member of the air corps reserve with headquarters at this field, and was a flyer of long experience. He was a graduate of the army air corps school at Kelly field, Texas, and has been actively engaged in commercial flying for several years.

Destruction of the plane was so complete that officials inquiring into the cause of the accident had to rely mostly on the story of Horace H. Nance of Bellerose, Queens, who was playing golf when the plane crashed within sixty feet of him.

Nance said that when he first saw the plane its engine had begun to sputter and he saw the pilots tilt it up sharply into a vertical bank turn to head back against a strong northwest wind for Mitchel airport.

Thrown from Controls.

He said the machine seemed to careen for a moment in the turn, as if the air were particularly rough, and from his description other flyers said that Maj. Watson, who was flying without a safety belt, must have been thrown away from his controls.

The plane never quite recovered normal flying position after the turn, Nance said. From the vertical bank it started to fall, and then partly leveled out its wings as the nose dropped into a fast dive. It struck the golf course before the two men could regain control, he added.

It was his opinion that Maj. Watson was thrown out before the plane struck as he found the body nearly fifty feet away. The belt of the student showed breaks in three places, indicating that he also had been thrown out by the force of the crash.

Lindy's Air Tutor Killed.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Errold G. Bahl, 35, aviator and former flying instructor of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, was killed here today when his motor car collided with another machine. Charles Remington, a salesman, who drove the other car, said Bahl disregarded a traffic signal light. Bahl, a native of Nebraska, had been flying since 1918.

BRITISH AVIATRIX IS NOW HOLDER OF TWO ACROSS U. S. RECORDS

Valley Stream, N. Y., Oct. 26.—(AP)—With a smile on her wind burned face, Mrs. Keith Miller of Australia set her "bullet" plane down at Curtis-Wright airport at 3:02 p. m. today, thereby establishing a new women's speed record for west-east transcontinental flight. It was her second record in a few days, for she recently flew to the Pacific coast faster than any other woman ever did.

Her total flying time from Los Angeles to New York was 21 hours and 47 minutes, almost four hours better than the record of 25 hours, 35 minutes recently set by Miss Laura Ingalls. It was, however, far behind Capt. Frank Hawks' best time of 12 hours 25 minutes.

Recently the Australian aviatrix flew to Los Angeles in 25 hours 44 minutes.

In her record smashing flight to the east coast, she made several stops, the last being at Columbus, O., where she stayed last night. Taking off at 10:53 a. m. today without having had any breakfast, she conquered cross winds which blew her far to the north of her scheduled course and arrived here four hours and nine minutes after the takeoff. That meant an average speed of about 120 miles an hour.

Greeted by a small but enthusiastic crowd, she smiled and said:

"I'm glad to be here. I'm happy to have set records both ways. My plane behaved beautifully."

Among those waiting to congratulate her was Capt. William Lancaster, with whom she once made a difficult flight from London to Australia.

Police Shoot Two Negroes Caught in Act of Holdup

Homer Mitchell, 3250 South State street, and Walter Cannon, 537 East 33d street, both Negroes, were surprised by three policemen early this morning in the act of robbing Frank G. Odell, who lives at the Y. M. C. A. hotel, and were shot as they attempted to escape. The Negroes seized Odell as he was passing an alley near 31st and State streets and dragged him behind a building. His cries attracted Policemen Olaf Gustafson, John McGuinn, and Philip Powers of the Stanton avenue station, and they went to his rescue. The Negroes fled and the police fired, wounding Mitchell in the foot and Cannon in the hip.

Dr. Hutton, Noted English Ecclesiastic, Dies at 70

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Very Reverend William Holden Hutton, dean of Winchester since 1919 and one of the most learned ecclesiastics of the English church, died yesterday. He was 70 years old. He had a great many works to his credit, including "The Misrule of Henry the Third," "Simon de Montfort," 'and "Saint Thomas of Canterbury."

King George's Daughter in Crash; Escapes Injury

LONDON, Oct. 27 [Monday].—Princess Mary, daughter of King George and Queen Mary, and her husband, the earl of Harewood, escaped injuries near Leeds yesterday when their automobile collided with a roadster driven by a woman. Both machines were badly damaged and the occupants shaken.

LAND FIRST AIR PASSENGER FROM LOS ANGELES-N. Y.

New York, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—The first through passenger over an all-air transport route from Los Angeles to New York arrived tonight after dark at the Newark airport over the route of the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., which was officially opened Saturday by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The first eastbound plane was eleven minutes late in arriving over the thirty-six hour run. The plane was forced to battle head winds over the last 100 miles, the pilot, H. G. Andrews, said.

The first passenger to step from the plane is hurrying to India and made the flight so that he might catch his boat which is scheduled to sail from here this morning. He is Elstner Hilton, Pebble Beach, Cal., engineer, on his way to erect machinery for sawmills in the interior of India.

Greeted by Bands.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Greeted by bands, the first westbound air liner carrying passengers and mail over the new Transcontinental and Western air express, New York-to-Los Angeles line, arrived at 7:28 p. m., 22 minutes ahead of schedule.

Chicagoan Drowned on Hunting Trip; Boat Sinks

Joseph Welter, for eighteen years personal chauffeur for Robert Hall McCormick, 25 East Erie street, was drowned yesterday when a leaky boat sank under him in the Liverpool canal south of Canton, Ill. He was hunting at the time with his brother, Frank Welter, and a friend, John Pike. The brother and Pike swam to safety. Welter is survived by his widow, two sons, Walter and Joseph, and a daughter, Eleanor. He was 48 years old.

KILLING REVEALS FLAWS IN DRY LAW OF ILLINOIS

State Fee Sleuth Gets Manslaughter Term.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Although William D. Knight, state's attorney of Winnebago county, had made a record as a zealous dry raider, it became his duty in 1928 to prosecute for murder a young man who had, in the name of the Illinois prohibition enforcement law, shot and killed a notorious bootlegger.

This case not only revealed the weak spots in the state law but brought to a new conclusion the old conflict under which so many killers have escaped punishment in the federal courts, the conflict between those citizens who hold that murder is murder and the dry enthusiasts who are willing to overlook the occasional sacrifice of a bootlegger's life, or even that of a suspected innocent, for the sake of this cause.

The case was that in which John Beyer Jr., then 21 years old, a dry sleuth under the state fee system, killed William Petroff, roadhouse proprietor, in South Beloit, on Nov. 15, 1927. The trial was held in Rockford two months later in the state court and Beyer was found guilty and sent to Pontiac for 1 to 14 years.

Not Tried in Federal Court.

Had Beyer been tried in the federal courts and had he held the badge of authority of a federal officer he would not have been convicted under the evidence which showed that a liquor law violator, a felon in the eyes of this law, had menaced his life.

"It is not a question whether Petroff sold intoxicating liquor or not," was the surprising view presented to the jury by Prosecutor Knight. "There is only one thing to vote on—was there justification for this shooting?

"Beyer had no right to carry a revolver or arrest any one. The facts and the law show he is guilty of murder. He went in there to get liquor as evidence and to shoot his way out if necessary. There was no self-defense plea tenable. He showed he had murder in his heart when he went away leaving Petroff bleeding to death.

"The laws of Moses come before the eighteenth amendment. 'Thou shalt not kill' is the strongest of all. There is no place in the Illinois law where it says you can kill a bootlegger."

Defense Takes U. S. View.

Attorney B. J. Knight, cousin of the prosecutor, who defended Beyer, took the view that has been heard successfully so many times in federal courts.

"Enforcement of the dry law is involved in this case," he said. "The eighteenth amendment is in the constitution and is binding on you today. It makes no difference whether you think it an unwise law or not; it is part of our inherent government and should be carried out. When Petroff came out of his kitchen with liquor in his hand he had no legal standing in America. Do you think the law abiding citizens of the county want a conviction here? Will such a verdict help stamp out such places as this? Will a verdict of guilty suppress crime? There is something deeper here."

The same sort of argument was made in the Hanson case in Niagara Falls by the United States attorney defending the killer, but with a result just the opposite.

Another sort of view was argued by Carl A. Swenson of defense counsel, who said:

"This might have happened in Rockford, with a man hired by the state's attorney. It is a situation arising from the law that a man specially clothed with authority is sent out to investigate the sale of liquor. This sort of investigator is a necessary evil under the system in Illinois, under which those who get the evidence under which violators are fined get 10 per cent of the fine.

"This man may be guilty under the strict law, but sometimes we have to go to a higher court. He is like a spy in war time. Experience shows that this act can be enforced in no other way. A dangerous man was selling bootleg liquor. That's the reason for all this. In his youth the defendant may have overreached himself, that is all."

Beyer's Story of Shooting.

Beyer, it appeared, had been clothed with "moral authority" to make liquor raids by Chief of Police William Moodie of South Beloit. He had just bought a new revolver and stepped across the state line one night to get evidence against the Petroff place. That the evidence was the dominant thing in his mind, even after the shooting, is shown by his own story.

He had been served with a glass of white moonshine and one of water and was reaching for money to pay for the drink when his coat fell open, exposing his police star. Petroff and his bartender, John Ray, saw it and came toward him in a threatening manner. Petroff lunged across the bar at Beyer.

"I took the glasses off the bar and held them in my left hand as Petroff lunged," Beyer said. "I backed up to get away from the blow. I had taken the revolver from the holster when I heard the bartender cry out a warning, and had him covered as he came toward me. I kept the gun pointed between the two men.

"Things happened pretty fast around there and I was so nervous I don't know just what happened to my gun. But I gripped it and it went off. Petroff grabbed his arm and went toward the kitchen. He came back and wanted me to get a doctor, as he was bleeding. I said I would get one as soon as I could.

"I held the gun at Ray and told him to back up. I set the glasses down and put the handcuffs on him, and took him out to his car, telling him to drive as fast as he could to the police station. I told him to be careful in turning the corners, as I was afraid of spilling the contents of the glasses. We drove to the station and I told the chief I had shot a man and to get a doctor. I locked Ray up and put the glasses in the safe."

Petroff, left alone, and unable to reach the telephone or aid, bled to death. An hour elapsed between the shooting and the time that he reached the hospital.

This is the seventeenth of a series of prohibition articles. The next will appear tomorrow.

LABORITES OUST NATIONALISTS IN AUSTRALIAN VOTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 26.—British capitalists are said to have cause for worry over the results of the New South Wales elections, which registered an overwhelming majority for the Labor party. The Laborites gained 12 seats in the legislative assembly, giving them 54 against 36 for the Nationalists out of a total of 90.

The avalanche was said to be due to the tightening of credits and unprecedented unemployment. The campaign was fought solely on the Niemeyer agreement for the repayment of loans from Great Britain.

Hunt Relatives of Victim Drowned Off Erie Street

A man about 50 years old, believed to have been Charles P. Campbell of 109 North Wabash avenue, leaped or fell into the lake at the foot of Erie street yesterday and was drowned before he could be rescued. Identification was established through a membership card of the Elks lodge in the victim's pockets, and police last night were seeking his relatives. A number of traveler's checks and $69 in cash was in the man's pockets.

BROKERS SLAY SELVES; DEBTS MET BY POLICIES

Partners Carry Million in Insurance Each.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Sidney F. Tyler Brock, socially prominent member of the brokerage firm of Reilly, Brock & Co., shot and killed himself this afternoon, three days after his partner, George K. Reilly, had ended his own life.

Mr. Brock's suicide on the twenty-fourth floor of the Chancellor Hall apartments here, followed within sixty hours his assignment of the assets of the brokerage house to a group of bankers, so that liquidation for the benefit of creditors might be facilitated.

Brock left, it was learned, $675,000 worth of incontestable life insurance, the same amount Mr. Reilly had left for the firm. Each man carried $1,000,000 worth of policies, according to Sigourney Mellor, an insurance broker.

Expected to Pay Out.

Mr. Mellor said that Brock's insurance, added to the assets of the firm, which included insurance money from Mr. Reilly's estate, probably would be sufficient to make up a deficiency between assets and liabilities.

"I hope and pray it will make the assets enough to pay off creditors now that both have done this foolish thing," said Mr. Mellor. "I am certain beyond the slightest doubt that they had no thought of suicide in their minds when they took out these policies. In fact, they took them out at my earnest request that they protect their business and its large transactions.

"They both started out in a small way with me back in 1913. They were prevailed upon by me to increase their insurance in 1914, again in 1916, and finally in 1929."

Creditors Are "Reassured."

Tonight agents for the brokerage firm's assignees, C. S. W. Paikard, president of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities, and C. Stevenson Newhall, executive vice president of the company, issued a brief statement to "reassure the creditors."

Members of Mr. Brock's family and his business associates attributed his suicide to the mental pressure and worries which followed his partner's death, and to the announcement that the firm's liabilities probably would considerably exceed the assets.

Francis A. Lewis, Mr. Brock's brother-in-law, who is connected with the law firm of Duane, Morris & Heckscher, said the Broker went to the Chancellor Hall apartments to examine an apartment with a view to renting it.

When he failed to return home, telephone calls resulted in discovery of the tragedy.

Mr. Brock was a graduate of Harvard and was a member of the Rittenhouse, Racquet and Guelph Mills golf clubs.

POLICE RAID BARS WITH CAMERA; TAKE PATRONS' PICTURES

Boston, Mass., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The "flash light raid," something new in official police visits to speakeasies in this section, was introduced today when blue coated raiders visited two suspected dispensers of illicit beverages.

No liquor was found at either place and no arrests were made.

Capt. Jeremiah Gallivan, who introduced the system, said it was for the purpose of giving the courts specific evidence that the places had been visited and inspected.

INDIAN SUMMER RETURNS AFTER A BIT OF WINTER

Indian summer returned to Chicago yesterday after a brief spell of premature winter, and citizens made a lark of it in motor cars, yachts and cruisers, and saunterings and picnics in the parks and forest preserves.

This season of the year, which Chicagoans contend, has no equal for balmy weather and the mellow beauty of farm and countryside, appears to have returned for its usual stay after its brief interruption.

Yesterday was as truly Indian summer as the McCutcheon cartoon. Throughout the day there was scarcely a cloud in the sky. The mercury, which at 5 a. m. registered 38, rose rapidly to reach the maximum of 65 at 3 p. m. Its recession was more leisurely, the last official reading being 60 at 9 p. m.

SALLY READY FOR NEW WEEK OF JOB PROVIDING

Pleas Pour In; Offers to Help Numerous.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

There were indications yesterday that Sally Joy Brown is in for another busy week supplying jobs for the jobless. Even though Sally was due for a respite yesterday after her strenuous ten days of work handling telephone and mail requests for workers, several messages arrived through both channels during the day to help brighten the outlook this Monday morning at the Illinois Free Employment service, 116 North Dearborn street, where the work is being dispensed.

One of the applications for help yesterday came from the mother of a well known comedian, now starring in the "big time" productions. She advised Sally's temporary understudy that she has a nice, quiet apartment that will provide an excellent home for some girl or woman who is capable about housework, and that a good bed and plenty of food will go with the wages she will pay. A similar offer arrived almost on the heels of the first.

Youth Tells His Story.

On the other hand, there came a letter from a young fellow who, from the address he gave, is spending his nights in a flophouse on the near south side. His story is typical, therefore it is quoted here in part.

"I'm 29 years old, high school graduate, with ten years' service with one concern. Due to slackness in business was laid off. Will take any kind of employment, have an invalid mother to support, and if I don't land employment can't see much of a future for us this winter. Have experience in office work such as distribution of labor, all kinds of timekeeping, cashier work, checking material; one year in a hotel as night clerk. Would take work as watchman or anything that will assist my supporting of my mother.

"Can't afford to pay the employment agencies. Listed with the best of them, but it is only a waste of time. Please hold my name from print, and if you need one use Frank Stewart, which is not known to my friends."

Another Unable to Get Job.

Another, older man wrote that he was a stove repair man and could do all sorts of such work, setting up furnaces and similar jobs. But though he is listed with all employment agencies has not been able to find a place. He has two daughters, 10 and 15, and both his wife and the girls need clothes. They are behind with their rent and his wife is unable to work to help out at present.

Ruth D—— writes that she is a nonunion proofreader with six years' experience and can furnish excellent references, but has been out of work for four months. She is 26, a high school graduate, and deeply discouraged.

Another young man, a prospective father, 23 years old, has had no work in his trade of machinist and assembler for six months. He declares he has looked everywhere for work without success and, having no money for the hospital bills, is desperately anxious to secure work.

A young wife writes to plead for help in getting work for her husband in a hotel or restaurant. She adds that he haunts the employment bureaus daily without encouragement. He has had no job for eleven months, "so please, if you could write us a letter, as we have no telephone, we would be so thankful and always remember you."

DEDICATE HOME FOR CHICAGO'S HOMELESS TODAY

Dedication of the Wrigley shelter for the homeless and the conference of county officials on the proposed house to house canvass for a community chest are major events on today's program in the campaign for unemployment relief.

The six story brick structure at 509 North Union avenue, use of which was donated to the Salvation Army by William Wrigley Jr., will be formally opened as "New Start Lodge" at 3:30 p. m. Lewis E. Myers, president of the board of education, chairman of the unemployment committee of the governor's commission, and chairman of the Salvation Army board, will preside.

List of Speakers.

Scheduled speakers are D. F. Kelly, president of the Catholic charities and president of the Fair store; Warren Wright, president of the Lincoln Park board; George W. Dixon, member of the Salvation Army board; Dean Shaller Mathews, president of the Chicago Church federation; Rabbi Louis Mann, and Commissioner W. A. McIntyre of the Salvation Army.

Upwards of 2,000 men are being fed daily and 1,200 sheltered nightly in the building. "New Start lodge," as a name, suggests the purpose of the Army to afford not only food and lodging but rehabilitation to the wayfarers applying there. Where employment is available within the building the men will be given the work and cash recompense and aided in finding jobs outside.

Clothing will be fumigated each night and baths made available. Plans call for installation of a barber shop, tailor shop, and shoe repair shop, each to be manned by craftsmen to be found among those seeking aid at the institution. The workmen are to be paid, but their services are to be free to lodgers.

County Meeting at Noon.

The meeting of county elective officials and department heads was scheduled for noon in the office of A. J. Cermak, president of the county board and author of the plan for the door to door canvass, to be conducted by as many of the county's 3,000 employés as may be spared from their regular duties. Another proposal which Mr. Cermak advanced and which the conference will consider, is that of a "voluntary tax" for all county employés, a plan which the south park and postoffice employés have already adopted.

Two hundred of the destitute men who congregate on the lower level of the Michigan avenue bridge relished an unexpected lunch yesterday when Mrs. P. A. Gross, 4737 Ogiesby avenue, club woman and wife of an insurance broker, arrived with 200 hot hamburger sandwiches in her car.

Mrs. Gross, observing the destitution of the bridge colony when alighting from her car on Thursday, purchased the sandwich materials on Friday and yesterday made them up, with the aid of her daughter, Lorraine, and the maid and chauffeur. Several other women appeared on the same mission.

Falls 65 Feet in Airshaft; Found Alive 18 Hrs. Later

New York, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Eighteen hours after he had fallen 65 feet in an airshaft, Samuel Knopp, 45 years old, was found today in a basement store room in a semi-conscious condition.

handsome is as hassel does

"Polished brass will pass upon more people than rough gold"—the Mauve Decade may have coined the epigram, but the truth shines through. People are still taken in by appearances. They disregard the finer qualities which are not apparent to the casual eye.

In general you can copy the style of a fine shoe, but certain subtleties of cut remain indefinable to even expert copyists. Hassel's make no effort to copy any shoe—but they do buy and sell the best shoes for less money. By "best shoes" we mean the actual leathers, lasts, and findings, as well as, stitch for stitch, the fine craftsmanship that you will find in any shoe of acknowledged excellence. You may question how we are able to do it at a lesser price. And we can answer that a low, one-store Dearborn Street rent and the largest volume of business of any men's shoe store in America makes it possible. It's a simple story but a true one. $5 to $14—Savings of $2 to $6. Doesn't that encourage you to walk an extra block for Hassel shoes?

OUR ETHICS

Every case taken is handled under the personal supervision of the Founder of the WELLINGTON INSTITUTE, who watches the progress of each case himself. This is his eighth year of continuous service to the Chicago public here in the loop. We have no other office. No "chain" of offices, with other people in charge. We are not commercialized.
The same specialist is here year after year—WELLINGTON.
Our treatment must recommend itself. We have no selling talk. Your scalp is carefully examined and its exact condition explained. We do not sell any manufactured product, or even ask if you will return for further treatment. Our facilities are extensive, our whole institute surgically clean and hygienic to the last degree. Our operators have been with us for years. We administer one full half hour demonstration treatment without charge, and you decide at your leisure about further service.

Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment

Under the Mercury Quartz Lamp, $1.50

This Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment, however, is only part of our Complete Scientific Treatment. For cases of "oily hair" it is sometimes used by itself.

For dry, tight scalps; brittle, falling hair; itching or baldness, the Ultra-Violet Ray treatment is followed by vibratory and hand massage to loosen the scalp and increase circulation; by the gentle application of high frequency current to electrify and tone the muscles and tissues, and whatever is required of ointments or stimulating and nourishing medicants. These are applied to the scalp (not the hair) and gently warmed into it by the rays from the Infra-Red Lamp.

THIS COMPLETE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT attacks the disorders of the scalp from every angle, and leaves it all aglow with increased circulation, soft, pliable, free from dryness and tightness, and with a wonderful feeling of increased vitality. This complete treatment, Including the Ultra-Violet Ray, is $3.50

GOOD FELLOWS FIND A THRILL IN AIDING NEEDY

Contributions Continue to Help Destitute.

Good Fellows continued yesterday to send pledges and contributions for the relief of the city's destitute families to the Good Fellow headquarters in THE TRIBUNE public service office at 1 South Dearborn street.

"Not since war days with their call to the colors have I experienced such a thrill," wrote a woman in a letter accompanying her $5 check. "... Hard times are a blessing when they inspire people everywhere to unite to alleviate poverty and suffering."

"It is my opinion," wrote another Good Fellow donor of $5, "that if more people thought their money would go directly to those that deserve assistance that your fund would grow rapidly."

Examined for Worthiness.

The only thing indirect about the Good Fellow plan is that the recipients are investigated by trained social service workers of the United Charities, Central Charity bureau [Catholic], Jewish Social Service bureau, or Salvation Army to determine the worthiness and the needs of families seeking aid before the funds are distributed. All of the Good Fellow money goes to destitute families; the expense of administration is paid by THE TRIBUNE.

"More will follow," said a third Good Fellow giver of $5. "I am one of the unemployed white collar guys myself."

"I realize that the Good Fellow won't be able to give direct help to more than a small fraction of the city's 75,000 destitute families," wrote a downtown merchant in a letter pledging himself to adopt one of the needy families for the winter. "However, if the Good Fellows can break the buyers' strike by reviving public morale, loosening the public's purse strings, there will be an improvement in the economic situation generally, and there will be many more jobs.

Must Stimulate Industry.

"So much of the relief effort is directed toward furnishing jobs for the jobless through construction of public improvements. Private industry must be stimulated before there is any decided movement toward a return of prosperity. The Good Fellows are doing much for private industry by driving away the blues."

The organization of Good Fellow clubs—in offices, churches, factories, and social groups—is bringing men and women together on the thought that they as individuals are pretty well off. The clubs are being formed so that a group of folks with limited funds for charity can lump small contributions and adopt a family for the winter on a budget of $100 a month, more or less, depending on the size of the family.

Plan Halloween Party.

At the Shoreland hotel, 5454 South Shore drive, for example, the management reports that the guests have organized a Halloween party for Friday night for the benefit of the Good Fellow fund. Guests are contributing suitable objects for a bazaar raffle, and all receipts from the bazaar will go to some family that needs, milk, beans, coal, and shoes.

One of the smaller Good Fellow clubs of office associates that reported yesterday was a group of girls from a department of a national magazine. Then sent $9 and a promise to repeat this amount at regular intervals. This will buy lots of plain food for women and children who are hungry.

Nearby on this page is a coupon that may be used for enrollment among the Good Fellows, as an individual or with associations, with a donation of $1 or a pledge of $100 a month. If you have food, clothing, shelter, and heat for yourself, don't you want to help those who haven't?

ROOSEVELT MEDAL TO BE PRESENTED TO GREEN, LABOR CHIEF

New York, Oct. 26. — (AP) — The Roosevelt distinguished service medal will be presented to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Dr. Hastings H. Hart, noted penologist, at a banquet of the Roosevelt Memorial association tomorrow night, the 72d anniversary of President Roosevelt's birth.

Mr. Green receives the medal for his work "in the cause of industrial peace," Dr. Hart "for the promotion of social justice."

The association has awarded a third medal for 1930 to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, but a speaking engagement in Newark will prevent his attendance at the dinner. The medal will be bestowed on him at the meeting in 1931.

"DEAD" FARMER QUITS BED AND DINES HEARTILY

Marengo, Ia., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—William H. Dalzell, 86, retired pioneer farmer, was pronounced dead last Wednesday by his physician. Today he arose from his bed, walked to the dining room and ate a hearty dinner.

"There's nothing the matter with me, I'm all right," he explained to friends who called to congratulate him on his narrow escape from the grave.

Mr. Delzell suffered a second stroke of paralysis Wednesday. Mrs. David Delzell, his sister in law, found him unconscious and summoned the family physician. He could find no pulse and pronounced the aged man dead. Other relatives were summoned and an undertaker was to be called when a member of the family noticed a slight puff in the cheeks. Stimulants were hurriedly given and a half hour later Delzell was breathing normally. He remained in bed until yesterday, and today apparently is as well as ever.

His physician said Delzell's face showed the pallor of death and that his body was apparently lifeless. Members of the family believe that moving his body from the chair to the bed and contact with the cold sheets were factors in vitalizing the spark of life still remaining in the body.

DRY AGENT SLAIN AS HE HUNTS RUM AT INDIAN FETE

Banning, Cal., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Death joined the solemn dance to the dead on the Morongo Indian reservation four miles from here today and brought a week of fiesta to an end.

Condido Hopkins, federal prohibition agent, and Oscar Olsen, a special officer, invaded the fiesta, walked past the grotesque effigies of departed ancestors and went to Indian John Hyde's house in search of liquor.

A dozen Indians were in the house. They resented the intrusion of the white man. Olsen backed out. A shot was fired and Olsen dropped, shot in the heart.

Several Indians were arrested as material witnesses while the department of justice took charge of the investigation.

A NEGRO MOTHER HOPES AND KEEPS HER LAUGH ALIVE

Charity Statistics Yield a Story of Courage.

Statistics are interesting but dry.

How many thousands of Negro families have come north to the mecca of Chicago during the great migration of the last ten years, how they have fared economically, what proportion of crime waves may be attributed to them, and what they have contributed to the city's life are matters that make nice booklets with blue and white bindings.

That the Negroes are the hardest hit of all the laboring classes in the present depression, the last to be hired and the first to be fired, and that the suffering among them is widespread and intense, is the testimony of all the social service agencies. They form a big problem for the United Charities, the Catholic charities, the Salvation Army, and the smaller organizations among their own people, particularly the churches.

Getting Down to Cases.

We will leave generalities here and travel out to the near south side, to a street number furnished by the Salvation Army.

It is in a tumbledown, unpainted, sagging row of houses, most of them untenanted. A rap on the door brings a good looking young colored woman, a baby in her arms, and three small children tagging at her skirts. She is friendly as soon as she discovers that it is not a collector of some kind.

Her simple story is soon told, as she leads the visitor to an uncarpeted, uncurtained room, where the windows rattle in the wind and the tiny stove struggles with drafts. A trunk is the main piece of furniture. This was bought in their great and hopeful journey north from Mississippi five years ago.

"We had money then and paid our own fare," she says proudly.

Hope Keeps Them Going.

Her attitude is fatalistic and somewhat childish.

"I guess it was bound to come this way," she says. "But some day, somebody will give us some work or something.

"They sure is making it tough for us this winter. When we come up here my husband had a job running an elevator at the stockyards, but they laid him off ten months ago and he only had three days work since. Now he is out in the alleys with a pushcart, getting rags and bottles.

"Some times we makes it and sometimes we doesn't. Maybe it'll be better when these new voters gets in, but I dunno. I guess it don't make no difference which a way that goes. I heard two white ladies sayin' that times was hard ever since that Mayor Thompson gets in, and it makes me laugh and laugh.

"I believes in puttin' on joy and laughin', even though the heart is breaking."

Her house was clean and the children were clean and bright, the oldest 7, the youngest 5 months.

A month ago the family was reported to the Salvation Army and the army has been sending in groceries since then.

Rent? They had what they considered a happy break there. The building in which they live has been condemned by the city.

"We ain't paid no rent for six months," says the mother. "We don't know when we have to move, or where."

Just One of Thousands.

Investigation by the army showed the man's work record good, and there is no police record or appeal to any other charity. It is just one of thousands of new families forced to the charity line this winter. The children need dresses, underclothing and shoes. The mother needs clothes, too, but she has not asked for them.

"Do you like Chicago?" she is asked.

"No," is the positive answer.

"Want to go back to Mississippi?"

Woman, Ill for 50 Years, Turns 91 and Is "Happy"

Woodburne, N. Y., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—For fifty years a prisoner in a cell of easy chairs, old lacy counterpanes and old lavender, Miss Harriett E. Streng celebrated her ninety-first birthday today, "very happy to be of this world, thanks." Because of illness, she has been unable to leave her room in the great stone house her father, a wealthy tanner, built for her at Woodburne, in the Catskills, almost a century ago.

MINNEAPOLIS CHICAGO ST. PAUL

U. S. WILL SPEND 19 MILLION ON 14 ILLINOIS JOBS

Machinery Is Blamed for Unemployment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—[Special.] — Fourteen federal building projects in thirteen Illinois cities, involving aggregate expenditures of $19,085,000, will be under way before next July, according to a résumé of the government's construction program in the state made today by Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.].

Thousands will be given work during the winter as the program proceeds, substantially contributing to a solution of the unemployment problem, Senator Glenn asserted. The Illinois building plans he described as "thorough and systematic."

Senator Glenn explained that he has spent several days recently conferring with President Hoover, Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, and treasury officials in charge of public building about federal projects in Illinois. Senator Glenn is a member of the treasury and postoffice subcommittee of the senate appropriations committee.

Two Projects in Chicago.

Two of the fourteen Illinois building projects are in Chicago. These are the Chicago appraisers' stores and the new postoffice. Although congress has authorized a total of $21,000,000 for the postoffice, the authorization included purchase of the Van Buren street parcel post station and air rights and Senator Glenn used the figure of $15,000,000 in his summary as representing the approximate amount to go into construction of the new building.

All of the fourteen buildings in his list are expected to reach the construction stage some time during the present fiscal year which ends next July 1, he said. He expected, however, that construction work on most of them, including the Chicago postoffice, will be begun long before that time.

Seeks a Suitable Site.

An appropriation of $1,300,000 has been made for the new Chicago appraisers' stores and the treasury is now seeking a suitable site. The $1,300,000 for the stores and $15,000,000 for the postoffice were both included by Senator Glenn in calculating the aggregate of $19,085,000 as the cost of the entire Illinois program.

Discussing the new postoffice Senator Glenn asserted that the treasury has urged the architectural firm in Chicago to "use all reasonable haste" and will "expedite the construction." Despite criticism of the treasury for the long delays in starting work on the building, partly because of a change in sites, Senator Glenn said he believed this has not "materially delayed the construction."

Buildings to Be Constructed.

Senator Glenn said new buildings are to be constructed at Bloomington, to cost $325,000; Carbondale, $125,000; Aurora, $395,000; Freeport, $275,000; Harvey, $160,000; Maywood, $160,000; Peru, $100,000; Rockford, $695,000; Waukegan, $335,000; Woodstock, $90,000. Extensions to old buildings at Pekin will cost $50,000 and at Ottawa $75,000.

"In addition to the specific authorizations which have been made for federal buildings in Illinois, a lump sum authorization of $115,000,000 is available for public buildings," said Senator Glenn. "A report will be made to congress at the December session as to the allocation of that fund. The committee of the postoffice and treasury departments has recommended that federal buildings at the following points in Illinois be provided for out of that appropriation: Harvard, Morris, Shelbyville, Watseka, Effingham, Clinton and Benton.

"It is expected that in view of the unemployment situation a vigorous effort will be made at the December session of congress to provide for an enlargement of the $115,000,000 fund, in which case the committee will recommend that all postoffices in Illinois having annual receipts above $40,000 and not having federal buildings owned by the government be provided with federal buildings.

Recommend New Buildings.

"The committee will further recommend new buildings in the following cities where the postoffices have less than $40,000 annual receipts: East Moline, Fairfield, Geneva, Lawrenceville, and West Frankfort.

"In addition to these, the government has acquired sites for federal buildings in Carrollton, Cicero, Highland, and Spring Valley, and appropriations will be asked at the December session for the funds necessary for the construction of buildings at those places."

INDUSTRIAL LEADERS REPORT CHEERFULLY ON TRADE OUTLOOK

New York, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Evidence of business improvement, coupled with declarations by industrial leaders of their intention to maintain wage and employment standards, is embodied in a survey report sent today to President Hoover, it was announced by Representative John Q. Tilson, majority leader and eastern director of the national Republican congressional committee which sponsored the report.

According to Representative Tilson, the report contains the findings of a special commission named by him several weeks ago and headed by Col. Edward J. W. Proffitt, vice president of the Investing corporation of New York City.

The commission's findings include optimistic statements by James A. Farrell, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation; G. F. Johnson of the Endicott-Johnson Shoe company, Charley R. Palmer, president of Cluett-Peabody company; Albert R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker corporation; Walter J. Kohler, president of Kohler & Kohler; Howard Coonley, Walworth & Co., and Newcomb Carleton, president of the Western Union Telegraph company.

REBEL LEADERS PUZZLE BRAZIL; WHO'LL BE BOSS?

against the ousted government street names and places are being already renamed for the revolutionary leaders.

Meanwhile today there have been hectic comings and goings and consultations in Rio de Janiero between the military junta headed by Gen. Augusto Passo Fragoso and politicians and administrators.

The junta is installed in Cattete palace, where a new government is being organized. Cuanabara palace, which was occupied by former President Washington Luis, is closed and guarded.

The crowds in Rio de Janeiro surged through the streets all day, but in an orderly fashion, and automobiles with uniformed personalities and high hatted and caned politicians were ushered into Cattete palace. Among those who called today to see the junta was Señor Octavio Mangabeira, former foreign minister in the Luis cabinet. He reemerged smilingly.

Gen. Fragoso, Gen. Joao de Deus Menna Baretto and Admiral Isaias Noronha form the junta that runs Brazil. They are slowly forming an administrative cabinet which has been subjected to some alterations and changes since yesterday. The latest known appointees in chief directive positions are: Minister of war, Gen. Leitede Castro; minister of justice, Gabriel Bernardes; minister of foreign affairs, Dr. Afranio de Mello Franco; minister of public health, Alberto da Cunha; minister of communications, Courado Muller, and president of the Bank of Brazil, which is closed and guarded by soldiers, José Joaquim de Andrade; chief of police of Rio de Janiero, Col. Berthoido Klinger, former commander of revolutionary troops; director of telegraphs, Conrado Muller, and minister of marine, Admiral Noronha.

Both Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo have been flooded with reports all day that Gauchos from the south and other troops from the state of Minas Geraes would march on the two cities. Notices to this effect were chalked up on walls, warning the populations to be off the streets and indicating that state forces might resist the attempts of the troops of other states to come in.

Contradicting this possibility of fresh conflict appears to be the fact that the Rio junta has already begun to disband the forces that had been mobilized to defend the federal government. Military authorities said Sao Paulo troops engaged in the civil war have already begun to come home, and are either being mustered out or used to reinforce the troops used in police work.

The consular corps in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo held a meeting yesterday and warned all foreign residents to abstain from any participation in the present political controversy in any way, admonishing them that by doing so they would be deprived of the rights of consular protection. Some consuls announce that the communique issued after the meeting does not conform to their viewpoint, however.

At the same time reports are coming in from the various 22 states which compose the republic that revolutionary state governments are being constituted.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

Their daughter had a talent for music

"She has unusual talent" read the letter from the music teacher.

Of course the parents had known their little girl played nicely. But now a famous accompanist had heard her; had said she must go East to study farther.

It was that night the family realized what they could do with their "Opportunity Account."

They had started it some years before. Just a little Savings Account at The Northern Trust Company.

Half seriously they had deposited there a little something out of each pay check. And in the same mood they had given it a happy name—"Opportunity Account."

Now the "Opportunity Account" is sending a talented girl to a famous school of music. And after a year or two it will send her abroad, to study with the masters.

When Opportunity comes, will you be ready? Open an "Opportunity Savings Account" at this strong, friendly bank.

An officer will be happy to discuss with you our "Livable Minimum" plan of saving. The Savings Department is on the lobby floor of The Northern Trust Company, northwest corner of LaSalle and Monroe streets. Come in for a visit.

AUTO ACCIDENTS TAKE 10 LIVES IN CHICAGO AREA

Girl Killed, Three Hurt at Grade Crossing.

Auto accidents in and near Chicago yesterday caused ten deaths and five serious injuries. Nine of the fatalities occurred in Cook county, raising the 1930 toll to 856.

A young woman was killed and three companions were injured last night when their automobile was struck by a Michigan Central train at Kennedy avenue, near the boundary line between Indiana Harbor and Hammond.

The dead victim was Miss Marie Gaskey, 28 years old, 3920 Ivy street, Indiana Harbor, daughter of John Gaskey, former assistant street commissioner of East Chicago. Her 15 year old brother, Neilan, suffered a fractured skull from which he may die. Miss Myrtle Denton of Hammond, also received a skull fracture, but is expected to recover. The driver of the car, Woodson Peek, 31 years old, 3226 Michigan avenue, Indiana Harbor, escaped with minor injuries.

The crossing at Kennedy avenue is guarded only by flashing signs and has been the scene of a number of serious accidents. The city council at Hammond two weeks ago adopted a resolution ordering the Michigan Central to erect gates and to keep a watchman at the spot.

Golf Professional Dies.

Frank J. Goebel, 26 years old, of Park Ridge, golf professional at the Olympic Golf and Country club, Wheeling, died in the Mount Prospect hospital of pneumonia resulting from an auto accident a week ago. Goebel's auto was sideswiped by another on the Elmhurst road south of Mount Prospect and hurled into a ditch. The other driver fled while Goebel, seriously injured, lay unconscious in water until discovered by a milkman the next morning. Goebel was formerly a golf teacher at the Edgebrook Golf club.

John L. Fenton, 41 years old, 607 Oakton street, Evanston, received a skull fracture and internal injuries which caused his death in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, in an automobile collision at Oakton street and East Prairie road, Niles Center. Fenton's wife, Priscilla, and Mr. and Mrs. John Montgomery of 4132 Kenmore avenue, who were in Fenton's car, were cut and bruised. The driver of the second car was Dr. Harry Swanson, 2009 Harrison street, Evanston.

Florence Bronderek, 7 years old, Hill Cullom avenue, was hit by an automobile driven by Eugene Christensen, 17 years old, 3028 North Oketo avenue, when she attempted to cross Linder avenue at Hutchinson street. She died on the way to the Belmont hospital of a skull fracture.

Aged Man Is Victim.

S. C. Jensen, 76 years old, of the Danish Old People's home was killed by an automobile driven by Bernard Feller, 19 years old, 5718 Wilson avenue. Jensen had been riding with Mrs. Thora Gruener, 6109 Northwest highway, and had stepped out of her car at Raven street and Milwaukee avenue.

Erwin E. Kaden, Lincoln park traffic policeman, who had been on the force only twenty days, was killed when a speeding automobile crashed into a safety island at Granville and Western avenues, where he was waiting for a street car. He was 27 years old and lived at 6238 North Claremont avenue. The driver of the car, Claude La Plume, 3118 Touhy avenue, was arrested by Summerdale police. Witnesses said he was intoxicated and that he had driven through a red light at high speed. Kaden's brother, Walter, has been a member of the Lincoln park force for a number of years.

One Killed, Two Hurt.

Daniel Boyle, 29 years old, 6858 South Throop street, employed by the Western Electric company, was killed and his wife, Beatrice, 23 years old, and brother, James, 23 years old, were probably fatally injured when their car, driven by Mrs. Boyle, plunged into the side of a freight train at Cicero avenue in Rich township.

Mitchell Wojek, 17 years old, 1741 Lyndale avenue, was killed by an automobile when he stepped from a bus at Diversey and Kostner avenues. John Thorm, driver of the car, was arrested later at his home at 2624 North McVicker avenue.

Boy Messenger Is Killed.

Wilbur Olsen, 17 years old, 5530 Newport avenue, a messenger boy, was fatally injured when his motorcycle crashed into the side of a truck at Linder avenue and Roscoe street. The driver of the truck, Alfred Pfeiffer, 25 years old, 3817 North Kimball avenue, was ordered held.

An unidentified man about 35 years old was found dead in the street at Archer and Springfield avenues. He is believed to have been the victim of a hit and run motorist.

CHURCH IS BOMBED; POLITICAL ACTIVITY OF PASTOR BLAMED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 26.—(AP)—A black powder bomb was thrown against the side of Trinity Methodist church, south, early today and broke several windows in the church and surrounding rooming houses.

Police said the bomb apparently had been hurled from an automobile. Skid marks on the pavement in front of the building showed the car evidently had been traveling fast, had slowed suddenly until the bomb was thrown, then speeded up again.

The bombing, police believed, was retaliation for radio statements made by the pastor, the Rev. Robert P. Shuler, whose utterances have caused him considerable notoriety. Last week the radio commission granted Mr. Shuler's station, KGEF, a 30 day permit pending an investigation.

Mr. Shuler as been active in city and state politics. On several occasions he was cited for contempt of court and twice convicted. On his second conviction he served 15 days of a 20 day sentence in the county jail, then paid a $100 fine.

On Jan. 14, 1928, a dynamite bomb was placed under the southwest corner of the church in an apparent effort to wreck the radio towers. The explosion shattered two windows and wrecked a small automobile.

CHICAGO AUTO DEATHS FEWER THAN AVERAGE

Figures for 94 Big Cities Compiled by U. S.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Although 824 persons were killed by automobile accidents in Chicago during 1929, the Chicago death rate was substantially lower than the average for ninety-four cities in the 100,000 population class. Chicago's death rate was 24.3 for each 100,000 and the average was 27.6.

The census bureau today announced its complete annual compilation of motor car death statistics covering 95.7 of the total population of the United States living within its registration area. There were a total of 29,531 deaths, an estimated 30,858 for the entire country, as compared with 27,618 deaths in 1928, an increase of more than 3,000 in a single year.

Automobile accident death rates in the various large cities ranged from 7.9 in New Bedford, Conn., to 42.4 in Youngstown, O.

Ninety-four Cities Listed.

In the list of 94 cities only 19 had a lower rate than Chicago, while 74 had a higher rate. Cities with the highest rates next to Youngstown were Gary, Ind., 40; Camden, N. J., 37.6; Long Beach, Cal., 36.7; Miami, Fla., 35.7; Cleveland, O., 32.9; Los Angeles, Cal., 32.8; Canton, O., 32.6; and Columbus, O., 30.4. Those with the lowest rates next to New Bedford were Kansas City, Kas., 11.5; Lynn, Mass., 14.7; Somerville, Mass., 17.5; Lowell, Mass., 17.8; Worcester, Mass., 17.9; Fall River, Mass., 18.3; and Boston, Mass, 18.7.

Nevada has the highest death rate, with 51.1 deaths for each 100,000 population. Next in order were California, 41.2; Arizona, 36.2; Florida, 35.5; Ohio, 35.3; Indiana, 34.4, and Wyoming, 33.7. The Illinois rate was 26.2

Deaths in Collisions.

The census bureau report observes that if collisions with railroad trains and street cars were excluded eight states had fewer deaths in 1929 than the preceding year. These were Illinois, Wisconsin, Delaware, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Rhode Island, and Vermont.

Chicago had the greatest number of deaths from collisions of automobiles with railroad trains, 26, and with street cars, 30. Next in order were Gary, with 14 deaths from collisions of automobiles with railroad trains, and Los Angeles, with 19 deaths from collision of automobiles with street cars.

Assassin Fires on Syrian Premier; Misses; Jailed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Palestine, Oct. 26.—An attempt was made on the life of Prime Minsiter Tajeldine El Husse Ini of Syria at Damascus yesterday. He was fired on by an assailant, the bullet missing its mark. The would-be assassin was arrested before he could fire a second shot.

20 KILLED AND HUNDREDS HURT IN SMYRNA FLOOD

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Twenty persons have been killed by floods in Smyrna, delayed dispatches announced today. Hundreds were injured. Train service has been discontinued, bridges having been destroyed.

The rain, which had continued since Friday, ceased this morning, but torrents continued to pour down from the upper city and flood the crowded lower districts. The American university, situated on high land outside Smyrna, was believed undamaged.

The population of the city was suffering from shortage of drinking water, all wells being filled with mud.

Motorist Dies of Heart Attack While on Road

Robert Woodington, 45 years old, 6259 Harper avenue, a salesman, died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday while driving his car in Higgins road, just west of Roselle road. Other motorists found him dead after they saw his car swerve into a telegraph pole.

Negroes and Police Give Out Rival Circulars.

Political pamphlets yesterday flooded the south side wards where the colored citizens predominate. The return of Congressman Oscar De Priest to the city was the occasion for the release of thousands of 16 page folders carrying the slogan, "Vote the Republican Ticket Straight." These were distributed by Negro workers and were in opposition to the circulars being distributed for Mayor Thompson by uniformed policemen. The Thompson circulars carried a cross before the name of James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for United States senator.

The policemen were at every colored church door for morning, afternoon and evening services. They were at a meeting of the Negro hodcarriers' union at 814 Harrison street. Uniformed men distributed the mayor's literature while detectives searched the union members for weapons before they were allowed to enter the hall.

Some Police Held in Reserve.

Policemen attached to stations in districts where a portion of the population is colored were held in reserve awaiting further orders as to the administration's campaign measures. Protests by colored clergymen were met with these words: "It's the mayor's orders."

In the morning the mayor's float portraying Father Abraham [Lincoln], Uncle Tom and Little Eva made its appearance. But after 10 a. m. the float was no longer to be seen.

With De Priest it was the parting of the ways. In a speech at the Wendell Phillips High school the congressman said:

"I propose to spend the rest of the time until election advising our people to pay no attention to the ravings of Mayor Thompson. I was surprised to find the mayor a sick man. He certainly is not the same man we elected mayor three times. No sane man unless ill advised or sick would ask the colored people to vote for a Democrat.

"If he finds it impossible to go along with his party he should resign. He talks about what he has done for the colored race, but he should remember that three times it was we who saved him from defeat. I don't propose to see him use our people as his catspaws."

Pastor Protests Police Action.

Congressman De Priest attended morning services at the Pilgrim Baptist church, 33d street and Indiana avenue, where the Rev. J. C. Austin had announced that he would ask the police to leave the church entrance. The Rev. J. B. Redmond of St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal church, 50th street and Wabash avenue, told the two policemen who came inside his church that they might obey the mayor's orders by standing outside, but he didn't think they should electioneer inside the church.

Telephone calls regarding the policemen stationed at the doors of the Ebenezer Baptist church at 45th street and Vincennes avenue and the Olivet Baptist church, at 31st street and South Park way, were received last night at the Wabash and Stanton avenue police stations. The captains said they could do nothing to remove them as "the orders were from higher up."

The pastor of the Olivet church is the Rev. L. K. Williams. It has a membership of between 8,000 and 10,000, the largest Negro congregation in Chicago. Dr. Williams is also president of the National Baptist convention, which numbers around 200,000. Dr. C. H. Clark is pastor of the Ebenezer church.

Officers of the Metropolitan Community church at 41st street and South Park way reported that none of their congregation had accepted the pamphlets, as they had been told not to.

Party in Line, Snow Says.

Mayor Thompson went for an outing on a yacht, accompanied by a few Republican ward committeemen for whose allegiance to the Republican ticket County Chairman Bernard W. Snow answered yesterday. Mr. Snow said that practically all the Republican committeemen would disregard the mayor's attitude and would support Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican nominee for United States senator.

"They were elected by Republican voters to represent the Republican party," Chairman Snow said. "They will take care of Republican interests and will not stultify themselves by supporting any but Republicans."

The Thompson literature was similar to that which made its anonymous appearance last week, only to be claimed later by the mayor as his own handiwork, but the new circulars contained a larger portion of a specimen ballot to show the mayor's indorsement of Carlos E. Ames, Republican candidate for sheriff.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN

The 29th ward Democratic organization has arranged a speakers' program and dance to be held tonight in Guyon's Paradise, Crawford avenue and Washington boulevard, with James Hamilton Lewis, nominee for senator as the principal speaker.

Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, independent candidate for senator, is to speak at the Woodlawn Baptist church, 62d street and University avenue, tonight at 8 o'clock.

The women's committee of all parties, supporting the women candidates for the board of county commissioners, yesterday announced plans for noon speeches each day this week in the factory districts. The women will parade to the various districts in a fleet of automobiles and their own speakers will address the factory workers.

The Illinois division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment announced yesterday that it "unqualifiedly indorses" James Hamilton Lewis for senator.

The candidacy of James A. Kearns, Republican nominee for reelection as clerk of the Municipal court, has been indorsed by Carl U. Johnson, whom Kearns defeated in the primary.

SENATE RIVALS REST, BUT ALSO BATTLE A BIT

Ruth McCormick Speaks Once; So Does Lewis.

The week-end lull in the Illinois senatorial campaign enabled the two leading candidates, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican nominee, and James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, to rest briefly yesterday before plunging into the final week of their contest for Cook county's million and a half votes.

Each made only one Sunday speech. Mr. Lewis addressing a First ward Democratic rally in the 131st infantry armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue, in the afternoon, while Mrs. McCormick spoke last night at a banquet of foreign language groups at the Hotel La Salle. Mrs. McCormick made a brief appearance before a young men's Sunday school class at the Edgewater Presbyterian church at noon.

Lewis Talks of Liberty.

In his armory speech Mr. Lewis called on his First ward audience to rally to the cause of states' rights and individual liberty.

Mr. Lewis accused the Republicans of encroaching on the rights of the people and declared that a Democratic victory at the election next week "would return to the states their independence and restore to the citizens their righteous liberty."

The former senator said that in the presidential campaign of 1928 he had in that same armory spoken a prophecy that a Republican victory then would "tend to destroy the rights of the individual and see the Republicans turn against the poor."

"Hasn't that prophecy came true?" he asked. "Did the Democrats bring on this condition in which hundreds of thousands are homeless, jobless, and hungry, while the government gives $500,000,000 to the prohibition enforcers?"

Charges G. O. P. Persecution.

"For ten years," Mr. Lewis said, "the government has been gradually encroaching on every right of the individual. Under Republican masters, a government that promises you equality and justice has cheated you of a home and a free table. When a government strikes out to regulate the habits of an individual it goes very far, and under the name of prohibition a persecution has been set upon you.

"With the taxpayers drained to the last drop to support the masters of the government at Washington, our government now is going to spend $18,000,000 to educate the people to obey the prohibition law. Think of it, after ten years and the waste of $500,000,000 of public money, there is no suggestion of relief for the homeless and hungry and needy, but a plan to educate the public to obey the dry laws. If after ten years the people will not respect such a law, that law should be wiped off the statutes."

Mrs. McCormick's Speech.

Mrs. McCormick in her speech asked the leaders in the foreign language groups not to be "deceived by the false issues and false promises that have been drawn into the campaign."

"Mr. Lewis," she said, "expects you to believe that while you are in the voting booths next Tuesday marking at X in front of his name, he is arranging to have a glass of beer waiting for you on the table when you get home. But he does not reveal by what political witchery that is to be brought about. He does not tell you that the most he can do is to cast his vote to resubmit the prohibition question to the several states, and I can assure you I am just as able to cast a vote as is the distinguished gentleman."

Mrs. McCormick said the Democrats would have to hold a majority in both houses of congress before they could reach their ends, and that a Democratic control of congress "would place bone dry southern Democrats at the head of all the important committees."

Tells of Andrew Bill.

Mrs. McCormick declared she had taken a personal interest in a bill now pending in the house of representatives that would give President Hoover's law enforcement commission the authority to recommend definite changes in prohibition legislation.

She described this measure, introduced by Represenative A. Piatt Andrew of Massachusetts, as "the most intelligent piece of legislation concerning the prohibition question that has been presented in congress." She said she had obtained the pledges of the members of the judiciary committee to present the measure for consideration on the first day of the next session.

A misunderstanding over her schedule caused Mrs. McCormick to miss a speaking engagement last night at a meeting of the Metropolitan Community center, 4100 South Park way.

SWEDEN HAILS FIRMER UNION WITH NORWAY

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The 25th anniversary of the abdication of the Swedish king as the monarch of Norway was observed today with realization that two recent events have cemented the friendly relations between the two countries into a firmer union than ever.

These events were the marriage of Princess Martha of Sweden to Crown Prince Olaf of Norway in 1929 and the discovery of the Andree relics last summer by a Norwegian expedition.

The royal wedding and the subsequent birth of a princess were hailed, especially in Norway, as proofs that the old bitterness had entirely vanished. In Sweden the generous behavior of the Norwegians in connection with the finding of the Andree camp has been deeply appreciated. The finders of the Andree relics and the officials in Tromsoe were invited to the funeral services in Stockholm, where the king bestowed decorations on nearly all of them.

MOUNTED POLICE RIDE DOWN MOB IN INDIA; 265 HURT

Use Canes and Staves on Bombay Rebels.

BOMBAY, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Repeated charges by mounted police across the Maidan, a twenty acre sport field, today broke up a flag salutation ceremony by the Congress party, which had been prohibited by the authorities.

Officials of the Congress party said 265 persons had been injured, about 100 gravely. The police estimated that fewer than 200 were hurt and fewer than 20 severely. The majority of the injuries were inflicted by the canes of the white sergeants and staves wielded by the Mahratta foot police. Fifty-seven persons were arrested, including 22 women.

For nearly two hours the bearded khaki clad mounted police dashed back and forth across the field, swinging their clubs in an endeavor to clear the place.

It was the most spectacular demonstration by the mounted police witnessed by Bombay since the civil disobedience campaign started.

A slogan calling for a boycott of British goods has been made part of the Hindu early morning prayer.

The idea originated in this city and leaders of the Congress party are endeavoring to spread it throughout the country as part of their program to gain independence. In their prayer the Hindus include, "Let boycott of British goods be my creed, and "Let not my body be polluted by anything foreign."

Once a penniless drifter...

today the idol of a million women

YOU know him as one of Hollywood's most famous stars. Wealthy, talented, the idol of millions. Yet it seems only yesterday that he was a penniless drifter, the black-sheep of a fine family.

Bitter, cynical, unhappy—he had drifted into Hollywood with neither training nor ambition. He believed in nothing, not even himself. He wanted only to make a little money—and then push on to new surroundings and new adventures.

Everything he attempted was a failure. Before the age of twenty-one he had been a husband, a father, a divorced man. Now, in Hollywood, he was destined to find his last and greatest adventure.

Encouragement from Bebe Daniels

He would have quit after his first attempt at acting if Bebe Daniels had not encouraged him.

"It's hard at first," she told him. "You'll do better next time."

And he did! One small bit led to another. Women throughout the country became aware of a fascinating newcomer to the screen. They watched him as he played opposite Clara Bow, Mary Brian, Nancy Carroll, Fay Wray. Who is he? Where does he come from? Publicity men gave them the information—sugar-coated.

But Ann Sylvester has now written the real story of this great star. "Waster, Drifter—Then Star" is the title of her article in the December issue of Picture Play Magazine. Read the story of this waster who became a Hollywood idol. Get your copy of Picture Play Magazine today.

Stories, news, gossip of Hollywood

"The Big Goat-getter from Boston" by Myrtle Gebhart is an entertaining article about Charles Bickford. He is one of Hollywood's most interesting stars. He dared to call a Cecil B. DeMille picture "a lot of hokum". He ridicules celebrities. He walks down Hollywood's most fashionable boulevard in sneakers and dungarees. This unusual feature will surprise you.

Do you remember Raquel Torres in "White shadows in the South Seas" and "Under a Texas Moon"? She is a star now, but she had to lie in order to get her first chance. "A Little Girl's Big Bluff" by Dorothy Wooldridge tells the dramatic story of the trick she used to win success on the screen.

JOE M'DONOUGH ONCE A NEWSIE FOR PADDY CARR

Now He Runs for Paddy's Old Treasurer Job.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

One thing about Chicago politicians that impresses the statisticians is the large number who started life as newsboys, developing platform lungs by shouting "uxtry," and among them is Ald. Joseph B. McDonough, the Democratic nominee for county treasurer. Joe is father of the municipal athletic fields. With his wife and four children he lives at 551 West 37th street in the house in which he was born 41 years ago.

Joe is a protégé of the late P. J. [Paddy] Carr, county treasurer. As a lad in a family of seven children he sold papers for Carr, then a distributor in the regions back of the yards. Later in life, after Carr had become a big shot in politics, he helped Joe get elected alderman and Joe served as Carr's campaign manager. Now McDonough is running for Carr's old job, thus completing a political wheel.

He Delights Al Smith.

McDonough is known as one of the cards of the council, with a talent for mimicry that enraptured Al Smith on one of his visits to Chicago. On the trip from Albany, the late George Brennan took McDonough into the Pullman drawing room to meet the New York governor, who kept Joe for six hours by the clock spinning his yarns about Capt. Mike Gallery and his automobile raffle in which the captain kept one ticket in his vest pocket and won his own car, the German Socialist who fancied Paddy Carr was of German descent because he ate pretzels and other gems from a long repertoire.

Joe is the bulkiest man on the county tickets. He hits the beam at some 300 pounds, hard as nails, the largest candidate for county treasurer since the days of Samuel Raymond. He has been chairman of the local transportation committee of the city council for four years, during which time the new transit ordinance was negotiated, and among the city hall newspaper men he has a reputation as a man who has never given them a bum steer.

Once a Football Star.

In prairie football McDonough in his youth made a reputation in athletics. After high school he entered Villa Nova college at Philadelphia to get the higher learning, but had to give it up a year later because of a gridiron injury.

Scouts from a couple of leading universities tried to land him, but Joe had to stick at home and help support the family. He worked with Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, clerking in the postoffice in 1906, and in high school he used to play football against Judge Walter P. Steffen, Carnegie Tech coach.

Back in 1905 Joe coached the old Armour Square eleven and later coached the Cornell-Hamburgs, champions of Chicago for four years. He played as one of the backs.

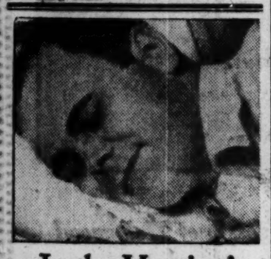
As a pal of Judge "Wally" Steffen, Ald. McDonough has sometimes spent a day or two with the Carnegie squad and one story of ripeness at the hall is that he almost crippled the team on one of his early visits by jumping in to give a practical demonstration of how to play football. Prostrate athletes were strewn all over the field in a few plays, according to the yarn.

Alderman for 14 Years.

McDonough was elected alderman of the old Fifth ward nearly 14 years ago. In 1914 he helped Thomas A. Doyle (now congressman) beat Charles (Cull) Martin for alderman, and in 1917 Doyle and Carr helped McDonough into the council. This year Doyle (Fourth district) is not a candidate for congress, and McDonough was instrumental in getting Harry P. Beam, an ex-service man, on the ticket for congress.

In his first term McDonough got through measures establishing the first municipal athletic field, and two years later he had added eight others. The city paid $1 a year rental for the vacant lots and no taxes were assessed. The city has since purchased the sites of these fields.

Among the bon mots of Joe cherished at the hall is his description some years ago of the toughness of Canaryville—"It's so tough the canaries sing bass."



In the Morning!

Just take a pleasant-tasting candy Cascaret tonight and see how fine you feel next morning. You wake with coating gone from your tongue. Breath is sweet; eyes brighter; you feel like a different person. The most pleasant way to be rid of constipation ills is with candy Cascarets. They are made from cascara—a never-failing laxative—as any doctor will tell you—and a laxative that actually helps strengthen the bowel muscles. So the prompt, harmless relief Cascarets always bring is lasting! Their gentle, thorough action makes them ideal for elderly people. Children love their delicious candy flavor.

If Democrats Win House They'll Head Committees

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—The south will be back in the saddle if the Democrats win control of the house. Just as in wartime, the southerners will hold nearly all the important chairmanships. A similar situation would exist in the senate, but the Democrats who are predicting the capture of the house do not expect to get the senate.

Representative John Garner [Dem., Tex.], present minority leader and ranking minority member of the ways and means committee, will in all probability be elected speaker of the house if the Democrats are in the majority. There have been suggestions that some other Democrat who is less inclined to favor protection may be put forward. Thus far, however, Mr. Garner has the field to himself.

Another southerner, possibly Representative Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], would succeed Mr. Garner as the Democratic floor leader. The floor leader heads the party steering committee. His right hand assistant in the chairmanship of the powerful committee on rules would be Representative Edward W. Pou [Dem., N. C.].

Representative Collier in Line.

With Mr. Garner shifted to the speakership, it would place a Mississippi Democrat, Representative James W. Collier, in line for the chairmanship of the committee of ways and means, which handles tax and tariff matters. An Illinois Democrat, Representative Henry T. Rainey, would have been entitled to this post if he had not lost seniority rights by his defeat and absence from congress for a single term from 1922 to 1923. Otherwise his 13 terms in congress would have kept him ahead of Mr. Collier on the committee.

Representative Byrns would be sure of the chairmanship of the appropriations committee if he did not become party leader. If he did not choose to hold both positions and relinquished the committee chairmanship another southerner, Representative James P. Buchanan [Dem., Tex.] would be in line for the place.

The two committees which control national defense policies would be headed by southerners. Representative Percy E. Quin [Dem., Miss.] is the ranking member of the committee on military affairs, while Representative Carl Vinson [Dem., Ga.] is in a similar position on the committee on naval affairs.

Texan for Railroads.

Merchant marine and radio legislation would be in charge of Representative Edwin L. Davis [Dem., Tenn.], who would become chairman of the committee on merchant marine and fisheries. Matters affecting the railroads would come under Representative Sam Rayburn [Dem., Tex.], who is in line for the chairmanship of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce. Banking legislation also would be under the control of a southerner. Representative Otis Wingo [Dem., Ark.], who died last week, has been the ranking minority member of the committee on banking and currency. Next in line on the committee is Representative Henry B. Steagall [Dem., Ala.].

The judiciary committee, which has charge of prohibition legislation, would pass into the hands of Representative H. W. Summers [Dem., Tex.], a dry. The present chairman happens to be wet although a majority of the committee is dry. The committee on agriculture, now headed by a Republican from Iowa, in the corn belt, would go to a Democrat from the cotton area, Representative James B. Aswell [La.].

Almon for Roads Committee.

Other committees and southern Democrats who would become chairmen include rivers and harbors, J. J. Mansfield [Tex.]; world war veterans' legislation, J. E. Rankin [Miss.]; roads, Edward B. Almon [Ala.]; war claims, Miles C. Allgood [Ala.]; accounts, L. C. Warren [N. C.]; civil service, Lamar Jeffers [Ala.]; expenditure in the executive departments, A. H. Gasque [S. C.]; flood control, Riley J. Wilson [La.]; irrigation and reclamation, C. B. Hudspeth [Tex]; patents, F. G. Lanham [Tex.]; postoffices and post roads, Thomas M. Bell [Ga.]; and territories, William C. Lankford [Ga.].

TAILOR SHOOTS WAY TO JAIL TO AVOID CREDITORS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 26.—The determination of a bankrupt tailor to avail himself of the comfortable accommodations afforded by Finnish jails caused a miniature battle royal here today.

A tailor named Hyvaerinen stole an army rifle and fired 40 shots at the Tammerfors police force, which had turned out to arrest him on a charge of having concealed weapons. The police in full pursuit, he jumped into a rowboat and took cover on a small island at the outskirts of the town, from which he continued firing, wounding one policeman. He was arrested when his ammunition gave out.

He said that he preferred a comfortable cell in the Tammerfors jail to facing his creditors, therefore had decided to get himself arrested.

GOV. DAVIS CUTS RED TAPE TO AID MORO TRIBESMEN

Gives Them Land Titles to Foil Filipino Grabbers.

BY ROBERT SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, Oct. 26.—While the legislature of the Philippines is still waiting, after two years to discuss bills which are pending relative to the amelioration of the conditions of the Moros in the Philippines, Gov. Gen. Davis by swift executive action has already put into operation the first constructive steps in the solution of the "Moro problem."

The politicians are just warming up for an argument on the change in the political status of the "non-Christians." Gov. Davis, by administrative order, has moved to protect their property rights.

Fights Land Grabbers.

The difference in the manner of approach to the vexed question is indicative of the characteristic attitude of the two branches of the government toward the problem of the province of Mindanao and Sulu. The legislature, with its fixed belief in politics as a panacea, believes that the Moro question is a political one. Gov. Davis believes that the political destiny of the province is less important just now than the protection of the Mohammedan Moros against unscrupulous land grabbers and economic invasion.

Gov. Davis made a personal inspection of the situation in Mindanao a few weeks ago. He traveled on horseback through the hear of the Moro country. When back he had little to say about what he had discovered, but a board was quietly appointed to investigate conditions and almost immediately the "Ventura plan" was put into operation.

Establish State Reservations.

Under this plan, whose full name is "Ventura scheme of land reservation," since it was promulgated through Honorio Veritura, secretary of the interior, large districts of land in the province of Mindanao will be held as government reservations for the occupation of non-Christian tribes. The reservations, however, are not small parcels of land, onto which the Moros have to be moved, but actually the districts which are at present densely populated by the Mohammedan tribesmen.

No encroachment upon these territories will be tolerated by the administration, either from the Japanese, who are gradually extending their holdings northward from Davao, or from the Filipino immigrants, who are gradually drifting into Mindanao from the north.

NEW ZEALAND ATTACKS BRITISH TARIFF POLICY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The dissatisfaction of dominion premiers with the results of the imperial conference was expressed tonight by Prime Minister G. W. Forbes of New Zealand. He declared the attitude of the British Labor government on tariffs left "little hope of real progress."

"We simply seem to be drifting and not getting anywhere," he said in an interview. "The whole question is wrapped up in that of food taxes. Mr. Snowden says distinctly that there will be no food taxes—well, you can't get beyond that.

"Instead of food taxes, the government is suggesting theoretical problems. We are practical people in the antipodes. We know things which will work and have worked, but we look upon theoretical things with some suspicion. The attitude of the government therefore leaves little hope of real progress. The people of New Zealand, I know, will learn with regret that little advance has been made so far in the effort to promote greater trade with the motherland."

Leaps in Lake, Is Saved; Tries Hanging, Is Revived

Unable to collect $400 owed him by a relative, Hun Foo Ying, 25 years old, a laundryman of 6716 Sheridan road, decided yesterday that life was not worth living. He leaped into the lake at Rogers avenue, but the police pulled him out. They took him to the Rogers Park station, where Hun tried to hang himself with a strip of clothing. The police cut him down and saved him again.

READING CHIEF EXPLAINS WHY IT ELECTRIFIED

Philadelphia Project Is Well Under Way.

Following is the eleventh article of a series by Mr. Henning dealing with electrification of the railroads of the east.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

As a business proposition from which handsome returns are expected the Reading railroad has begun electrification of its Philadelphia terminal and its suburban service.

The company expects to save in operating costs and to increase patronage by furnishing a faster, more efficient service from both of which sources increased profits will accrue.

The electrification of the road's four suburban services, comprising 50 miles of route and 110 miles of track, was begun in June, 1929, and is to be completed next summer. This is the first stage of a project which includes extension of electrification of the Reading from Philadelphia to New York City, to Bethlehem, Pa., and through the Schuylkill valley.

Will Use Multiple Units.

The suburban service electrification is to cost $20,000,000. When it is completed the company will have retired 85 steam locomotives and replaced 120 steam coaches with 100 up to date electric coaches, which will be operated in multiple unit trains. The company calculates that with electrified lines it will be able to furnish commuters with 25 per cent more service, including express trains throughout the day, and to cut running schedules of trains an average of 25 per cent.

Agnew T. Dice, president of the Reading, looks for a tremendous development of the suburban zone north and northeast of Philadelphia as soon as the road's electrification is completed.

"It has been the universal experience," he said, "that following the electrification of a railroad, bringing with it faster and more frequent service, communities multiply and grow with astonishing rapidity. Enhancement of real estate values follows, and the elimination of smoke and noise permits the development of property for home building purposes adjacent to the tracks."

Mr. Dice, who is an authority on electrification of steam railroads, recently analyzed the reasons for abandonment of steam power, as follows:

"1. Tunnel operation, where smoke and gases from steam locomotives make the accidental stopping of a train in the tunnel a serious hazard, particularly to the engine crew, and where under ordinary operation it causes discomfort to passengers.

"2. Operation in large metropolitan terminals where smoke is objectionable or where space for tracks can only be obtained underground. The reduction in switching movements by electric operation is particularly advantageous in a large congested terminal. The presence of engine terminals in certain parts of a large city is objectionable with steam operation, as smoke is unavoidably given off while the engines are standing and being fired. Electric locomotives, however, can be stored wherever space is available and frequently remain standing in the station until required for their next run.

Operation More Flexible.

"3. Operation of a dense suburban traffic where, with multiple unit cars it is possible to accelerate more quickly than with steam and in this way to make materially faster time in this class of service with its frequent stops. Electric operation of suburban service is more flexible and offers many advantages from an operating standpoint, while the cleanliness and elimination of smoke is particularly appreciated by commuters who use the trains daily and by residents living near the railroad. Electrification of this type of service has universally resulted in substantial increase in traffic over steam operation, and enhanced the value of property adjacent to tracks.

"4. Where it is necessary to haul heavy trains over mountain grades the characteristics of the electric locomotive make it possible to handle heavier trains at greater speed and with more economy than with the heavy Mallet type of steam engine used in this class of service. The braking of heavy trains descending mountain grades has always been a difficult problem, as excessive wear and heating of brake shoes results and frequent careful inspections are necessary, resulting in delays to the train and higher maintenance. With electric operation the locomotive motors are used as generators when descending grades, and in addition to obtaining braking effect through this action the power generated is returned through the trolley wires to the substations and can be used by any other locomotives operating at the same time.

"5. Where track capacity is limited and due to increasing traffic the construction of additional tracks is necessary, especially where grades are present, electrification with its ability to speed up operation and get more trains over a given section of track is an alternative which has been used."

A larger investment is required for electric than for steam operation, Mr. Dice said.

"It follows," he continued, "that from a purely economic standpoint, while the cost of electric operation is less per train mile than with steam, the total savings on operating expenses will not be sufficient to pay an adequate return on the investment, unless there is a fairly dense traffic with heavy tonnage and a large number of train miles. Just what density of traffic is necessary to justify electrification is dependent on individual conditions, but it is significant that the Reading and Pennsylvania railroads are both embarked on programs covering their heavy traffic territories.

Original Capital Outlay Large.

"While there are many cases where due to light traffic electrification could not show a satisfactory return on the investment required, yet there are undoubtedly many cases where an adequate return would result. The management of the railroads in such cases is confronted with the proposition of having a worth while improvement which will pay its way, but for which it is necessary to borrow capital at reasonable terms to carry out. The present situation of the railroads, however, and that in which they have been placed during the last two decades is that their earnings have not been sufficient to pay them a fair return on the value of their property. In addition, the requirements of the transportation act limit this return to a maximum of 5½ per cent. This has resulted in making it impossible to compete for new capital with other industries which are not so restricted in the rates they may charge and the return they may obtain. The rates return they may obtain.

"As our country grows, our railroads are required to handle an ever increasing tonnage over their rails. They should be permitted to do this in the most efficient manner, taking advantage of the most modern and effective tools available, to the end that time, fuel, and man power may be conserved. The electric locomotive is such a tool. It can haul heavier trains at higher speeds; can do more work for the expenditure of a pound of coal and can use hydroelectric energy where this is available; can be kept in service a larger proportion of the time; two or more units can be operated by one engine crew; axle and wheel loadings are less with less loading transmitted to track nad bridges; and, lastly, can be maintained and serviced at less cost."

LAMONT CALLS MEET TO UNIFY AVIATION LAWS OF THE NATION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—A national conference to draft plans for unifying federal, state, and municipal laws for aviation was called today by Secretary Lamont to meet in Washington on Dec. 16.

Lamont, in inviting the governors of all states to send representatives, said coöperation in the movement had been made necessary by the recent growth of aviation and that progress in law enforcement, in standardizing the use of airports, and the regulation of equipment was essential.

Only two days has been allotted to the meeting, he explained, on "the premise that a short, intensive conference, limited in its discussion to the few fundamentals involved, will bring about more satisfactory results to all concerned."

The aircraft industry, business organizations, and persons specially interested in aviation also will be invited to attend.

JAPANESE FIGHT PLAN TO BOOST NAVAL BUDGET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 26.—Officials of the ministry of finance are highly critical over the increase, rather than decrease, in the navy's new supplementary budget. To make up for the defects in the nation's defense plans caused by the London naval treaty, the new navy minister, Admiral Abo, is demanding the increased expenditures.

Admiral Abo recently succeeded Admiral Takeshi Takarabe, who resigned due to his inability to convince the high military council of Japan's security under the London agreement.

Contrary to the cabinet's previous understanding, Admiral Abo presented a supplementary budget even in excess of the figures not only Takarabe, but Admiral Kanji Kato, "big navy" advocate and ex-chief of the general staff, asked. The new navy minister demands a 5 year supplementary program costing $300,000,000, whereas Takarabe proposed to make up the defects in the defense plan for $225,000,000. Finance ministry officials are seeking to have Abo's estimates slashed by at least $100,000,000.

LEWIS AND THE PROHIBITION REFERENDUM.

Mr. Lewis, Democratic candidate for the senate, a wet without reservations, opposes the prohibition referendum. He regards it as a Republican device to confuse the issue which he as an opponent of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act raises. This attitude may have political expediency to support it, but it is inconsistent.

One question is for the repeal of the Illinois prohibition act. Any opponent of prohibition as it is would logically advocate a vote which will instruct the legislature to repeal. The Anti-Saloon league endeavors to treat the submission of the questions as negligible. Opponents of prohibition cannot find justifiable reasons for doing the same thing.

Irrespective of the issue on candidates it is important that the referendum under the public policy act determine the position of the state on prohibition. Mr. Lewis makes a mistake in calling it a delusion.

THE FIRST AMERICAN.

Vice President Curtis went back to the scene of his childhood to make a Republican campaign speech and didn't make it. The place was Council Grove, Kas., and it reminded the Vice President of a kid on the Kaw Indian reservation who with others was playing down by the creek when told to get back into the mission house because the Cheyennes were coming. The Kaw braves in their war paint rode out, but, as Mr. Curtis said in recalling the affair, "after a while they came back followed by the Cheyennes."

Mr. Curtis, it is apparent, has the perfected military style. (The enemy attacked in force and was everywhere repulsed. Our line was strengthened by withdrawal to prepared positions 10 miles in the rear.) It was not, however, the memory of these operations which put the political speech out of Mr. Curtis' mind. It was the recollection of the Kaw kid who was back at Council Grove as the Vice President of the nation, although it might have been more impressive if he had allowed these suggestions to reveal themselves and had made a thumping speech on the tariff and immigration restrictions as means of keeping Europe out of America.

The Vice President at Council Grove is interesting to all Americans and he appears to prove that Massasoit and the daughter of Powhatan were right and Pontiac and Tecumseh were wrong. (It should have occurred to Mr. Curtis when taking the oath of office to have added: "Cornstalk, we are here.") If Mr. Curtis were younger and Mr. Hoover were older, if Mr. Curtis, in fine, were ante-meridian Rooseveltian, his prospects quite reasonably might contain the presidency, and what a thing that would be to tell in the tepees on the eternal hunting grounds. This is a great country. The boy who scooted for the cover of a Kaw mission house to get out of the way of some rampaging Cheyenne braves. The first American is at least next to first. Mrs. Gann has been entirely right.

GEN. CHIANG'S CONVERSION.

The conversion to Christianity of the head of the Chinese Nationalist government is not likely to have the sequel following upon the adoption of that faith by Constantine. Gen. Chiang, powerful and redoubtable as he is, is not an autocrat ruling an obedient empire, and China is not Rome. The oriental is more tolerant in religion than the occidental and a man's religious faith is more nearly his own affair than it is permitted to be in the west, even in our own age. Nevertheless, the event has considerable significance, a significance the outsider is not able very well to understand. We know it was an act of courage and, considering its possible danger or embarrassment to the career of Gen. Chiang, we must ascribe to it a sincerity which has not been very well demonstrated in the case of the other Christian general, Feng Yu-hsiang.

What China and the outside world will be interested in, however, is not what the subjective nature of Gen. Chiang's conversion may be but its objective results, if any. The greatly harassed Christian missionaries will not only take it as a religious victory but as promising a betterment of their condition in China. Only the other day the Nationalist government ruled against further religious teaching in schools, and it has been feared this would affect missionary labors. Whether Gen. Chiang will be able, or disposed, to prevent any restriction of missionary activities which may be the result of this ruling remains to be seen and, at best, is doubtful.

The other, and more plausible, hope is that measures for the suppression of Chinese communism, with its violent anti-religious policy, may be intensified. But the Nationalist government is fully aware of the danger to itself and to the interests of China, as it intelligently conceives them, of the communist warfare, both as a devastating force and as a means of imposing soviet control over Chinese affairs. If the Red bands have not yet been crushed, it has not been from lack of will but from lack of means. Now that the campaign against the northern coalition has become inactive, through the intervention of the Manchurian war lord, Gen. Chiang may be free to attend to the communist forces in central China, and if he can do so there is little doubt he will at the first opportunity. It is to be hoped the young Manchurian dictator will be disposed to give the Nanking government reliable assurances that no advantage will be taken of the disposal of its forces for the pacification of the regions now overrun by the communist and bandit bands.

STOLEN WATERS.

The Ohio Valley Improvement association, meeting recently in Cincinnati, adopted a resolution favoring the construction of a canal connecting the great lakes with the Ohio river. The Indianapolis News comments approvingly on this proposal: "A fairly deep waterway extending the length of Indiana would affect favorably the whole of the state."

Quite so; but how about the question of diverting water from the great lakes? Indiana, together with Pennsylvania and Ohio, was among the states which sought to restrain the diversion of water for the Illinois waterway. Indiana, Ohio, and Pennsylvania maintained that there could be no excuse for diverting water from one watershed to another. Their propagandists seldom failed to refer to the drainage canal as the instrument of thievery. They said that the water which was diverted into the canal was stolen.

Now spokesmen for Indiana, Pennsylvania and Ohio wish to establish a connection between the lakes and the gulf and they can achieve their end only by diverting water from the lakes. The moral and legal principle underlying their thinking might be stated somewhat as follows: It is reprehensible and illegal to divert water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois river, but statesmanship and morality combine in requiring the diversion of water from the lakes into the Wabash or some other Ohio river tributary.

NEWS FROM BRAZIL.

We think an expression of appreciation is due Mr. David Darrah of THE TRIBUNE'S foreign news service for his remarkable dispatch descriptive of the hour of revolution in Brazil. With the good luck which has a way of traveling with a good correspondent Mr. Darrah arrived in Brazil just as the curtain was about to go up. He had been sent from Italy to cover the Brazilian situation because of his familiarity with Romance languages. He was the right man in the right place and he arrived in the nick of time. His account must be regarded as one of the great journalistic achievements of the year. For the first time since the latest wave of revolution has swept over South America the scene and the action have been described adequately for the American reader.

SURPRISED.

A dispatch from Washington reports that the news of the overthrow of the Brazilian government came as a shocking surprise to officials. We had inferred from its recent action that the state department either had information as to conditions not disclosed in the news from Brazil or might be inadequately informed, and the latter inference seems to be the valid one. But why was the state department so badly informed? It is true that Ambassador Morgan and also his military attaché have only now returned to their posts; but, in their absence, had the embassy or the state department no other efficient and reliable sources of knowledge? We cannot imagine any other diplomacy than ours being caught napping in a situation of importance. It is not likely that any serious injury to our relations with Brazil will result from the failure of the state department to realize the true state of affairs, but it is humiliating to know that it did not. We doubt if there was any such surprise in Downing street, Wilhelmstrasse, or the Quai d'Orsay.

ROYAL MARRIAGES.

Giovanna, princess of Savoy, is queen of Bulgaria, and the old process of strengthening a country's reliances by a matrimonial alliance has a new illustration even in the Fascist dictatorship of Italy, in which royalty is largely scenery. In this case there may be something substantial to the accord applied. Bulgaria seems to need an association and Italy can do with a friend. Family connections did not do much for Germany and Great Britain just before the war, but these relatives had enjoyed the family prerogative of concentrating more dislikes than the two peoples had for each other.

Marriage as an institution of government has washed out a bit, along with the autocracy of kings, and it always did have its failures. Catherine of France was instrumental in giving England the Tudor line of kings, but not in giving France the Lancastrian line of English. The Spanish Hapsburgs got the Netherlands by marriage into the house of Burgundy and history got one of its bloodiest struggles for liberty. A wife could bring an empire or a war of extermination as her dowry. Charles II., who never said a foolish thing and never did a wise one, got Bombay for the British in his ironic marriage with Catherine of Braganza. Mary of England lost Calais, the last English foothold and trade port in France, by marrying Philip of Spain.

Editorial of the Day

"NO THOROUGHFARE" FOR FISH.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

For achievement in traffic control the research worker would probably not look first to the bureau of fisheries. But that agency, a favorite of Mr. Hoover's when he was secretary of commerce, is guarding some of the travelers in its jurisdiction effectively by electric signals, keeping the highway users on their course without diversion to dangerous bypaths.

In the northwest the young salmon on their way to sea are prone to stray into the irrigation canals and get stranded. The ingenious engineers of the bureau of fisheries prevent such perilous detours by placing electrodes at the spots which must be closed to the jay swimmers. If the fish try to pass through the electrified zone of water they are shocked back into the safe current.

The bureau prefers the appliance of the machine age to dependence on fallible fish policing. It did not accept the suggestion that electric eels possessing stunning dynamos be trained to act as shock troops for the irrigation ditches. Nor did the alternative of a patrol by phosphorescent fish, which a Beebe or a Pinchot expedition could supply, to serve as warning signal lights win approval. The electrodes were considered more reliable than the best traffic officers graduated from the South sea schools. It is gratifying to learn from an official source that they are doing their job well.

OCTOBER HEALTHY MONTH.

THE month of October ranks high among the healthful months. A decade ago it was about the most healthful month in the year, measured by the death rate, but the great improvement in the standing of the hot months has robbed it of this honor. On the other hand, the great reduction of the autumn typhoid and in malignant malaria—diseases which were once very much in evidence in October—has worked to improve the reputation for healthfulness of this month.

All summer the sunshine has been operating to kill off the world's available supply of harmful germs. Smallpox has progressively declined, as have diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, and others of the group. As was expected, infantile paralysis has been threatening, but toward the end of September this disease begins its annual decrease and by mid-October we feel that it no longer menaces, at least for the year.

Studies of efficiency of workmen at the bench, and of students at their desks, show the labor output of October ranking high as to quantity and quality. The football industry is going good and the baseball plutocrats split up the dough and get away to the woods for a month of sport.

Now comes the other side of the picture. While the death rate of October is low, its sickness rate is fairly high. The winter march of illness towards the March peak has begun. Some studies have shown that the sickness rate from ordinary common colds is quite high during October. The great increase in sore throats does not come until November, according to these figures. The colds are mostly head colds; the wave of bronchitis and chest colds is not yet due. With the opening of schools measles and diphtheria can always be expected to increase. Some of the extra bodily vigor stored up during the summer months is being drawn on. In fact, some physiques become bankrupt of treasure during October.

It is in order to advise all—old and young—to stay in the open as much as possible during this month; to get all the sunshine the short hours and the clouds allow; to indulge in as many hikes and other outings as time and weather permit.

WEN MAY BREAK DOWN.

L. E. writes: Is it possible for a wen that has been on the head for about 20 years to open and discharge pus? The person knocked it.

REPLY.

Yes. A wen is a tumor, generally a fatty tumor. Any tumor is liable to break down; also, to become infected. Injury is often the cause of breaking down or an infection.

MANY CAUSES POSSIBLE.

G. G. writes: A friend of mine had an X-ray picture taken of his lungs and it came out negative except for a bilateral fibrosis. What does this mean?

REPLY.

It means some increase of fibrous tissue in both lungs. This change may be due to an old pleurisy, to inhalation of much dust, to an old tuberculosis, or to one of several other causes. It may not be a matter of great consequence.

IT MAY BE DANGEROUS.

J. S. writes:
1. What is cystitis?
2. Is it dangerous?
3. What is the cause?

My wife was told she had it. She is 40 years old.

REPLY.

1. Inflammation of the bladder.
2. It may be.
3. Infection. The colon bacillus is the most frequent cause.

CANCERS AND TUMORS.

H. F. writes: Are cancers considered to be tumors?

REPLY.

They are. In a general way the malignant tumors are cancers. The innocent tumors are not. They go by such names as fatty tumors, bony tumors, and fibroids.

STREET OPENING DELAYED.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[Friend of the People.]—A year ago last June a special assessment [No. 53315] for the opening of Indiana avenue between 115th and 116th streets was due and payable. The assessment was paid by most of the people, if not by all. So far no property owner has been paid for property condemned. Some buildings have been torn down and others are being moved off by the owners with the consent of the board of local improvements. When will the owners be paid for their condemned property? Also when will the other buildings be moved? The present condition is not fair to the owners of property who were assessed more than a year ago and have received nothing for their money. The street is not open.
F. B.

In relation to the opening of Indiana avenue between 115th street and 116th street, under special assessment warrant 53315, this special assessment was in collection in January, 1929, but there being no sale for delinquent special assessments in 1929, nor as yet so far this year, collections of such specials were necessarily slow. We anticipate with the approaching sale of such delinquents the ability of the city to pay all awards due for the opening of this street. Immediately upon the availability of funds said awards will be paid to owners.
GEORGE I. KEEFE,
Supervisor of Condemnation Awards.

WANTS MARRIAGE ANNULLED.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please inform me whether or not a marriage may be annulled after two and one-half years where there is a child? M. H.

Depends on whether it can be proved that the marriage was void from the beginning.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RECORD CONTRACT.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I contracted for the purchase of a piece of property in February, 1928, for a stipulated sum, payments monthly with interest. Was able to maintain my end of the contract until December, 1929. Neglected to have the document recorded, and it has been canceled by the selling agent because of nonpayments. 1. Could I have the contract recorded at this time? 2. Would it have any bearing on the other party reselling the property? W. M. F.

1. Yes.
2. It would throw some difficulty in his way. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LOOKING AROUND.

Bill Hays predicts new period of prosperity. If we had Bill's job and was czar of the movies maybe things would look a little rosier to us, too. It all depends on where you sit. We asked a hungry man in Rush street yesterday if he wouldn't cheerfully wait for the two bits he wanted until Bill's prediction came true, and what he said about Mr. Hays was simply nobody's business. The upshot was that he didn't want to wait on Mr. Hays or anybody else. And take Alex Legge now. He says he would like to take all the wheat the farm board has got in cold storage and use it to feed the unemployed if congress will buy it at the price he paid for it. Not so good. And it reminds one and all that the five hundred million dollars the farm board had in hand might have helped a good deal in the present emergency. It's providing good, comfortable homes for the wheat to sit around in and rest during the cold winter months, but maybe the wheat isn't thankful after all. That's the way with wheat; you can spend five hundred million dollars to make it happy, and what thanks do you get? While the same five hundred million spent some other way—but what's the use!

HOME THOUGHTS OF AN EXILED SOUTHERNER.

In Bloomfield now are autumn days;
The long hill sleeps, filled with the sun,
With reddening ivies overrun
And wrapped in tremulous golden haze;
The fragrance of a friendly place
Blows with the wind through willow and oak,
Scatters itself along the ways
Where dry leaves run and bonfires smoke,

Dreams in the low-hung avenues
Yellow and red with shattered gold,
Shifting like fire, when the wind has rolled
The embers together light and loose;
Yes, and calls from the open door
Sheltered by every gracious vine,
Where the sunlight spatters the oaken floor
And the curtains blow, and the blue cups shine.

The honeysuckle is heavy and sweet,
The morning-glory turns and sways,
And in and out among the sprays
The velvet moth-wings throb and beat;
Across the autumn pageantry
The blackbird flies, the acorn falls;
Across the northern miles to me
The voice of home forever calls.

Calling to me with rose and apple,
Calling with fern and crimson haw,
Calling with hilltops where I saw
The sunset burn in the flashing maple;
O the sun in the windowed houses
Fire too great for the earth to hold,
Catching the grass as a light wind rouses,
Turning the tips of the grass to gold!

How I have loved it, how I remember
Lying in splendor, watching it pass,
Elbow-deep in the quivering grass
Watching it burn to the ghost of an ember;
The sweet, sweet pain of the joy that bound me
Watching the sky that was lately bright
Pouring above me, against me, around me
Out of the silence the color of night!

O unforgotten beautiful place,
O little town of shady streets,
I think the pulse of friendship beats
In you with some especial grace;
In you the heart of life is still,
Is fevered hours forever past;
You are the rest of a weary will,
You are a place for peace at last.

Peace, and the years like old leaves shed
Without a fear, without a care,
Since in your ways is no despair
And nothing grieves uncomforted;
Since autumn turns your lanes to gold,
Since autumn passes by, to fill
Day with the sound of falling leaves,
Night with the whippoorwill.

DOROTHY R. KISSLING.

A BUY NOW campaign has been started in Philadelphia. The idea of doing anything now in Philadelphia is most unusual and seems hardly possible of success.

AND NOW his loving subjects say that the king of Spain is a grafter and that he's got to go. Somebody will probably get hold of Alfonso one of these days and bring him over and exhibit him on the soap lot under our window on the Boul Mich. The whale is doing good business down there right now, but lots of people would probably pass up the whale and pay two bits to see Alfonso, and he ought to make quite a good haul on his photographs.

OH, SO SORRY, Miss Austenette, and beg pardon and everything. Indeed, and you are quite right in your stinging reproof of us regarding our caption over Riq's whale story. But, mistakes—well, doggone 'em, they just will happen to us. We're funny that way. We were probably thinking of the approaching election, or gangster ambushes, or most anything else when we mentioned Noah in connection with the whale's tummy. Of course, it wasn't Noah, poor dear; how absurd; even a two year old would know it was Bildad the Shuhite.

LAGNIAPPE.

A JUDGE in Pennsylvania ordered 77 pints of whisky captured by dry sleuths to be returned to the man it was taken from. But the man's wife said if that old whisky came back into the house she would leave. The man finally said not to bring the whisky back. And it was very old and very good whisky! And 77 pints! Well, well! And the man would rather have his wife! Well, well!

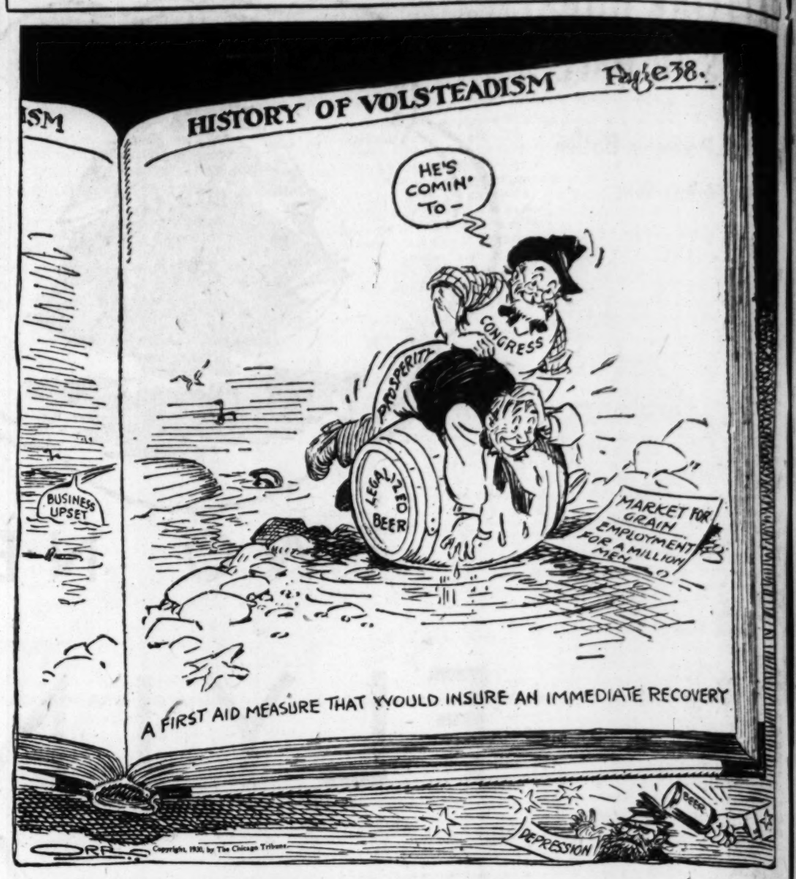
PROHIBITION



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 27, 1914.

LONDON.—The Daily Mail correspondent in France says there were 2,500 German bodies in the Yser canal on Sunday. The streets of Dixmude were strewn thick with dead. These ghoulish facts give some idea of the savageness of the fighting. The night was hell from dark to dawn, and almost every point in the line man opposed man, most often face to face. The Germans had orders to get through, cost what it might. They crossed the waterway, but once through they could not make good and were mowed down with rifle shot, torn to human fragments by shell, and bayoneted back over their own dead into the waters of the canal. It is believed that 5,000 Germans got over the Yser, but hardly a soul got back.

LONDON.—The official reports given out in Paris and Berlin agree that the Germans have been unable to break through the line of the allies drawn up in Belgium west of the Yser canal between Nieuport and Dixmude.

LONDON.—A dispatch from Rome gives the following received from Sarajevo, Bosnia: "Gavario Principe, the assassin, and twenty-three of his accomplices were found guilty of treason for the killing of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife." It was this assassination that brought on the world war.

LONDON.—The French steamer Amiral Ganteaume was disabled by an explosion just outside of Boulogne harbor. Its 2,500 passengers were transferred to the steamer Queen. Despite the panic, the loss of life was small, only 30 persons being drowned.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 27, 1900.

WASHINGTON.—Two Chinese dignitaries, Kang-yi and Yu-sien, Boxers who were conspicuous in agitating the anti-foreign movement in China, have committed suicide, probably anticipating the punishment that would be meted out to them by the Chinese government at the demand of the powers. Prince Tuan has not followed their example, but it is believed he will do so before the imperial government has a chance to put him to death.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. MacArthur at Manila reported a battle between a small detachment of United States troops and 400 riflemen and 1,000 bolomen in Ilocos province, Luzon. The Filipino loss is estimated at more than 150. Four Americans, including Lieut. George L. Febiger of the 33d volunteers, were killed, nine were wounded, and four are missing.

PRETORIA.—The Transvaal today was proclaimed a part of the British empire, the proclamation being attended with impressive ceremonies.

CHICAGO.—It was announced that the wedding of Miss Rue Winterbotham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winterbotham, and John Alden Carpenter will take place on Nov. 20. The marriage was to have been an event of the early fall, but owing to the illness of Mrs. Winterbotham the plans were changed.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 27, 1880.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Gen. Grant presided at a Republican massmeeting here. He wore a suit of dark brown mixed goods, neat and well fitting, and his hat was the orthodox high silk. Altogether he had the appearance of a middle aged gentleman of means and leisure who didn't care to provoke the world and wouldn't let the world provoke him. He predicted Republican majorities of 10,000 in Connecticut and 40,000 in New York in the approaching election.

NEW YORK.—The report is just in at 1 a. m. that two arrests have been effected in the Garfield letter forgery. Detectives have been zealously at work ever since the publication of the letter to ferret out the author of the despicable act.

LAHORE, India.—It is reported from Peshawar that anarchy reigns in Cabul, Afghanistan, and that the ameer has been murdered. There has been no news by post from Cabul for several days.

CHICAGO.—As a result of the registration yesterday, the last before the election, a total of 86,330 names are on the poll lists of Chicago.

FOR MODIFICATION.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Extremists have always shouted their opinions from the housetops. Such has been the case since the world began; such will be the case when the millennium arrives.

On Nov. 4 approximately two and one half million voters in Illinois will march into the booths in their polling places, and with their conscience as a guide to their pencils will express opinions that are going to decide the fate of at least some of the extremists—the prohibitors or the nullifiers, the proponents of the present bootleg era or the advocates of the pre-war saloon.

Extremists dread sensible decisions. The writer strongly urges the application of sense in making your choice; neither the pre-war saloon nor the bootlegger have a place in the scheme of things today. Cast your vote for modification and you lay low the liquor bugaboo, if the representatives of your choice will assist you by carrying out your wishes. JULIUS METERSON.

AUGUSTA BOULEVARD.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The present board of west Chicago park commissioners has held office only since Jan. 2, 1930; consequently it could not have made any promises with regard to Augusta boulevard, its trees or parkways, as mentioned in a recent complaint published in the Voice of the People. If any promises were made they were made previous to its incumbency. However, when the present board came into office it was found that an ordinance had been passed for the improvement of Augusta boulevard by widening, paving, etc., but did not specify in any manner the planting of trees or the grading or fixing of lawns.

The present board decided that this improvement was impractical and judiciously decided to improve the whole street. This latter improvement of the center strip of street was not assessed against the abutting property, but was paid out of the general fund.

At present we are improving and grading the parkways and trees will in all probability be planted in spring if the finances of the board warrant it.
R. J. DALY,
Secretary West Chicago Park Commissioners.

COUGHING AT THE CONCERTS.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Anent the coughing at the symphony concerts commented on in today's TRIBUNE, I wish to make a suggestion: Has it ever occurred to the management of Orchestra hall that imperfect ventilation of the gallery is in a measure the cause of this annoying condition? Opening the outside doors and letting the icy blasts sweep over the audience is not conducive to the comfort and health of the patrons. Such was the case last Saturday evening, even after a number of people protested. SUFFERER.

INVESTMENTS.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 20.—I have been a reader of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for approximately ten years past and at the same time thoroughly enjoyed the cartoons appearing on the front page and drawn by your Mr. McCutcheon. In your issue today, Oct. 20, there appears a cartoon which, as I see it, cannot possibly accomplish any good. It portrays real estate mortgages, investment trust certificates, and apartment house bonds as being in the same category as rodeo stock certificates and oil stock certificates. You are probably aware of the fact that there are even today good real estate mortgages and good investment trusts. I believe it has been the desire of Mr. Hoover and the entire government, along with good newspapers, to try to hasten the return of better business conditions by advertising the inherent soundness of America. A great aid to the return of prosperity will be the employment of idle capital in building activities. If the public lacks faith in real estate mortgages the capital will not be forthcoming to finance building.

AFTERMATH OF THE GOEBEL CASE

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 19.—When reading the editorial page of Sunday's TRIBUNE I happened to come across an event under the column, "From THE TRIBUNE'S Columns" of thirty years ago. It concerns Henry E. Youtsey and his trial for the assassination of Gov. Goebel, or, rather, candidate for the governorship. It might be interesting to know that Mr. Youtsey did not die, but was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. Some ten years ago now he was pardoned by the governor of Kentucky, returned to his home town, married, and is now a very successful business man. Since the excitement of the assassination has passed over, and I, among others, have grown up in a generation not born at that time, the incident has taken a different aspect in that all who know Mr. Youtsey seem to think he was a martyr to the cause and not a guilty man.

JURY DUTY FOR UNEMPLOYED.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—A rather prominent business man who can ill afford to be away from his office has just been called for two weeks' jury service. In these times of unemployment it would seem that some method could be devised whereby just as competent minds for jury service could be obtained from among the unemployed, thus giving them an opportunity to earn the fees that the business man does not want and which would help to tide over the unemployment period. BAY STATE DRYS BATTLING WITH BACKS TO WALL

Pin Their Hopes on Butler to Defeat Wet.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—In Massachusetts the drys are fighting in this election with their backs to the wall. Almost everything they have won in the last decade is here at stake.

In the contest over the senatorship they will lose another dry vote in the senate unless they succeed in electing William M. Butler, dry Republican candidate, over his wet Democratic rival, Marcus Aurelius Coolidge.

What the drys are up against is indicated by the fact Mr. Butler was defeated for the senate by 50,000 votes in 1926 when the reaction against national prohibition had hardly set in, when prosperity was a Republican asset, and when President Coolidge was openly aiding the candidacy of his personal friend and political manager.

Hoover Help Lacking.

Mr. Butler now is essaying the same feat when the tide is running strongly against prohibition, when fate has made hard times as much a Republican liability as prosperity formerly was a Republican asset, and when no aid and comfort emanated from the White House. Mr. Hoover went out of his way to felicitate Dwight Morrow of New Jersey, outstanding Republican advocate of prohibition repeal, upon his nomination for the senate, and to assure the candidate his support and that of the administration in the election. But hints and entreaties have not availed to draw from the White House any token of presidential favor for Mr. Butler, who takes his stand alongside Mr. Hoover on the prohibition issue.

The drys are also threatened with the loss of two of three dry votes in the Massachusetts delegation in the house.

No less serious from the viewpoint of the prohibitionists is the danger that they will lose the referendum on repeal of the state enforcement law, known as the "baby Volstead act." They are fighting desperately to prevent Massachusetts from joining the ranks of New York, Wisconsin, and Montana, which have repealed their state enforcement laws.

Drys United for Butler.

The Anti-Saloon league, its campaign agency, the Constitution defense committee, and the Protestant churches throughout the state are working as never before for the election of Mr. Butler and the retention of the "baby Volstead act." No less active on the other side are the Association Against Prohibition, the Constitutional Liberty league, the Crusaders, and the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. Both the drys and the wets are well financed.

The drys refuse to consider Massachusetts definitely lost to their cause, despite the fact that it was carried by Al Smith in 1928 and that thirty-one of the thirty-six state senate districts voted to memorialize congress for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The popular majority for repeal was 233,000.

Notwithstanding this disclosure of wet sentiment, the legislature last winter defeated a move to repeal the "baby Volstead act" from which action the initiative referendum in this election is an appeal to the people.

See Reign of Lawlessness.

The drys contend that if the "Baby Volstead act" should be repealed "the whole burden of arresting the moonshiner and the rum runner will be left to fifty federal agents. This force is not enough. Liquor law enforcement will break down and general lawlessness with all that it means will increase. Does a state really wish to pay the price of increased lawlessness in order to repeal the eighteenth amendment? There are other ways of repealing a law than by 'fomenting lawlessness.'"

According to Elizabeth Tilton in the campaign literature of the drys the first thirty years of prohibition will be the hardest. It took a whole generation, she says, for Kansas to effect enforcement of its prohibition law enacted in 1881.

Generation to Convince.

"The fact is," she goes on, "that a generation is the very shortest time in which we can hope to build up reasonable enforcement of a new law. When such a law is passed by the advanced majority the unconvinced minority must slowly come to a realizing sense of the economic virtues of the new idea. The idea must ripen into custom."

The wets advocate repeal of the "Baby Volstead act" as the logical first step toward repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"To admit that the eighteenth amendment cannot be repealed," says a statement by wet members of the legislature, "is to confess that the American form of government is a failure. There is nothing sacred about this amendment. The people put it into the constitution. The people can take it out. We represent the voice of the people.

"We believe that the majority of the voters in this commonwealth and of the country desire a return of temperance. This cannot be accomplished by prohibition legislation. Our experience has resulteted in intemperance and wholesale corruption. From this condition our people demand relief.

State Control Favored.

"World-wide experience has demonstrated that the closest approach to temperance can be reached only when the state controls the sale of intoxicants. This is merely to return to the traditional heritage of state rights, well nigh abolished when police and sumptuary powers were written into the constitution in the form of the eighteenth amendment. We now propose to take out of that instrument of government what never should have been in it."

Although prohibition is recognized as the paramount issue, neither Mr. Butler nor Mr. Coolidge mention it more than casually. They prefer to talk about economic conditions and their respective attitudes as large employers toward labor.

PASTURES THRIVE IN CENTRAL STATES, IS REPORT ON DROUGHT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Fall pastures and gardens are doing well throughout the states in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Dr. C. W. Warburton, secretary of the federal drought relief committee, announced today in his weekly report on drought conditions.

Although in the middle Atlantic states the lack of rainfall and insects, in particular the army worm, have continued the drought problem, it has been largely relieved in the central states, according to Dr. Warburton. Speaking of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys he said:

"The rye, wheat and alfalfa fields are producing a good growth, and are furnishing excellent pasture for live stock. In these areas enforced selling of live stock apparently has run its course."

"The most encouraging development in the drought relief program during the last week," Dr. Warburton said, "was the decision by many railroads to extend from Oct. 31 to Nov. 30 the time for making emergency shipments of feed and live stock at reduced rates."

Four Arab Nations Form Alliance; Help Britain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BAGDAD, Iraq, Oct. 26.—Premier Nuri Pasha Assaid today announced Iraq will join a new pan-Arabian alliance including Transjordan, Hedjaz, and Nejd. These nations are all friendly to Great Britain and cover the whole route proposed for a railways and pipe line from the Mosul oil fields to Haifa. This route will end the Suez canal monopoly and is destined to become a new and quick route to the east.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German financial expert, was welcomed to Chicago yesterday by a number of prominent Chicagoans of that nationality. Dr. Schacht, the financial genius who was formerly president of the Reichsbank and who is credited with restoring the German mark from inflation to stability, will lecture this evening in Mandel hall at the University of Chicago. His topic will be "The Economic Side of the Reparations Problem."

Dr. Schacht was accompanied to this city by his son, Jens, who will remain here to begin a financial career as an employé of the First National bank. The choice of Chicago as a starting point for his profession was said to have been made by Dr. Schacht, who has described this metropolis as more truly American than New York or other eastern cities.

This evening a dinner will be held at the Quadrangle club in honor of Dr. Schacht, preceding his lecture. Among those making reservations are Melvin Traylor, Eugene M. Stevens, Harry M. Gottlieb, Dr. H. E. Simon, German consul general; Walter Lichenstein, Bowman S. Lingle, Herman Waldeck, Samuel T. J. Straus, J. Sanfors Otis, Vice President Frederick Woodward of the university, and a number of others.

Germans to Build Zeps in Holland with Dutch Cash

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Oct. 26.—A Zeppelin construction plant is to be built at Rotterdam. It will be operated by German technical experts and will be financed by Dutch bankers and industrialists. A propagada flight will be made next year from Holland to the Dutch East Indies, following the route planned for the ill-fated R-101. Small ships for commercial purposes will be built.

SLAYER HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

Pana, Ill., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—A coroner's jury today held to the grand jury without bail, for murder Samuel Ketcheson, who last midnight shot and killed John Shipp, 55, at Sullivan. Ketcheson is in jail.

FRANCE FORGES DEFENSE RING OF 'FIRE AND STEEL'

Rushes Chain of Forts on Eastern Frontier.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 26.—A 20th century version of Hadrian's wall is going up today all along the eastern border of France.

Work has been proceeding quietly for several months. Within a year French military engineers believe they will have achieved the most remarkable and the most effective stationary defense plan of modern times. Within three years the plan will be complete to the last detail.

War Minister Maginot's visit to the workyards, where this gigantic ring of "fire and steel" is being forged, has focused public attention more than ever on the problem of national defense. Hitherto the actual organization of the border defenses has been guarded as a jealous secret.

War Clouds Massing.

In the last few weeks, however, war clouds have been massing so thickly on the eastern horizon that the government, in order to restore the country's confidence, has decided to make public the details of the defense plan which was the dream of Foch and Petain and which Foch's aide, Gen. Weygand, now chief of staff of the French army, is carrying out.

To understand what is being done it is necessary to visualize the geography of France. For strategic purposes there are three separate frontiers—the low plain of Flanders, stretching from the tiny duchy of Luxemburg along the Belgian border to the North sea; the Alpine frontier separating France and Italy, and the wide gap between these two sections made by Alsace-Lorraine.

The northeastern frontier is protected by France's ally, Belgium, and by the many canals and rivers of Flanders. Immense works are being carried out whereby nearly the whole of the region can be flooded at the first sign of invasion. A few well placed fortresses will do the rest. With the exception of a narrow and easily defensible strip along the Riviera the southeastern frontier is protected by the Alps and is almost invulnerable.

Alsace-Lorraine Wide Open.

But Alsace-Lorraine is wide open. It leads through Nancy, Metz and Verdun straight to the heart of France. On the map the gap does not look so big, but actually it is about 190 miles wide.

This gap the French are now trying to close. It amounts virtually to a continuous wall along the frontier. It is literally a chain—a chain stretching from the Swiss border to Luxemburg, and so closely woven that if all the links held, there would be no place where more than a half dozen men could filter through at a time.

Throughout its extent this chain keeps within rifle shot of the border. In places it coincides with the legal frontier. Along the Rhine each of the thirteen permanent bridgeheads, or fords, and each of the ten other possible crossings is guarded by a strong fortress.

There are three kinds of links in this chain—machine gun nests, small forts armed with machine guns and light artillery, and huge agglomerations with batteries of big guns, ammunition dumps, and underground barracks.

The great fortresses are rather thinly spread out along the line. They support the smaller fortresses and these in turn support the machine gun nests. These last are placed less than a mile apart.

The three different units of the defense chain are so placed that the thin gaps between them can be swept with a withering cross-fire.

A CHAIN OF FORTS

Map shows chain of fortresses and machine gun nests being constructed by France on its eastern frontier to protect the nation from invasion.

The line of fortresses stretches from Luxemburg on the north to the Alps on the south. The defense plan, regarded as the most perfect in the world, will be completed within three years.

POLICE ARREST U. S. DRY AGENTS HUNTING BOOZE

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Federal dry agents in charge of John W. Wilke, deputy prohibition administrator for southern Indiana, arrested twelve of fifte. persons they sought on warrants obtained on information procured by "under cover" men operating here several days.

The dry agents allege that they were opposed by the Anderson police department. They asserted that Edward Dc.alin and Harry Shouts, federal agents, were shadowed by police and arrested and thrown into jail despite their sworn statements that they were dry operatives. Prosecuting Attorney Ryan obtained release of the two prisoners after notifying police that they were interfering with federal court. Police asserted they suspected the dry agents as filling station bandits. The federal men threaten to hale the policemen into federal court.

Federal men ignored the city police department, obtaining assistance from Frank Daniels, sheriff of Madison county. Circuit Judge Morrow was called for a night session of court. He sentenced those who pleaded guilty and all pleading not guilty were certified to federal court at Indianapolis.

Rembrandt or Tunney, Who Had Success? Amherst Prof. Asks

Determination of the successes and failures in life is largely a matter of who does the measuring and the kind of measure used, Dr. James Gordon Gilkey, Congregational minister and professor at Amherst college in Springfield, Mass., told the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night.

Dr. Gilkey said that many persons who regard themselves as failures simply have made the common mistake of comparing themselves with the wrong people.

He pointed out, as an example, that Rembrandt received only $3,000 for his famous painting, "The Night Watch," which required months of patient study and work to execute, while Dempsey and Tunney received about $2,000,000 for a fight. He added that a believer in statistics would class Rembrandt as a failure in comparison with Dempsey and Tunney.

"Such comparison," he continued, "is like comparing a Beethoven symphony with a beefsteak dinner.

"Ours is the first generation that has known how to make and use charts and graphs and we undoubtedly have played with those toys too much. There are other realities which these things can never reveal."

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

WOMAN'S DRESS.

A dark green flecked tweed, whose featherweight makes it a most desirable dress for general wear. A lighter green plain tweed is used for the applied front that falls softly in jabots at either side. Another interesting feature is that the long sleeves repeat the light green tone in novel shaped cuffs. A narrow self-fabric belt holds the long molded bodice closely to the figure in the natural waistline.

The pattern, 2709, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 38 inch material with ¾ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Do You Treat Your Children's Friends in a Kindly Way?

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A booklet on sex education will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

And here's another angle of our job—the job of being a mother:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I am wondering if all mothers realize the far reaching effect their attitude toward their youngsters' friends may have.

"Not until recently did I give a thought to the fact that my general attitude and even my facial expression while my little daughter's playmates were around could cast her into either a happy or unhappy mood.

"The other day her little chum returned from a two months' vacation. When she came to see us I greeted her with a hug and a kiss. When she had gone my little girl came to me and, with a hug and a squeeze, said: 'O, mother, you hugged and kissed Vera, too, didn't you?'

"One look at her gleaming face would have told you that I had risen high in her estimation by that little kindly gesture to her playmate.

"Nothing pleases her more than to have me invite one of her little schoolmates to stay to lunch. I always try to extend to them the same courtesies that I should like to have her give to my friends.

"Motherlike, I feel amply repaid for what little effort I have put forth to make her happy when my friends remark while in our home, 'How thoughtful your little daughter is!'"

Doesn't it mean a lot to you if your husband likes your friends and makes them warmly welcome? When you were just grown up and first going out and entertaining, didn't it give you a nice, warm feeling when your mother showed a cordial liking for your friends?

It's just another case in which if we'd put ourselves in the children's shoes—if we'd judge of their feelings by our own—we should almost always find ourselves doing the right thing.

Food Talk.

Numerous requests for ideas on house decorations and for Halloween party food suggest this discussion today. Decorations for home parties are not in my line, such was discussed by Sally Lunn last Friday.

Little have I participated in such fun, but I have always been interested in the food which is a prime essential of the Halloween festivities. From the dietetic point of view many hostesses overdo their menus by trying to serve all of the time honored Halloween foods—doughnuts, gingerbread, cider, popcorn, apples, and nuts.

All of these time honored foods are permissible at this season of the year, so be sure to include one or two of them. The Halloween cake has long been a popular food since the beginning of the Halloween celebration here in America. A ring, key, thimble, penny and button was baked in the cake and foretold respectively speedy marriage, a journey, spinsterhood, wealth and bachelorhood.

Browns, blacks, oranges and yellows have always been the predominating colors of both decoration and foods. For those who are planning a party the following menus and recipes should help:

MENU I
Cream of Carrot Soup
Deviled Eggs Jellied Vegetable Salad
Hot Rolls
Gingerbread Apple Sauce
Coffee

MENU II
Fruit Salad Stuffed in Hollowed-Out Red Apple
Toasted Cheese Sandwiches
Ripe Olives
Pumpkin Tarts
Coffee

MENU III
Welsh Rarebit on Toast
Pickles Celery
Devil's Food Cake
Cider

STEAMED FIG PUDDING.

1 cup chopped suet.
1½ cups chopped bread crumbs.
4 eggs.
1 teaspoon grated nutmeg.
1 cup sugar.
½ lb. figs, chopped fine.
1 cup milk.
1½ teaspoon baking powder.
¼ cup cooking sherry.

Mix all the ingredients together. Put them into a buttered mold that has a tight cover and steam for three hours. Serve with foamy sauce.

Yield: Eight servings. One serving: Total, 383 calories; protein, 30 calories; fat, 127 calories; carbohydrates, 226 calories.

PUMPKIN PIE.

1 teaspoon each ginger and cinnamon.
1¼ cups strained pumpkin.
¾ cup brown sugar.
2 eggs, well beaten.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 cup milk [scalded].
2½ tablespoons orange juice.

Mix the spices and boiling water. Add this with sugar, eggs, and salt to the pumpkin. Stir to blend thoroughly, then add hot milk and orange juice. Cook the mixture over hot water until thoroughly heated (about 5 minutes). Pour into unpricked baked pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes, after which reduce to slow oven (300 degrees F.). About 25 minutes are required for baking. Yield: 1 pie. One serving: Total, 159 calories; protein, 15 calories; fat, 31 calories; carbohydrates, 113 calories.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should learn all about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information" which will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 170 Varick St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get only genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

Augusta Bernard Shows Something New in Collars

DOROTHY DULIN PARIS

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Nine times out of ten the new coats have fur collars that imitate scarves. Often they are collarless and are worn with separate fur scarves that can thus do their accessorial duty by several ensembles.

Augustabernard has launched something new in the way of the coat collars. She cuts them round and drapes them so that they just cover the shoulders. They taper into cute little ear points in front where they tie or else are pulled through a ring, as is the case in the one sketched above. She uses these collars in flat fur or in the fabric of the coat on her evening as well as daytime wraps.

This one's in sapphire blue velours Mida and its collar is black gallac. (You know, black and blue is a specially favorite color combination with Augustabernard.) It achieves the double breasted effect, that is the smartest closing in Paris just now, in an original manner, with two black gallac covered buttons just below the belt, which is of black patent leather. The skirt of the coat crosses over widely and flares at the left side. The collar is drawn through a jet ring. The kimono top sleeves are slender and smartly cuffless. The beret and envelope purse are of black gallac.

Brandreth's Pills THE TONIC LAXATIVE

The Regular Boys and Girls of All Ages are the Regular Milk Drinkers

EVERY little boy and girl wants to be big and strong like the big boys and girls they see playing football and basket ball and tennis. The big boys and girls want to be successful men and women.

One of the surest ways to make dreams come true is to eat wisely—and perhaps the most important practice of all is—THE REGULAR DRINKING OF A QUART OF MILK EACH DAY.

Milk is so important as food, because it contains so many of the vital elements — minerals, proteins, vitamins, for teeth and bones, muscles, energy and "pep."

Milk is Economical Food
Saves in Feeding a Family

Even the family with a meager food budget, can afford that quart of milk a day for the boys and girls—in fact it has been proven that a quart of milk per day for EACH member of the family is a certain way to KEEP FAMILY HEALTH UP AND EATING COSTS DOWN. There are so many delightful ways to get plenty of milk into the family diet; with the breakfast cereal, cocoa or Postum; in puddings, custards or other milk-using desserts; in soups or gravies. A meal of crackers and milk or bread and milk can't be beaten for the emergency—time-saving, tasty and sustaining.

Try "SELECTED"—Borden's Special Milk for Drinking

"Selected" is everything the name suggests. It is painstakingly produced on 105 selected farms near Lake Geneva, Wisconsin—selected because they have healthy cows and modern barns, and use approved methods of feeding, milking and cooling the milk. "Selected" Milk is bottled in a special plant, and delivered in bottles with an extra hooded cap. We pay a liberal premium to produce and bottle "Selected" this way, but it is wonderful milk—with a "Sweet Natural Taste" that milk drinkers of all ages enjoy most heartily. Try it—costs only three cents a quart more. Speak to your Borden's milkman, phone Franklin 3110, or drop us a line—to arrange delivery of "Selected."

SYNOPSIS.

King, known as "the wild boy of Harvard," must wait several years before receiving the principal of the fortune left by his father, Joshua George of chewing gum fame.

After the wedding they slip away to avoid the reception. Instead of going to Monterey, where their baggage had been shipped, they slip off to Lake Tahoe. King is strangely restless and irritable, and a phone call which Sheila overhears King make reveals to her the cause—he is a drug addict and because of their changed honeymoon plans is without a supply. Sheila determines to fight for King's regeneration and consults a federal narcotic agent, who suggests a program which if rigidly adhered to would effect a cure.

King had entered his favorite horse, Wind, in the Tia Juana races and intends to ride him himself, so they go to San Diego. The day before the race Sheila overhears her husband and his trainer planning to dope Wind to insure his winning.

INSTALLMENT VII.

THE MILLIONAIRE JOCKEY.

Since noon of the day before the planes had been arriving from Hollywood, from Pasadena, and Burlingame. While Sheila waited on the Casino veranda for Hawley, facing the old well and the low cream tinted wall where the bronze and purple salpiglossis, the marigolds, and the spiked stems of many colored gladioli cast entrancing shadows, she watched the ships of the air as they banked towards the field landing. A popular motion picture star who was to award the ribbons and trophies had been keeping an anxious crowd of admirers and fans waiting. One of those three planes, glittering like burnished silver against the blue, was hers. And soon Sheila was watching their freight as it was transferred to the gayly painted cars—girls and roses with the men who had supplied the girls and the roses—and whirled away towards Tia Juana.

On the way to the race track Hawley was brimming over with excited information. "In that last 'bunch,'" he reported, "was Gillingham, the oil king, who's dippy over the Rumanian star with the angel face. That's what they call her in Hollywood, Angel Face. And one director, a producer, two newspaper millionaires. This is the day!"

He watched her as she read the slip of paper he had given her.

She discovered, dismayed, that he was betting heavily, for him, on Wind. Did he know what he was saying when he declared that Wind was "doped to win"? Was that the origin of the phrase? It made her wince.

The sixth race, Hawley went on babbling, was the great event, with Black Devil and Wind the favorites. Some excitement was being worked up for the other entries, but the betting, "outside a few long shots," was on these two.

This was no news to her; every one knew it. For days the names of the two star horses had been heard about the lobby, in the Casino, in the corridors of the hotel; and coupled with them always had been that of King George the First or "the millionaire jockey."

He was at the gate, waiting for her. Such a boy he looked in the bright green blouse over which had been flung a white blazer. His beautiful head was bare, the green and white cap having been thrust into a pocket of the coat. Sheila could see the vizor peeping out. When she drew near she saw he had a wad of paper money in his hand.

"Will you place my bets for me, Sheila? It's all doped out on this paper." Doped out! The fingers which brushed hers was cold.

Marching beside her, he inquired, "Asked anybody to sit with you, sweetheart, or did you decide to be alone?"

"I decided—to sit alone."

"Can you make it out?" He watched her as she read the slip of paper he had given her. "Okeh?"

"Okeh."

Even at that last minute she yearned to plead, "O, King, you can't do it! It's all wrong. Give up the race, if it must be done that way. Or let Mickey ride Wind. We won't wait to see Wind lose; we'll run away again." She was aching to take the slender, twitching body in her arms, to smooth the black, straight hair. How many times had Mary George controlled the helpless yearning and had had to watch him go, as now she, Sheila, must let him go?

She bent over her lap, when seated, to fold with meticulous care the crisp green notes, putting them, full length, into her bill case, and that in turn into her white tooled leather handbag. When she looked up King had gone. He was striding past the grand stand. Women and girls were craning their necks to see him. Sheila heard a shrill, girlish voice say, "Yes. The one in the green shirt. Green and white are his colors."

She shut her ears to the buzzing and humming about her. Soon it would be too late to think, to act. Why, it was she who was financing this trickery! While still at the lake, before introducing the Tia Juana program, King had told her of his plight. His future was mortgaged; for years on end he would be in debt. It was his parents' fault, he insisted, keeping him down to a measly allowance and not taking him into their confidence about the trust. There had always been men, it appeared, who were eager to discount his expectations. Perhaps she had been unwise to help him out. But he would have borrowed from some one else at villainous interest. Was he planning even then to repay her with money won on the track, this race of Wind's—with tainted money? If the trick were discovered, this would be his last race. Across the line, in the States, it was a penitentiary offense; she had been told that in the government office, little dreaming then that the agent's information would ever bear any relation to her life. And what did she know about Mexican laws? What would Mexico have to say?

Carrying on for Mary George meant this.

Every one was scurrying for or settling themselves in their seats. The program opened with a race of "maidens," race stuff which had never yet won a race. Sheila did not see the finish, for through the far gate came Mickey O'Neill on Babette, described in the program as "a slender brown mare with one white pastern and a slight blaze." Babette, who in a few minutes was giving all she had, yet was brought in third by a crestfallen O'Neill. In the fourth race, however, he rode Slaughter to victory. Hawley, who had promised Sheila to divide his bets, waved his cap triumphantly. Alas, he would now place his winnings, too, on Wind!

Her own bets—King's—had been placed; she was again in her seat, her cheeks hot, her hands trembling. What she had just done would divulge her knowledge—couldn't she have thought out a better way?

The fifth race was over. From the grand stand emerged the Rumanian actress—Angel Face—carrying the trophy and her roses; by her side was the car magnate, and following them were the newspaper men and her director.

Sheila was watching feverishly for a glimpse of a green blouse, a green and white cap. Suddenly she located King, who was showing Wind to the bunches. Slightly in advance, obscuring him, pranced Black Devil, carrying the darkey, little Ben, the left side of whose blouse was yellow, the right black. The other entries were also there, flanking and following Wind; one was a swayback roan, one a bay with a white face. The bay reminded Sheila of Chain Lightning, who had recently been sold, her uncle had written, to a breeder.

The runners of the next race were now passing her section. Now they were turning back. And she hadn't seen King's face, for a blur of heads had come between them.

Her breathing became difficult; threatened hiccoughs. Surely it was time to let down the gate? O, why didn't some one wave the flag? King's nerves must be played by the delay. What could be causing it? Had anything happened? How long since Wind had left the paddocks? She had meant to time him when he entered the gate. She had now no way of guessing how long ago the cheating stuff had been put under his tongue. Not that she doubted him to win. But she couldn't bear to have him "go dead" on the track. The racing folk might understand. King might be disgraced. Ah, there came the signal. They were off!

As one body the audience had jumped to its feet. People were straining necks and eyes to see the start; parasols were obscuring the view. Cries began, "Down there in front!" Not until the racing group neared the tower would any one relax to a seat.

Black Devil had the inside position, was holding it, neck and neck with Wind. On they flew.

At the half mile Sheila could see daylight between the two leaders; Wind had dropped back. At the next quarter King had brought Wind abreast again, but little Ben had held the turn there; he was gaining! A sudden spurt had carried him well in advance. Was King only sparing Wind? But his set face did not suggest sparing.

Good morning!

"Set down and unlax, boy! Uncheck! This yere's a reportant meetin' we got ever at the State-Lake and we wants you to injoy it!"

Says Amos 'n' Andy to you.

No doubt about it, "Check and Double Check" will most decidedly be regarded as "somepin'" by children, minstrel show lovers and those who take delight in the radio activities of Amos 'n' Andy. The boys have achieved the accomplishment of looking and talking on the screen exactly as you imagine they would from their voices and dialogue over the microphone. Amos is wiry, eager, willing, sweet tempered and, quite often, not so dumb, with a white, disarming smile. Andy is big, bumptious and lazy. His motto is "Let George Do It," and Amos is George. Sympathy, of course, is with the latter, who is Chaplinesque in his power to make you feel sorry for him while you laugh at him.

Amos and Andy are in the "Fresh Air Taxi" when you meet them, and the taxi won't go. A policeman is standing around making embarrassing remarks, a crowd is gathering and the boys are suffering greatly. The taxi looks just as you knew it would look.

From then on the tale concerns itself with their adventures as partners in the "Fresh Air Taxi Cab company," their obligations as members of the Mystical Order of Knights of the Sea, their romances with Ruby and Madame Queen, respectively, and their unwitting concern in the love affair of the son of a former Ol' Mars' down in Georgia and Miss Jean Blair, whom a scoundrelly northerner "mought" have wed had their interference come too late.

The story as a story is no great shakes, but it admirably suits the purposes of Amos and Andy, providing them with a full quota of fool predicaments to get in and out of.

Kingfish is there in the flesh, and so are many other of the dark skinned brethren of the lodge. Madame Queen and Ruby are only introduced through telephone conversations carried on by their worried boy friends, who are always between the devil and the sea where these ladies are concerned.

Supporting players do well all they're required to—but this naïve, chucklesome comedy is Amos and Andy's show, and if I'm any judge of an audience's reactions, Lady Luck sho' has smiled on "Check and Double Check."

Wonder if you'll turn any enthusiastic mental somersaults over this one!

Norma Talmadge was a brave femme, if not a particularly wise one, to attempt the portrayal of a rôle so unforgettably played by another woman. Those who witnessed Pola Negri in "Passion" will find the Talmadge offering a comparatively weak affair, and its star synthetic as contrasted with the gorgeous, tumultuous creature who was the Negri Du Barry.

If you DIDN'T see the powerful photoplay released in 1921, which was such a flaming example of foreign efficiency, you may be interested in the version of the life and adventures of the mistress of Louis XV, depicted on the United Artists' screen. Miss Talmadge is, of course, a capable actress, and retains considerable of the charm which won her adorers in the good old "silent" days.

William Farnum, popular "he-man" of the epoch before the shadows found their voice, is interesting and handsome as the dissolute Louis whom Du Barry completely subjugated, and ruled, till his death by smallpox. Conrad Nagel is nice as De Brissac, whom the lady loves, and Hobart Bosworth, Edgar Norton, Henry Kolker, and E. Olyn Warren are also there, doing well what they have to do. [A regular veterans' roster.]

The picture drags at the start but picks up as it goes along. It adheres casually to historical accuracy, is quite elaborately staged and costumed, and has its moments of suspense. It's too long—but the United Artists' theater has nice, comfortable seats.

See you tomorrow.

AMARILLO ORDERS 42 FROCK COATS FOR MARY GARDEN TEA

Amarilla, Tex., Oct. 26.—(AP)—There isn't a frock coat on sale in the entire panhandle of Texas so far as is known, so 42 of them were ordered yesterday by telegraph from Chicago by an Amarillo clothing store.

Gene Howe, Amarillo editor, who is to be the host to Mary Garden, operatic star, at tea at his home a week from tomorrow, announced Friday that the men who had been invited would not be admitted unless they were dressed in proper style.

"It will be the most embarrassing experience of my life when I meet Miss Garden and will have to answer her questions as to my knowledge of music," Howe said today.

Howe caused a furore several seasons ago when he asserted editorially that she was "so old she teetered." The singer vowed never to visit Amarillo again. Recently, however, local business men obtained her consent to sing in concert next week.

Later Mr. Howe invited her to an "oldfashioned Texas supper." He said she telegraphed she would be glad to have tea at the Howe home.

Mexicans Denounce Painter as Catering to Americans

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Charges of "catering to American tourists" have been brought against Diego Rivera, celebrated Mexican painter, by the revolutionary Union of Painters and Sculptors.

The union, which recently expelled Señor Rivera, charges in the press that the painter invites tourists to dinner at his home with the object of interesting him in buying his work.

It also accuses him of defaming the Spanish conquistadores in the murals he painted for the old Cortes palace in Cuernavaca, and charges that making inappropriate use of funds donated by Ambassador Morrow, he depicted them as cruel and bloodthirsty.

Science Digs Dead Empire from Clay Hill

Glory of Hittites Told by the Relics.

ALISHAR, Turkey, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A gray, sun baked mound stands in the heart of the ancient land of the Hittites. Burrowing through it for five years, American archæologists must have cut a cross section of the history of mankind as they dug for a solution of the Hittite mystery.

On this one mound, the Alishar huyuk [huyuk is Turkish for "artificial hill"], a mound 2,300 feet long and 2,000 feet wide, situated 128 miles southeast of Angora, the Oriental institute of Chicago university has just completed its fifth season of excavations.

Dr. Hans Henning von der Osten, leader of the expedition; Richard Martin of Chicago, and a German, Herr Reifenmuller, who are all veteran pursuers of Hittite mysteries, saw the 1930 expedition produce the most important results of the Oriental institute's five years in Anatolia.

Digging 81 feet below the citadel wall which crowns the Alishar mound, the expedition this year struck the dwelling place of stone age man, exposing relics of a settlement existing at least 10,000 years before the Christian era. Working down to this neolithic level, the expedition has exposed, one on top of the other, relics of ten distinctive periods of man's history.

Below the surface, remains of an Armenian settlement abandoned some eighty years ago, were found in succession the Osmanli strata, the Seljuk, the Byzantine, the Roman, and the remains of the period comprising at once the Gallic invasions of Asia Minor, the Cappadocian kingdom and the Phrygian.

Downward, farther away and longer ago, come the strata of the new Hittite empire, and downward again, leaving the iron and coming to the bronze age, appear the remains of the great first Hittite empire, which rose to power in the second half of the third millennium B. C., and fell somewhere around 1800 B. C. Piercing below this great treasure house for Hittite study, the American expedition passed the strata of men of the copper age, and so at last reached Neolithicum, exposing the wooden roof support of a dwelling inhabited by man 12,000 years ago.

Bulgars' New Queen Leaves Italy While Thousands Cheer Her

BRINDISI, Italy, Oct. 26.—(AP)—King Boris of Bulgaria and his queen, the former Princess Giovanna of Italy, departed today aboard the Bulgarian royal yacht Czar Ferdinand for the Bulgarian port of Varna. Sixty thousand persons cheered them farewell.

Giovanna appeared deeply affected as she bade goodbye to her sister, the Princess Mafalda, and her brother, Prince Humbert of Piedmont. The bride, who cried during her marriage ceremony yesterday, again broke into tears, her sister's eyes were moist and her brother was visibly affected. The princess threw her arms time after time around both of them.

As the ship left the dock, however, she smiled just as she smiled yesterday after her tears. She gave the cheering thousands lining the docks the Roman salute, while King Boris doffed his cap.

A few minutes after the king and queen sailed the crown prince and princess of Piedmont and the prince and princess of Hesse, the latter the former Princess Mafalda, departed aboard the Italian yacht Quarto to escort the bridal couple part of the distance toward Varna.

The populace continued cheering and ships in the harbor continued saluting until the two ships with their escort of four Italian scout cruisers passed out of sight.

Disciples of Christ Dedicate Chapel at University of Chicago

Dedication services yesterday of the recently completed chapel of the Disciples Divinity house of the University of Chicago were attended by a specially invited group of the faculty and administration of the university and the trustees of the house.

The Rev. Dr. Edward Scribner Ames, pastor of the University church of the Disciples of Christ, officiated at the service and received from the architect, Henry K. Holsman, the keys of the chapel, which is the gift of Mrs. Gary Sutcliffe, daughter of the late Elbert H. Gary.

The chapel, designed for a group of approximately 100, is a striking miniature of a oGthic church. The lower walls are of matched walnut, the upper walls being limestone of variegated natural shades.

The ceiling is beamed, with panel decorations of the last supper. The stalls are parallel to one central aisle, and the chapel is complete even to choir loft and organ. Dr. W. E. Garrison, professor in the house, and Dr. E. L. Willett, dean there until 1921, participated in the dedication.

THE STAGE

TWO premières are on the theatrical schedule for this evening—Fritz Leiber and his Shakespeareans at the Civic, and "The Garrick Gaieties," a revue staged by the Theater Guild, at the Blackstone. Mr. Leiber comes for eight weeks of his classic repertory, and the Guild's frolic will remain until the second drama of its subscription season, Turgenev's "A Month in the Country," arrives, three weeks hence.

"Hamlet" will be Mr. Leiber's opening bill, as was the case last year. His repertory for the rest of the week is as follows:

Tuesday night: "The Merchant of Venice"; Wednesday matinée, "As You Like It"; Wednesday night, "King Lear"; Thursday night, "Twelfth Night"; Friday night, "Macbeth"; Saturday matinée, "Hamlet"; Saturday night, "Julius Cæsar." Thus the first week will contain seven out of the eight plays on Mr. Leiber's program for the season. The bill will be changed for every performance during the engagement.

"The Garrick Gaieties" represents a blend of several such productions which have been popular in New York. One of its numbers will be a satire of Chicago atmosphere and authorship called "Patron of the Arts." Ruth Tester has been recruited out of "The Second Little Show," which ended its life in New York last Saturday night, to add her song hit, "Sing Something Simple," to the amusement. Among the other principals are Albert Carroll, Doris Vinton, Philip Loeb, Neal Caldwell, and William Holbrook.

Frank Morgan, who plays the title rôle in "Topaze," will be the first guest star of the Goodman theater's repertory company. Next Friday afternoon he will appear as the Duke of Florence in "The Firebrand," by courtesy of the Dramatic League of Chicago and Harry Mervis, regular interpreter of that rôle.

In 1924 Mr. Morgan scored his first New York hit in this very part, when Joseph Schildkraut played the fiery Cellini. That production, incidentally, ran a full season on or near Broadway. Mr. Morgan went to see "The Firebrand" at a recent Friday matinée and began to yearn for one more chance at his old part. Every one thought that it would be a swell idea; and so it was arranged.

When "Death Takes a Holiday" comes to the Princess a week hence, as the second play in the program of the Dramatic League of Chicago, Philip Merivale will be given the ranking and honors of a star. His first acting in Chicago was in 1915, as the professor of phonetics in Shaw's "Pygmalion," of which Mrs. Patrick Campbell was the star.

A dramatization of Du Maurier's "Peter Ibbetson" has been added to the repertory of the Goodman theater. It will be staged in the spring as the seventh production of the season. The eighth and last will be either Sheridan's seldom acted "A Trip to Scarborough" or Roberto Bracco's "The Little Saint" or "Ann Pedersdotter," by Jennsen and Masefield. Philip Barry's "Hotel Universe" is now in rehearsal for a première on Nov. 11.

Florenz Ziegfeld's first production of the season, a musical comedy called "Smiles," will have its first staging in Boston tomorrow night. Marilyn Miller and Fred and Adele Astaire are its stars.

The latest thing in little theater groups is the Gold Coast Theater Guild, which will give plays every Wednesday and Thursday night, beginning next week, in the headquarters of the Civic Art society, 1358 North Clark street. The first production will be "Autumn," by a certain Ilya Surguchev—of Russia, naturally. William Dorsey Blake has been imported from the Macdougal Street playhouse, New York, to direct the enterprise.

Bishop Stewart Dedicates $75,000 Morgan Pk. Church

The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, D. D., coadjutor bishop of Chicago, officiated yesterday at the dedication of the new $75,000 Episcopal Church of the Mediator at Morgan Park at the 11 o'clock service yesterday morning. At the same time Bishop Stewart administered confirmation to a class at the church and preached the dedicatory sermon. Benediction was also held of the memorials, the rose window, in memory of Mrs. Emily King Hammond, and the altar lights, for W. H. Fowkes and Mrs. Walter Hemmens. The Rev. George Carlton Story is rector of the church.

Lawmaker Cites Lessons of World War, Too.

Jerseyville, Ill., Oct. 26.—The unveiling of the marker placed by the Ninian Edwards chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, to the memory of Joshua Armstrong, soldier of the revolution who lies buried in the Armstrong cemetery in Richmond township, Jersey county, took place yesterday. Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton was the principal speaker.

"It is senseless for one to believe," he said, "that the last great war was one that will end all war. The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse are still riding, ever riding, riding.

"I am an optimist regarding anything that goes to make for perpetual peace, but adequate preparation is the surest manner by which to prevent war. The nation adequately prepared is the one that may possibly contribute most to the well being of mankind. It was the great effort at preparedness made by this country at the time of the war against the Imperial German government that brought the war to a close long before we had anticipated.

"With the participation of this country in the war we started making preparations to fight an eleven year war.

"When the war began we had a standing army of sixty thousand men. I was on the committee when Premier Rene Viviani of France came before us with the statement that France was in such a position that it could not continue the war six weeks longer unless immediate aid was furnished by this government. That gentleman was requested to state his demands. He replied France needed at once $100,000,000 and 40,000 troops.

"Viviani was told he might have the money at once, but that the men could not be furnished at once because there were no arms for them. Viviani turned sadly toward the door to leave the room. He faced about suddenly and said, 'You send the men and we will arm them with the weapons of the dead soldiers of France.' And so they were sent, the first forty thousand of our khaki clad boys were on foreign soil without arms, and they marched through the streets of Paris with crippled French soldiers at their sides, and France again took heart.

"Then when the American troops were placed in the apex of the forces facing the famed Hindenburg line, following the carnage of those terrible days, the word went up and down the two hundred miles of enemy trenches, 'The Americans are in the line and they have defeated the Prussian Guard!'

"It was that same spirit which animated the Americans in France that animated the soul of this old veteran at whose grave we pause today to pay this tribute of respect. We are a Nordic people, hunters and fighters."

Joshua Armstrong, over whose grave the marker was placed, was born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. His grandfather, James Armstrong, was a native of Ireland. Joshua Armstrong served two enlistments in the Pennsylvania forces during the revolutionary war. He was next found as a member of George Rogers Clark's expedition against the British in the northwest.

Armstrong next appeared in Rockingham county, Virginia. There he married Sarah Morris. In 1796 Armstrong was in Warren county, Kentucky. There his daughter married William Bridges, a native of South Carolina. The two families came to Illinois in 1810 and settled opposite St. Louis in St. Clair county. Armstrong finally located in Jersey county, where he died, Sept. 25, 1844.

The marker was unveiled by James Arnold Stice, son of Earl F. Stice of Altamont, Ill. He is Armstrong's great, great, great grandson.

Junior College Planned far Balboa, Canal Zone

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA HEIGHTS, C. Z., Oct. 26.—Neither the Canal Zone nor the Republic of Panama has a college or university and the canal authorities are planning the establishment of a junior college, which will give the equivalent of two years in a state university.

This will be built at Balboa and will be open to students from both sides of the isthmus as well as Panamans and white foreigners in the republic.

Education on the Canal Zone is free and compulsory for American children. Aliens in the nearby republic pay reasonable fixed rates.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Soap 'n' Water Still Best Means to Beauty and to Cleanliness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It would seem that advice on washing the face was superfluous, to say the least. Yet, I am asked repeatedly about the advisability of forswearing soap for the use of a cleansing cream or lotion. In certain quarters it would seem that water is looked upon as an enemy to beauty.

For years the question has been appearing with regularity and for years I have been asking and observing. My conclusion is that only the very dry skin, a skin so dry that it should be subjected to the advice and recommendations of a good skin specialist, should ever have to raise the query. And even the very dry skin can stand occasional washings, especially during the summer months.

I recall one of the famous ones among the several outstanding women who earn their country estates and imported cars by the sweat of cleansing cream and lotion manufacture. She was most emphatic in her belief that every face should be washed daily with soap and water, except the extremely dry skins already referred to and she also insisted that an occasional soap and water ablution wouldn't hurt the dry skin, either.

I've interviewed quite a few famous beauties in my time and rarely have I found one whose vote was for the cleansing lotion exclusively. Only one I recall was arbitrary on the subject, and incidentally, her complexion was the least outstanding of her many beauty virtues.

There is a more debatable question about the use of ice on the face, although the beauties referred to were of a single opinion and that was in favor of the tonicizing virtues of the ice rub after the cleansing performance. And I have advocated the use of ice as an astringent many times.

For the coarse skin with large pores I know of no better last minute rite than the ice rub. For the average skin, it may be recommended wholesalely, but for the very fine skin, as I have usually warned, it might prove too drastic a treatment if done every time the face is tended.

Cold water has no such complication in its use and as a tonic measure it has the endorsement of every skin specialist of note.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

R. H.: COFFEE, IF TAKEN TO excess, is overstimulating. One cup at each meal should be sufficient. Coffee contains caffein, which is stimulating.

E. L.: YOU DO NOT DO SUFFICIENT hard work to warrant dating so heartily, nor do you take the necessary exercise to offset it. Eliminate the lunches. Three meals a day are sufficient.

Paganini Violin Music Haunts Genoese as They Honor Memory

GENOA, Italy, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The anniversary of the birth of Nicolo Paganini, famous violinist, was celebrated today, although he was born Oct. 27.

In all the city's churches, where the master once played, his compositions were given and at the Paganini theater his famous sonata "Streghe" was played as a prelude by the Giovane Orchestra Genovese.

The street of the Gattamora, literally "the way of the black cat," where he was born in 1782, was stirred out of its medieval languor by a steady procession of musicians going to pay their respects at the white marble shaft erected in his honor.

The famous Guarnerius violin was taken out of its case in the city hall, the beautiful old Tursi palace, and left on view for the public. In Paganini's day there was a legend that the strings really were human vocal chords.

Girl-Struck Hubby Gives Wife Reason for Feeling Peeved

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Married four months—her husband's eyes are for every new girl that happens across his vision. He is just that kind of baby. Has to be pampered all the time with a new interest of female gender. Nothing harmful about it. Just one of those sillies who makes his young bride miserable stressing beauty, the dress or the wisecrack of any and every new girl met.

If said groom and his bride go out for an evening, the girl, who is trying her level best to make his income go as far as it can, is shelved while the Silly pursues some strange girl who, probably, doesn't give a care whether she ever sees him again or not.

Some men just do not use the brains they were born with. How in the world they can expect a bride to keep up her courage in the face of such silly competition is beyond me. How they can expect a girl to keep on loving them enough to care whether their suits are sent to the cleaners or not is a problem for their own complicated reasoning.

Granted a young bride, under the circumstances outlined, is suffering some jealousy, what of it, and why shouldn't she? Why shouldn't she believe that the man's attentions, in reasonable proportion, should be hers when they are out together? And why shouldn't she expect the flattery that is being given to the others? Also, why should she have to listen constantly to praise of other girls when her life is bound up in trying to earn said praise?

It's darned poor domestic management, any one will agree. Any man who sets himself up in partnership with a girl ought to let her feel that she is the most important person in his life. If there is one thing that will still the urge to try to make a go of the matrimonial business it is this feature of playing up other girls. Stupid stuff!

If the idea of it is to let the wife think she has captured an irresistible prize, it is still poor showmanship.

Be Constant.

"Dear Miss Blake: When I'm attentive to my girl, she does not seem to notice it. When I'm not, she's attentive to me. Please advise. "JACK."

You should show her a reasonable amount of attention at all times, don't you think?

SUNDAY'S CONCERTS FEATURE STRINGED INSTRUMENTS' MUSIC

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It needed about two more recitals of the same kind to have yesterday's music take the label of a festival of strings. As it was, there were two string quartets and two violin soloists in the afternoon's list, not quite enough to put them into the festival class, but unvaried.

Of the quartets, the Lener, taking its name from its first violinist, came to the Studebaker for the first of a series of three programs. All that was said about a previous appearance of this organization needs to be reiterated. It is going to do much to make chamber music popular. Its members play with remarkable purity of tone and with a fine, expert interchange of musical sentiments.

The program began with the Brahms quartet in A minor and continued with a work of the same nature in F sharp minor by Leo Weiner. This was the prize winner at Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge's contest in 1923. It was played so brightly and well that one was in danger of losing sight of the fact that it is not altogether one of the important landmarks in quartet composition. It was, however, entirely agreeable.

Further south at the Chicago Woman's Club theater, the Chicago String quartet was playing the second of its two Beethoven recitals, this time listing opus 131 in C sharp minor and opus 132 in A minor. These were stirring and ambitious programs, and the players threw themselves into their interpretation with all their ability. If anything, the playing yesterday was rather better than a week ago, showing a bit more certainty and considerably more warmth.

Turning to the violinists, Albin Steindel, a member of a family that has numbered several notable musicians, appeared at Orchestra hall with his brother, Walter, at the piano. The first number, Vitali's ancient Ciaconna, appeared in a new version by Respighi, somewhat more elaborate than the one customarily heard, and played with great variety of tone and expression. Other compositions by Bizet-Sarasate, Schubert-Wilhelmy, Paganini, and others showed the technical and tonal command of the artist, who late in the program contributed a "Danse Espagnole" of his own.

Dorothy Zion at the Civic theater began with a Tartini sonata, and then moved through Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole," Bach's Chaconne, and the rest of a typical violinist's program. She played well as far as tone and technic were concerned, but not quite well enough to give her performance the illusion of ease. Leon Benditzky was at the piano.

DON'T BE MISLED—THE R-K-O PALACE THEATRE IS THE ONLY LOOP THEATRE WITH R-K-O VAUDEVILLE

Certain loop theatrical interests have caused a message to be placed upon the screens of their theatres worded in such a manner as to lead the public to believe they are playing R-K-O vaudeville and that no other loop theatre is presenting flesh and blood entertainment.

THIS IS UNTRUE. Hundreds of thousands of Chicagoans know that the Palace theatre is bringing week after week mighty stars in person who are unobtainable by others. THE FOUR MARX BROTHERS, GUS VAN (OF VAN AND SCHENCK), JACK PEARL, TOM PATRICOLA, MORAN AND MACK, and the WEAVER BROTHERS AND ELVIRY are among those who will appear in the near future. These celebrities appear in a FULL ACT; not in "presentations" with "boop-a-doop" girls, the same old scenery and a master of ceremonies. This obsolete form of amusement is rapidly disappearing from Chicago, having been eliminated from the North Side months ago, and from the West Side two days ago.

THE PALACE THEATRE THIS WEEK HAS THE FINEST STAGE ENTERTAINMENT THAT R-K-O OR ANYBODY ELSE EVER BROUGHT TO THE PUBLIC. IT IS HEREBY GUARANTEED AS SUCH BY R-K-O, THE LARGEST THEATRICAL ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD, WITH REPRESENTATION FROM COAST TO COAST.

Society Ready for Opening of Grand Opera

BY THALIA

The gala opening of the Chicago Civic opera season this evening also starts unofficially, of course, the winter social season. Although tonight's premiere won't be as exciting as last year's when the new opera house was dedicated, there is every indication that the display of gowns and jewels and the gayety will be traditionally brilliant.

Many of the boxholders will have family groups with them. The Thomas W. Hindes will be accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. DeLong, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic T. DeLong, and Miss Sarah Hindes. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell are to have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe.

Other boxholders for Monday night include Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick who will occupy the center box in the lower box tier, the Samuel Insulls, the William O. Goodmans, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Dick who share a box with Mr. and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, the John J. Jelkes, senior and junior, and the Cyrus McCormicks.

The Lake Shore League of Women Voters is to hold a board meeting at 11 o'clock this morning at the Fortnightly, preceding to annual luncheon. Mrs. A. A. Carpenter is to preside.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick is to open her apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive for a tea on Friday afternoon for the independent committee on publicity for Miss Amelia Sears. Miss Jane Addams is to speak.

More debutante parties are added to the winter calendar every day. Mrs. J. Ogden Armour and her son-in-law and daughter, the John J. Mitchells, are to give a danner dance at the Casino on Nov. 19 for Miss Elsa Armour, the A. Watson Armours' daughter.

Kathleen Whitcomb, daughter of the William C. Whitcombs, is a member of the cast of "Garrick Gaieties," the New York Theater guild production to open this evening. Miss Whitcomb has spent much time since her debut studying various aspects of the stage business, and was for a time with the Goodman theater.

She went to New York City last spring after intensive training in stage dancing and has had an apartment there with Annie Laurie Jaques. After the three weeks' run of the "Garrick Gaieties" in Chicago Miss Whitcomb will continue with the company to Philadelphia and Washington. She will stay with her parents at their apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive while she is in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. David Owen are to give a party at their Lake Forest residence next Saturday evening.

Miss Anita Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Blair, and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings have returned from attending the hospital convention in New Orleans, La., which took place last week. Miss Blair represented one of the departments of St. Luke's hospital and Mrs. Cummings attended in her capacity of president of the Woman's Auxiliary of Children's Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Addison L. Gardner Jr. of Evanston, will give a tea this afternoon at the Woman's Athletic club. Mrs. Andrew J. George of Boston will speak on "Outstanding political personalities of the world today."

Miss Isbbel MacLeish, who has been living in Colorado for the last several years, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, in Glencoe.

Mrs. Raymond E. Durham of Winnetka has gone east to visit her son, who is at the Berkshire school at Sheffield, Mass. He spent the summer motoring through Europe with Allen Ferry, another Winnetka youth, and also visited his grandmother, Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, at her chalet in Geneva, Switzerland. The Durhams' younger son, Raymond Jr., is at the Fountain Valley school at Colorado Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Hanley of 1545 Astor street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Meredith, to William Wirt Lake, son of Mrs. William C. Cook and the late William Lake. Miss Hanley attended the University School for Girls and Wellesley college before going abroad to study art in France and Switzerland.

She designed the costumes for "The Blue Bird," the Junior league play which is to open next Saturday morning at the Selwyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Morgan of 163 East Chestnut street departed yesterday for a week's motor trip in the northern Wisconsin woods.

BETROTHED

MISS MARJORIE A. MAGNER.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Magner of 8237 South May street announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Ann, to George J. Rathbun, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rathbun of 8519 South Carpenter street. No date has been set for the wedding.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Billingslea of 619 Garrett place, Evanston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Virginia, to Carl Frederic Megelin, son of Mrs. Mathilde Megelin of Chicago.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover had as a week-end guest Mrs. Hoover's niece, Miss Janet Large, who came from school to accompany Mrs. Hoover to Princeton for the Princeton-Navy football game. The others in Mrs. Hoover's party, all of whom returned here late last evening, were Mrs. Herbert Hoover Jr., who came from the camp on the Rapidan, where her husband is convalescing; Mrs. Stark McMullin of California, who has been at the White House for many months. Capt. Russell Train, naval aide at the White House, was their official escort.

Secretary and Mrs. Stimson have had as their guest the latter's sister, Mrs. Robert G. Gamble of Haverford, Pa. She spent ten days with them at Woodley and returned home last night.

Secretary and Mrs. Wilbur returned this afternoon from West Virginia, where he made speeches. Mrs. Wilbur will accompany him to Princeton Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Col. and Mrs. William D. Wrightson, son-in-law and daughter of the late Gen. William C. Gorgas, gave a dinner last evening for Mrs. Wrightson's cousin, Lynn W. Franklin, and Mrs. Franklin.

INDIGESTION, GAS, PAIN 3 YEARS, FINDS NEW QUICK WAY TO END IT

No More Stomach Torture—Can Eat Everything—Sleeps Fine—Thanks New Prescription, ACIDINE.

"I had a mean case of acid indigestion for the past three years," writes Miss Adeline Beljean, Brooklyn, New York. "Tried everything with little if any results. Then heard about ACIDINE and got some. It is wonderful. I can eat everything without gas or pain. Sleep fine."

Amazing the way this new scientific prescription, ACIDINE, succeeds where other known remedies fail. The reason is that it is entirely different. Contains the marvelous digestant called Japtase. In laboratory experiments Japtase has been tested in certain starchy foods which cause so much stomach distress. It digested 800 times its weight of such in only 30 minutes!

Five other ingredients in ACIDINE neutralize burning acid, soothe irritated stomach lining, stop gas and headache from acidity. No other known remedy contains this scientific combination to end acid stomach.

In the space of one year thousands of people have bought ACIDINE at drug stores everywhere and are enthusiastic users. Physicians are prescribing ACIDINE. Thousands of people have found it the only relief from acid indigestion and dyspepsia, gas, pain, heartburn, coated tongue, bad taste, dizziness, fullness, short breath, and other troubles from acid stomach. Pain goes like a flash.

Don't take chances with acidity and gas that often lead to serious and more painful troubles. Get ACIDINE today at any Walgreen or Economical drug store. Costs only a few cents. Watch how quick pain, gas end. Eat, drink and smoke all you want. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

THE SMOCK FOR WORK

Is Pleasantly Efficient

Silk Shantung, Special, $6.95

A smock which looks especially well, all-silk, yet it washes beautifully. There's a yoke back with an inverted pleat which gives it ample fullness. In soft shades of blue, rose, and green. Sizes 16 to 44. $6.95.

Printed Broadcloth, $2.95

These smocks are in unusual printed patterns, trimmed with plain colors—green, blue and rose—of an exceptional quality of broadcloth, which wears and launders well. Belted in the back. Other styles of smocks, $1.95 and $2.95.

Third Floor, Wabash.

COTTON KNIT UNDIES

The "Indoor-Outdoor" Weight

They're comfortable as can be. There's a bit of wool in them, which makes them soft and warm; they fit close to the figure, which is necessary under the new frocks; grand for active outdoor wear, for they're absorbent.

Frankford's Yellow Jackets, who were overwhelmed by the Cardinals Saturday, 34 to 7, on their home gridiron, evidently did a bit of practice on the train en route to Chicago, for yesterday these same Yellow Jackets held the Chicago Bears to a 13 to 7 victory at Wrigley field. Five thousand saw the game.

The Bears scored in the first quarter, but they relaxed their pass defense in the subsequent period so that Clyde Crabtree romped 44 yards for a tying score. Forced to action, the Bears came back speedily after the rest at the half, and Brumbaugh raced a touchdown. Then once more the Bears hibernated, and although on one occasion they reached their opponents' 3 yard line with first down they could not score.

Frankford, however, had no more passes in reserve and since its running attack was a complete loss, the Bears came through the final minutes successfully.

Frankford's 13th Game.

The Philadelphia suburb players are professional football's iron men. Yesterday's game was the 13th of their schedule and they play regularly on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday. The strain of competition apparently has robbed the team of any kind of a running attack, but it played well on the defense. This was due yesterday, perhaps, to the relapse the Bears have suffered since their conclusive triumph last week over the Cardinals. The Bears' line blocked poorly and the offense suffered as a result, until Brumbaugh and Laurie Walquist increased the team's drive with impressive individual running which succeeded in spite of the Bears' forwards, rather than with their aid.

Bronko Nagurski scored the first Chicago touchdown, which should have been sufficient to win the contest. Midway in the first period after a series of short dashes off tackle and passes had advanced the ball to Philadelphia's 31 yard line, the Bronk went back. On a fake tackle play, Nagurski split through center and plowed his speed to the goal. Joie Sternaman drop kicked the seventh point.

Crabtree Scores on Pass.

Play continued in midfield until, in the second quarter, Crabtree, a Cicero boy who once played for the University of Florida, took a short pass from Nagurski and continued to the Bears' goal. Halicki place kicked the tying point, with Crabtree holding the ball.

Coach Ralph Jones' pep talk during intermission sent the Bears back for the second half with determination. Their attack was halted once, but when the ball was theirs a second time they continued the drive to the winning touchdown. Starting from Philadelphia's 45 yard line, a succession of plunges and a pass carried to the 20 yard line. Brumbaugh, Walquist, Holmer, and Lintzenich were operating in the Bears' back field.

Fake Plunge Play Wins.

On the next play Walquist cut inside of Philadelphia's left tackle, fumbled, then recovered to tear on to within six yards of the goal. Three plays gained two yards, but Brumbaugh, on a fake plunge, raced around the opponents' right end and scored just inside the west side line. Holmer's place kick, with Brumbaugh holding, was wide.

The Bears tossed away an opportunity for another score in the fourth quarter. The chance was created when Holmer punted, the ball rolling dead 2 yards from Philadelphia's goal line. Hodgson kicked from behind the line, and Brumbaugh returned within scoring distance. Even then the Bears' efforts was halted after two first downs had been accomplished, but Philadelphia's right guard was offside on the penalty gave Chicago first down 3 yards from the goal.

On the first play one of Philadelphia's backs knifed through the line for a loss. Brumbaugh fell the ball was knocked from his hands, and Philadelphia recovered to kick it out of danger on the next play.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Record crowds and surprising upsets. Thus did collegiate football celebrate the last Saturday in October.

In New York the largest throng ever to attend a game between metropolitan teams—78,500—watched Fordham defeat New York university, 7 to 0. For the first time since its completion, six years ago, Pittsburgh sports followers filled the Panther stadium. Seventy-two thousand within the stadium and hundreds others on the brow of the hill in which the site for the stadium had been blasted, saw a rampant eleven from Notre Dame down Pitt, 35 to 19.

Eighty thousand attended the 7 to 7 drawn battle between undefeated Army and Yale. But the day's record was set in California, where 88,000 witnessed the overwhelming triumph of Southern California over Stanford, 41 to 12.

Trojans Rout Stanford.

Michigan's victory over Illinois, 15 to 7, its third western conference triumph, was witnessed by 70,000.

Although early season games had fallen below attendance expectations, Saturday's throngs were a tribute to sectional rivalries. It proved that while the average game may not have the drawing power of other years, yet the fans will pay thousands of dollars for prospects of decisive combat.

However, several of the games which drew the largest crowds in anticipation of hard fought, close battles, produced record breaking one-sided contests. At Palo Alto, Southern California, nosed out two weeks ago by Washington State, 7 to 6, rose to its greatest offensive heights. The Trojans ran wild to humiliate Stanford by the largest score on record between the universities.

At Pittsburgh, Notre Dame's regulars, starting the game, an attack originated a week ago against Carnegie Tech, amazed the spectators by piling up five touchdowns in 25 minutes, although the final score was 35 to 19 because of a fourth period Panther drive against Rockne's second and third teams.

Navy Trounces Tigers.

Forty-five thousand in Palmer stadium, Princeton, saw the Tigers fall before the Navy, 31 to 0. The Middies' early record did not predicate such performance. The victory was the largest score ever amassed against Princeton in 40 years of football, and it was the first time Princeton ever lost three consecutive games on any schedule.

Despite these upsets in what had been conceived in the public mind as close games, there were other contests which carried the thrill of indecision until the closing minutes. Wisconsin's first setback of the season by the Boilermakers at Purdue led in big time games in the central states. After a scoreless first half Purdue's air game counted and Van Bibber added a seventh point. Then the Badgers, seeing their conference title ambitions about to be frustrated, rallied. A concerted drive of 85 yards crossed Purdue's goal line, but Rebholz's failure to place kick the point prevented a tie.

Two weeks ago Purdue lost such a decision to Michigan, 14 to 13, so, perhaps the Boilermakers are better humored on the subject of points after touchdowns. There is no consolation for Wisconsin.

Michigan defeated Illinois, 15 to 7,

Ice Lures Blackhawks to Canadian Quarters Tonight

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks, Chicago team in the National Hockey league, have had enough of swimming pools, running tracks, and gymnasium floors and in a few days will be back in their real environment. Tonight they leave Chicago for London, Ontario, and once in London the major part of their training will be on skates.

Twenty-four players under contract to the Chicago club will start the ice drill, but when the team returns several days prior to the season's opener at the Chicago Stadium on Nov. 16 the squad will have been trimmed to sixteen players, the number that will be carried on the roster throughout the year.

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Blackhawks, this season has sponsored a more arduous fall training routine than ever was attempted before, it is said, and has the satisfaction of seeing his athletes in prime physical shape before they ever put on a skate.

Spends $7,000 More.

Maj. McLaughlin this week allotted a training budget $7,000 in excess of any sum previously spent for preseason conditioning, and thus far the results are reported to have justified the added expense.

The workouts which have been conducted daily for the last week at the Midwest Athletic club under the instruction of Emil Iverson, new physical director retained by Maj. McLaughlin, were in the nature of an experiment, and the success was sur-

Cooper Wins Salt Lake City $5,000 Open

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Harry Cooper, Chicago professional, won the $5,000 Salt Lake City open golf tournament here today with a 72 hole score of 283. He toured the last two 18 hole rounds in par 72s today.

Olin Dutra, Del Monte, Cal., won second place with a score of 285. He smashed par figures on both rounds today, going around the first 18 in 68 and the second in 71.

George Von Elm, Detroit "business man," professional, and Craig Wood, professional of Bloomfield, N. J., tied for third place with 290 each. Von Elm, making his debut as a pro, finished the last 18 holes in 68, low for the afternoon round. Wood made the last round in 71.

Espinosas Fifth and Sixth.

Cooper, who has led the field since the start of the tournament won the $1,500 first prize and Dutra received $1,000 second money.

Al Espinoza, Chicago, fifth, 292.
Abe Espinoza, Chicago, sixth, 295.
Ray Mangrum, Dallas, Tex., seventh, 297.
Harold McSpadden, Kansas City, eighth, 298.
Jimmie Thompson, Colorado Springs, ninth, 299.
Harold Long, Denver, tenth, 300.

Von Elm and Wood received $500 each; Al Espinoza, $250; Abe Espinoza, $150; Mangrum and McSpadden, $100 each, and Thompson and Long, $50 each.

Cooper won an additional $100 for the two low 18 hole scores Friday and Saturday while Dutra won $50 for the low score this morning, and Von Elm gained an added $50 for the low afternoon score.

Dutra Burns Up Course.

Dutra fairly burned up the course today but a slump near the end of the final round cost him first money. He finished with a 68, four under par, on the third round and on the fourth was five under par through the 13th, birding the 10th, 11th and 12th holes in a row. He slipped one over on the 14th and the 15th and took a fatal seven on the 18th.

Cooper had trouble with his driver on both rounds yet he managed to birdie enough holes to counteract his mistakes. He started the final day seven strokes ahead of Dutra but was only three in the lead at the beginning of the last round. He shot even par through the fifth but took a bad seven on the par four sixth. He then settled down and bagged three birdies to finish the round even par.

ELIMINATION OF BOOTH WAS MERE MISHAP, IT SEEMS

Strangers Only Spectators to Boo Army Players.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 26.—The deemphasization of Albie Booth by several West Point cadets who hit him simultaneously from various directions evoked the angriest growl that has been heard at a football game in these parts since that lively afternoon in Cambridge when the people on the Harvard side of the stands threw off their famous New England reserve and booed the Princeton chaps for tossing their boys around with excessive vigor.

However, courteous representations now have been made back and forth between Maj. Ralph Sasse, the Army coach, and Dr. Mal Stevens, the Yale coach, and all is still amity, sportsmanship and respect between the two institutions.

Maj. Sasse Makes Call.

Maj. Sasse called on Dr. Stevens in the Yale dressing quarters or undressing quarters as soon as the game was over and stated that he and his athletes would rather have lost than to have seen Albie incapacitated for the afternoon. This protestation probably assays a high content of applesauce because Albie has been treated no worse than the law permitted and the situation required.

Dr. Stevens then assured the major that he regarded the incident as a mere mishap and did not question the Army's sportsmanship, thus disavowing the outraged cries from the Yale side of the bowl. In fact, if it were possible to ascertain the identity of those who did the booing it would develop, no doubt, that they were all extraneous persons, unconnected with Yale, who had obtained their tickets by devious means.

Said They Were Strangers.

Once, down south, after a particularly interesting lynching, I telephoned the editor of the paper in the town to ask the particulars and when I inquired whether he could identify any of the fiends in human form who had sullied the name of his fair city with this outrage, he said he could not, as they were all strangers from out of town.

The Army squad broke training slightly over the week-end, attending a theater in New York Saturday evening and dawdling on the way home Sunday so as to arrive too late for the evening parade. Two players, Bowman, the quarter back, and Klug, a substitute end, were formally identified as the boys who tackled Albie.

But there seems to have been an optical illusion out on the football field because it did look as though the entire West Point corps of cadets had struck him at once. I thought I even saw Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, the superintendent, somewhere in the pile, yanking Albie by the leg; but, as I say, there seems to have been an optical illusion.

May Emphasize Others.

At any rate, the movement to deemphasize Albie, which had been making no progress up to that moment, was much accelerated, although this will only mean that some one else will be emphasized. Possibly it will be Fred Loeser, the center, a tough, squatty little fellow, about Albie's height, but thicker, who hurries out of the huddle and stands over the ball, grinning joyously as though clouts on the head and trephining operations were his idea of pleasure.

This young man was a contemporary and rival of Albie's when they were playing football with boys' clubs in New Haven, and I recollect something about his having been in a hospital for an operation on his skull after an automobile accident between football seasons last year.

Center Obscure Post.

Packers Come Home to Whip Jackets, 19 to 0

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—The Green Bay Packers celebrated their homecoming here today by administering a 19 to 0 defeat to the Minneapolis Red Jackets before a crowd of 6,000.

Old Packer stars who have long since taken on aldermanic shapes were introduced to the crowd at half time. During the contest the fans were given many opportunities to cheer two Green Bay high school boys, Dave Zuidmulder and Arnold Herber, who played the Jackets' back field on better than even terms.

Packers Score Early.

The Packers scored in the first few minutes of play. The Jackets received the kickoff and were forced to punt immediately. Lewellen, standing on his own 45 yard line, sent a short pass to Dilweg, who raced to the Red Jackets' 11 yard line. Herber picked up seven yards in three tries and Lewellen slashed through for the touchdown. Herber's drop kick was wide.

In the first quarter, Nydahl opened up his ambidexterous passing game, Herber snatched the second pass from Haycraft's hands in midfield, and Lewellen kicked over the goal line. Peterson punted back to midfield and Herber passed to Dilweg, who was down on the Packers' 18 yard line as the quarter ended.

Lidberg Goes Over.

McCrary slashed through tackle for a first down and Lidberg on three tries went over for the Packers' second touchdown. Again Herbers' drop kick was wide. Lewellen took the kickoff at the opening of the second half and returned it 33 yards to the Jackets' 43 yard line. Herber and Molenda each picked up five yards for a first down on the 24 yard line. Herber passed to Fitzgibbons, who raced across the Jackets' goal line for the third touchdown. Molenda kicked the extra point from placement.

The Jackets failed on their only opportunity to score. Shortly after the opening of the fourth period Peterson intercepted Lewellen's lateral pass to Herber and raced to the Packers 16 yard line before Michalske and Lewellen dragged him down. Joesting failed to gain on two tries, and Pape lost 15 yards on an attempted end run. Pharmer's pass was knocked down by Radick and Lewellen punted back to the Jackets' 15 yard line.

GIANTS WIN, 25 TO 0.

New York, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—The New York Giants remained in the running for the National Professional Football league pennant today by trouncing the Providence Steamrollers, 25 to 0, at the Polo grounds.

With Bennie Friedman, former Michigan star, on the sending end, the Giants scored all four of their touchdowns by passes.

Coming back strong after two touchdowns had been scored against them, the Cardinals won their second game in two days by trimming the Portsmouth, O., Spartans yesterday at Comiskey park, 23 to 13.

The Cardinals counteracted the tremendous power in the Portsmouth running attack with passes launched by Ernie Nevers, and employed double and triple pass plays off the Warner system wingback formation to crash between guard and tackle or tackle end for steady marches.

Portsmouth took the opening kick off on its 20 yard stripe and crashed down the field for a touchdown in seven plays. Mayes McLain, former Haskell Indian and Iowa star, hit right tackle for 30 yards on a spinner play, and two more attempts by that 235 pound thunderbolt and a dash by Father Lumpkin, formerly of Georgia Tech, put the ball on the Cardinal 35 yard line.

McLain Goes Over Goal.

Tiney Lewis hit center for 10. McLain picked up 3 more and then, on a double pass play, he circled his own right end, bowled over two tacklers by sheer weight and romped over the goal line. Lewis place kicked for the extra point.

The Cardinals almost duplicated that feat on the next kickoff. Nevers passed to Rooney for two big gains and cracked the line time after time until the Spartan 12 yard line was reached. Portsmouth then halted three line bucks. On fourth down Nevers' pass was good, but it failed to make the necessary yardage, and Portsmouth took possession of the ball.

The Spartans put on another 80 yard march for their other score early in the second quarter. Lumpkin hit the line for a total of 20 yards on three attempts, and Lewis circled left end for 17 more, to put the oval on the Cardinal 43 yard line. Lumpkin tossed a pass to Kahl for 15 yards and a 15 yard penalty for Bullet Baker's roughness gave the Spartans the ball 15 yards from the goal. Lumpkin hit right tackle for 7 and Lewis smashed the opposite side of the line for the touchdown, but missed the place kick.

Cards Profit by Break.

A short kickoff gave the Cards possession of the ball on their 40 yard line, and they quickly took advantage of that break when Boyd slipped through left tackle and twisted his way to the Portsmouth 30 yard line. Nevers and Rooney made it first down on the Spartan 17 yard line, and Ernie cooperated with Boyd to put the ball on the 3 yard mark, Nevers crossing the goal on his third attempt. His place kicked the goal to make the count 13 to 7 with only a few minutes remaining in the second period.

A few moments later Nevers shot a long pass to Rooney, and the ball was on the Spartan 39 yard line. Nevers, Rose, and Rooney picked up 10 more, but Portsmouth held for 3 downs on its 29 yard line. So Nevers dropped back and sailed a pass to Rooney for another touchdown. Nevers missed the place kick, so the score was tied 13 to 13.

Third Period Scoreless.

Neither team threatened in the third quarter, but early in the final period the Cards went into the lead. Flenneken snapped a pass to Rooney which put the oval on the Spartan 43 yard line, and Nagle and Belden alternated to reach the 17 yard stripe. The Chicoans held three line bucks for no gain, so Nevers peeled off his sweater and trotted in to toot a place kick from the 20 yard line, giving the Cards a 16 to 13 advantage.

With five minutes to play Rooney intercepted Novotny's pass on the Portsmouth 35 yard line. Belden and Nevers worked the double pass play to hit between left tackle and guard for 15 yards in four attempts, and a Portsmouth penalty for offside gave the Cards the ball 15 yards from the goal.

Duke Slater opened a hole through which Nevers gained 10 yards, and the former Stanford star scored two plays later, also place kicking the goal for the extra point.

FEW GOOD RACE HORSES ESCAPE BAD LUCK WAVE

Injuries, Lameness Stop Stars of Turf.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Old time racegoers who are at Hawthorne awaiting the close of the Chicago racing season on Friday afternoon cannot remember a year when there have been more training and racing casualties.

Except for gallant old Sun Beau and spectacular Gallant Fox nearly every good horse above the 2 year old division has gone amiss at some time or another this year. Included in the list were such noted stars as:

Blue Larkspur's Career Ended.

Diavolo—Cup champion of 1929 and one of the greatest long distance racers to be developed in America in many seasons.

Blue Larkspur—Champion 3 year old of 1929 which went amiss so badly his racing career was ended after he won the Arlington Cup in July.

Victorian—Most formidable rival of Reigh Count in the 3 year old racing of 1928 and winner of Agua Caliente handicap worth $100,000 last March. Lost all form and became a cripple when he attempted to resume racing in mirsummer.

Misstep—Western stake champion which developed a lameness early in season that kept him out of all his richest engagements.

Boojum—Harry Payne Whitney's 2 year old, considered almost as good as Whichone. He went lame before he got to the post this season.

Toro Breaks Down.

Toro—Famous star in the E. B. McLean stable which broke down in a race at Arlington Park after showing signs of lameness throughout the early part of the season.

Mike Hall—Long distance star owned by R. M. Eastman of Chicago which invaded England late in 1929. Developed lameness early in his training this year and was retired.

Gallant Knight—Second to Gallant Fox in Kentucky Derby and in the Classic at Arlington. Became lame when he was getting ready to meet Gallant Fox in Lawrence Realization stakes and was retired for the year.

Rush Horses for Big Stakes.

The old timers at Hawthorne advance three theories. One is that our young thoroughbreds are raced too early, too often, and too long while they are two year olds.

Another theory is that our thoroughbreds are rushed along too fast in their early 3 year old training in order to be ready for rich early season stakes.

The third reason for so many casualties is that our race track proprietors, eager to produce record breaking speed marks, prepare hard, pasteboard like tracks, over which our best horses run very fast but become cripples after pounding over it day after day in their training and racing.

Blackhawks to Entrain for North Tonight

ficient to cause the team to make arrangements to use the club as the future training quarters.

As a result of the week of intensive conditioning labor, Taffy Abel, the giant of the National league, has reduced 16 pounds to a mere 230, while Tommy Cook and Mush March, the midgets of the team, have added several pounds to their winter weights of 130 pounds each.

Joe Farrell on the Job.

Among the daily attendants at the drills in the Midwest gym and pool have been Joe Farrell, the old gray eagle of public relations, who is more optimistic than ever about the project of making Chicago hockey conscious.

Last year Chicago set a world record for attendance at an indoor hockey match with 17,200 paid. It now is Mr. Farrell's contention that with the skaters in such swell condition as a result of their swimming lesson and volley ball games, 17,000 paid should become the average attendance at Chicago National league contests, instead of a record.

The party which will leave tonight for Canada will include Chuck Gardner, Cyclone Wentworth, Ty Arbour, Teddy Graham, Vic Ripley, Helge Bolstrum, Art Somers, Tommy Cook, Frank Ingram, Lola Couture, Mush March, Stew Adams, Vic Desjardien, Doc Romnes, Roger Jenkins and Alex Woods.

Border Troubles Solved.

These men will be joined at London by the three Blackhawk regulars who for a time were held at the border, but now have been granted permission to play in the United States this winter. These men are Johnny Gottselig, high scorer for the Blackhawks last season, Duke Dutkowski and Earl Miller.

Trainer, Injured at Track by Runaway Horse, Dies

Elimination of Albie Booth Just a Mishap

Albie has made on a couple of occasions, but Loeser undoubtedly takes much more punishment than Albie and he seems to be at the bottom of some pile on every play. The running back always monopolizes public attention and the best way to obscure an athlete from the glare of pitiless publicity is to stick him up in the line, preferably at center or guard.

I am finding it hard to sort out Yale's emotions on the subject of overemphasis in football because the one sure way to relieve the emphasis entirely would be to hold the games on Monday mornings on some open lot, which I am sure Yale would not be willing to do. In that case, the attendance would be reduced to that informality which characterizes English college sports as described by Dr. Howard Savage of the Carnegie foundation, who tells of undergraduates strolling up to look on for a while and strolling away again.

No Organized Cheering.

There is no organized cheering at these games, Dr. Savage states, but now and again, in an exciting moment, some emotional student may become hysterical and exclaim, "Now then; come along."

The thing will have to run its course, having gotten out of control a long time ago. Football, even at Yale, is an industry now and most of those schools which have famous teams and large arenas are engaging in the amusement business, unable to quit because football plants represent a great expense and the profits are necessary for the support of other sports.

Harvard, however, is accumulating a fund which, in the course of years, will grow large enough to support the general athletic program at the university. When that time comes, possibly Harvard will retire from that phase of football which is a part of the show business. But Harvard has been the least collegiate school in the familiar sense of the term, for several years, being the first to dispense with pep meetings owing to the nonattendance of the undergraduates.

Knox Alumnus Wonders.

An alumnus of Knox college at Galeburg, Ill., which I take to be a typical small mid-western institution, sitting at the Yale-Army game Saturday, with the rain drooling down his neck and feeling most uncomfortable, said he suddenly began to wonder why he had come.

When he was in college, the students and a few casual customers from the town sat in a small wooden stand close to the field and could identify acquaintances among the athletes and hear what they said. At Yale he was among strangers, nobody knew anybody. The players were distant figures without faces and aside from some occasional shouts and songs, Yale university seemed only remotely implicated in the spectacle.

It is all very puzzling, but I should say that all attempts thus far to deemphasize football suggest a man trying to beat a bass drum in strict secrecy at 42d street and Broadway.

Kansas Won't Bar Bausch from Sports

Lawrence, Kas., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Evidence resulting in the virtual ostracism of the University of Kansas from Big Six conference athletics on charges of alleged recruiting and subsidization of athletes was presented the school athletic board today, which then announced it was making its own private investigation.

In a formal statement, the athletic board said that George C. Shaad, Kansas member of the Big Six faculty advisory group, had reported evidence leading to the conference order was inadequate. Following the ... Dean Shaad said that James ... star K. U. football player ... the complaint, would not be ... from competition.

The only intimation of the ... future action of Kansas university ... contained in one brief sentence, ... read: "The University of Kansas ... letic board has taken measures to ... cure information for its own ... ance."

Conference action against Kan... was taken early Saturday morning ... a meeting in Columbia, Mo. It ... announced that Big Six ... would not be allowed to schedule ... tional athletic contests with the ... hawkers.

W. A. Tarr, Big Six faculty ... from Missouri, preferred the ... citing the case of Bausch, a ... man in three sports, and Phil ... freshman from Kansas City, as ... dence of the alleged violation of ... ference rules.

Ripley CREATOR OF BELIEVE IT or NOT—PROVES IT

ACTION SHOT OF OLD GOLD'S LATEST TRIUMPH. The Midnight Golf Course back of the Roxy Theatre in New York, with Ripley at the scoreboard.

OLD GOLD WINS..
with Broadway's Midnight Golfers

By ROBERT RIPLEY, Creator of Believe It or Not

"In the past 3 years, I have served 'Believe It or Not' facts to more than 200 million people.

"And I've never printed a fact that I could not prove. If there was the slightest doubt about any of them . . . it went in the waste basket.

"When I accepted OLD GOLD'S challenge to make a series of cigarette taste-tests, they agreed in advance to publish results . . . win, lose or draw.

"Here are the results of my latest test. 237 Midnight Golfers on the course back of the Roxy Theatre in New York tested the 4 leading brands of cigarettes . . . OLD GOLD included . . . with brand names concealed. Each smoker picked the cigarette he or she liked best. Then . . . and not until then . . . off came the masks that concealed brand names.

"And OLD GOLD won hands down . . . fair and square as a die. As everybody knows, I prove my facts. So look below and you'll see an actual photograph of the scoreboard. Believe it or not, that was the final score . . . OLD GOLD 76% ahead of its nearest rival!"

"RIP" AND SCORER. Those broad grins prove it! OLD GOLDS are leading!

BRUDER RETURNS TO WILDCAT GRID PRACTICE TODAY

Hanley Hopes to Use Star Against Gophers.

Northwestern's Wildcat football team will become a bit wilder today when Hank Bruder, the absentee captain, rejoins his mates after two weeks confinement in the Chicago Isolation hospital, where he has been quarantined for smallpox. He is to be released at 9 o'clock this morning.

During the last week Bruder has been taking daily workouts in the hospital grounds and is reported to be none the worse for his enforced confinement. He will report for practice today, and by the end of the week is expected to be ready to take over his position at left half. Coach Dick Hanley hopes to have his ace in the starting lineup against Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday.

The victory over Centre revealed that the Wildcats finally have their running attack working. The return of Reb Russell probably had a lot to do with this phase of attack.

Several of the players suffered bumps and bruises in Saturday's contest. Larry Oliphant wrenched a shoulder which will keep him laid up for several days, while Dick Fencl fractured a small bone in his hand. Both men play the same end position.

ILLINI TO SHIFT BACKS.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 26.—[Special.] Although the Illini were in good physical condition when they returned from Ann Arbor today, Coach Zuppke announced that the players who were used during most of the game will be given a layoff tomorrow.

Since Purdues' passing attack is expected to be formidable, Zuppke will strive to correct the flaws in the defense that permitted both Northwestern and Michigan to score by the air.

One remedy that probably will be tried is a reconstruction of the back field which will introduce Don Munch at quarter back. Munch appeared as a flash during a part of the Michigan game. Casion Bennett, sophomore end from Marshall, who started the Michigan game, showed sufficient promise to make a strong bid for a regular position.

BADGERS REST TODAY.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Restored from the strenuous encounter with Purdue, though with no serious injuries, Wisconsin's varsity football team will be given a day off tomorrow before preparing for Ohio State. Coach Glen Thistlethwaite said today that he will hold a scrimmage between the players who did not get into Saturday's game and the Badger "B" team, which won its third straight victory of the season by defeating the Notre Dame reserves, 26 to 19.

Thistlethwaite had only words of praise for Russ Rebholz, whose failure to kick goal after the Badgers had marched the length of the field for a touchdown, gave Purdue its one point margin. The Portage junior is leading the Big Ten in extra points, and since the start of the game had tallied 13 successful placements. His try after the touchdown was wide by inches.

IRISH NEXT FOR INDIANA.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Returning today from Dallas, Tex., where it played South Methodist university, the Indiana team will start a series of light drills tomorrow. The Hoosiers will play Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend.

For the remainder of the week Coach Pat Page will attempt to place his squad in the best possible condition. Games with Oklahoma, Minnesota and Southern Methodist have tired the players.

MICHIGAN EARNS VACATION.

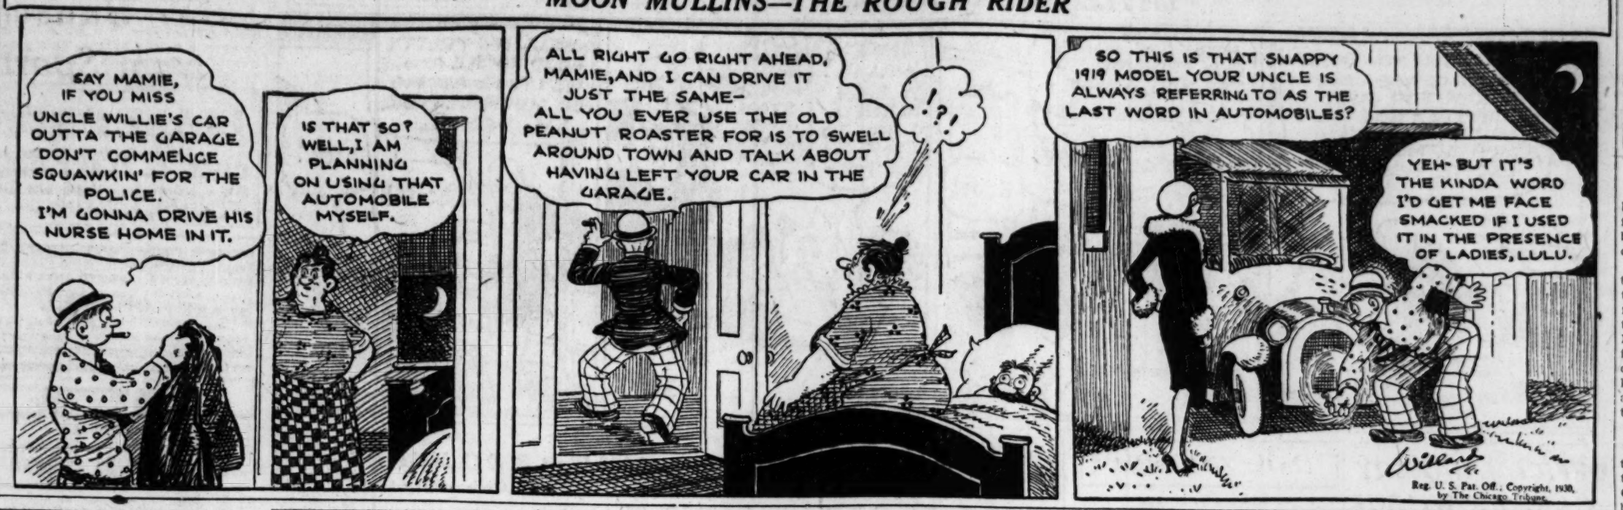
Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Michigan's weary football team will be given a vacation tomorrow and Sunday, after having played six of its nine games on its 1930 card. Coach Harry Kipke informed the group after Saturday's victory over Illinois that Sunday would be a rest day, that drill practice would be taken up Tuesday, and that work for the Harvard game on Nov. 8 would start in earnest Wednesday.

ROCKNE RESPECTS HOOSIERS.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—After winning their fourth consecutive game of the year yesterday from Pittsburgh, and putting their ten straight victory on the books, Notre Dame's football players today turned their thoughts to Pat Page's Indiana eleven, which plays here Saturday.

Although there is nothing in particular to fear from the downstaters on the basis of their record to date, Coach Rockne will take this game in his stride and prepare his defense just as thoroughly for this game as for any other.

MOON MULLINS—THE ROUGH RIDER



SAY MAMIE, IF YOU MISS UNCLE WILLIE'S CAR OUTTA THE GARAGE DON'T COMMENCE SQUAWKIN' FOR THE POLICE. I'M GONNA DRIVE HIS NURSE HOME IN IT.
IS THAT SO? WELL, I AM PLANNING ON USING THAT AUTOMOBILE MYSELF.
ALL RIGHT GO RIGHT AHEAD, MAMIE, AND I CAN DRIVE IT JUST THE SAME— ALL YOU EVER USE THE OLD PEANUT ROASTER FOR IS TO SWELL AROUND TOWN AND TALK ABOUT HAVING LEFT YOUR CAR IN THE GARAGE.
SO THIS IS THAT SNAPPY 1919 MODEL YOUR UNCLE IS ALWAYS REFERRING TO AS THE LAST WORD IN AUTOMOBILES?
YEH- BUT IT'S THE KINDA WORD I'D GET ME FACE SMACKED IF I USED IT IN THE PRESENCE OF LADIES, LULU.

Big Crowds, Upsets Mark Football Week

but the Illini waged just such a battle as had been predicted. Trailing 9 to 0 at the half, Illinois scored, and until the fourth quarter the rivals waged a fairly even game only to have Harry Newman, the Wolverines' sophomore quarter back, toss another touchdown pass to assure the triumph.

Newman played up to the standard he promised in the Purdue and Ohio State games. He is the directing genius in Michigan's intelligent offense, which stresses passing and a rugged line of defense. Michigan also possesses a superb secondary defense against forward passes. This defense halted Illinois' second period drive and now seems almost certain of winning the remaining conference games against Minnesota and Chicago.

Booth Injured on First Play.

Yale and Army provided the best game on the eastern seaboard, although Fordham's victory, 7 to 0, over New York university was of equal interest to the metropolis. However, Albie Booth, who rose to stardom last year in the Bulldogs' victory over the cadets, was injured on the first play of Saturday's game. Perhaps Yale might have won otherwise, but it did succeed in tying an unbeaten Army team.

Dartmouth's 7 to 2 win from Harvard was marred by weather conditions, which did not permit either to attack in customary style. Supremacy in kicking despite the drizzing rain gave Dartmouth an opening which it capitalized. A blocked punt later was recovered by Dartmouth for Harvard's two points.

Furman, Alabama Win.

Furman and Alabama led in the south's assault for recognition. Furman, rated the under dog, nosed out the Florida 'Gators, 14 to 13, while Alabama defeated Vanderbilt, conqueror of Minnesota, 12 to 7. Thus Alabama moves on toward a southern championship. Tennessee won from North Carolina, 9 to 7, in another top notch game, although each had suffered defeat previously.

Missouri's recovery from its string of defeats to win its first game of the year from Drake, 14 to 13, may revive the spirits of the western Tigers. Kansas university, now involved in eligibility disputes with the Big Six, defeated Iowa State, 20 to 6, without Jim Bausch, its star and the center of the protests.

Washington recovered from its one touchdown beating by Oregon last week to trounce California for the first time in three years. The score was 13 to 0. Although trailing, 7 to 0, the Bears threatened continually until Wentworth, the Huskies' center, intercepted a California pass in the last two minutes of play and ran 70 yards for the conclusive touchdown.

Washington State, undefeated, ran up an imposing count of 61 to 0 against Montana in the game at Pullman and has only one remaining game, that with Washington, worthy of its strength.

Duck Hunters Are Troubled by Shot Size

BY BOB BECKER.

With more than 6,000,000 American hunters now in the market for shotgun shells of various gauges the old question of shot size comes up for a four months' endless argument. Just as we have "schools of gauges," with each school standing fast on the efficiency of either the 12, 16 or 20 gauge shotgun for various types of hunting, so we have the hunting fraternity divided and ready to do battle on the question of which size shot for this or that bird.

One hunter will not think of going into a duck blind without plenty of extra heavy shells loaded for long ranges, and, mindful of these in his hunting coat pocket, he will let go at anything in sight. As a rule these shells will be loaded with large size shot. The next chap you talk to will insist on number six shot instead of fours and argue that he gets just as much game. So it goes.

After burning up thousands of rounds of ammunition in South America and many more thousands in North America on just about every variety of game bird that flies, from Alaskan ptarmigan to wild turkey and urubu in Brazil, we confess to a large number of shot preferences in the course of a year, depending a great deal on the type of shooting and conditions.

But running through all these changes in shells [which makes our storage closet look like a sporting goods store maintaining a large stock of shells] is the basic idea that we want a load with a heavy, full killing range, yet one that keeps us from wounding birds at a range where we ought to keep our finger off the trigger.

For example, in ordinary decoy shooting along the Illinois, where the mallards [if handled correctly] offer few long distance, barrel stretching shots, we see no need for number four or five shot with extra amounts of powder. So we use sixes or sevens, with a preference toward the latter in average loads. As a matter of fact, all last year we shot 3 dram loads and as far as we could judge the birds dropped just as neatly or were missed as cleanly as in previous years when we shot large gobs of heavy "headache" powder.

LOYOLA DEFEATS ST. MEL, 20 TO 0, FOR 4TH STRAIGHT

Loyola academy won its fourth straight Catholic league victory and maintained its lead in the north section of the circuit yesterday by defeating St. Mel, 20 to 0. The teams were in a scoreless tie at half time, but Ray Durkin scored early in the third period on an off tackle smash.

Harry Hoefer contributed a 60 yard run for touchdown a short time later. Durkin made the last touchdown on a plunge in the fourth quarter.

DE LA SALLE TIES MOUNT CARMEL IN PREP GAME, 12-12

De La Salle and Mount Carmel battled to a 12-12 tie in a charity football game for the Sisters of Mercy building fund at Soldiers' field yesterday. More than 25,000 saw the game.

The game was featured by one of the longest runs for a touchdown in the history of Chicago high school football. Receiving the kickoff at the start of the second half, Jack Malloy, Mount Carmel full back, fumbled the ball and ran back of his own goal to elude De La Salle's tacklers. He succeeded, and ran 100 yards along the sidelines for his second touchdown of the day.

Also Scores on Plunge.

Malloy had counted previously in the second period, plunging from the two yard line, whence he, Joe Flynn, O'Brien, and Capt. Henderson had brought the ball. Both of Henderson's attempts for the extra point failed.

Hoffman, De La Salle end, gave his team its first scoring opportunity when he intercepted a Mount Carmel pass in the second quarter. On the next play Bill Hayes circled end for 50 yards before Gonya hauled him down on the Mount Carmel 28 yard line. Capt. George Furlong and Sullivan advanced the ball to the 15 yard line, whence Furlong slipped through tackle for the touchdown. His kick failed.

Hayes Ties Count.

Malloy's long run for touchdown gave Mount Carmel a lead which it held until the final period, when Furlong, Hayes, and Hoffman brought the ball to within inches of the goal. Hayes plunged over for the score, but Furlong's kick fell short.

FINLAND SPLIT AS ARMY SEEKS WAR WITH RUSSIA

Failure of Kidnap Plot Averts Conflict.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 26.—Prime Minister Jehr Evind Svinhufvud of Finland deserves credit for averting a new European war. The energetic action of the Finnish police in arresting the chief of Finland's general staff, Maj. Gen. Wallenius, on the eve of a provocation aimed to provoke war with Russia left Finland divided into two camps.

The younger generation is willing to risk a war with the bolsheviks, and the older people, while opposing war, would welcome a conflict provided Finland would have a chance of annexing the Kola peninsula and Karelina, which would give Finland one-third more territory and an additional population of 1,000,000 Finns, who are today living in soviet Russia.

Missed War by Inches.

Had the plot to kidnap former President Kaarlo Juho Stahlberg been successful and had the small clique of army officers obtained control of the Finnish government war with Russia would be under way today and Europe would again be facing another battle royal, which would have included four other countries—Esthonia, Latvia, Poland, and Rumania—which are preparing for what they believe the inevitable conflict.

Events in Finland in the past fortnight, which have included the arrest of Finland's most prominent military leader and the collapse of the plot to provoke war, give a clear picture of the situation in northeastern Europe, which it is believed, will replace the Balkan states as a producer of wars.

With the assurance that four nations would have joined in a war against Russia with their small, highly trained patriotic armies, the leaders favoring war believe bolshevism would have collapsed and the disintegration of Russia would have been an accomplished fact, with Ukraine, Caucasus, and Siberia deserting Moscow, leaving a small Slavic state comprising northern Russia with the capital at Moscow begging favors from the rest of Europe.

Ready to Pounce on Reds.

Finland and the other states bordering Russia firmly believe in the approaching dissolution of the present communist "empire" and are ready to take immediate advantage of any event which would lead to war and the immediate accomplishment of these ambitions.

Russia today is incapable of defending itself, military observers believe, and events in Finland during the last week show that a war to end war is only considered by Europe as a prelude to another conflict, which will change the present boundaries of Europe more extensively than the last conflict. All of northern Europe, including all countries north of Berlin, it is admitted, are talking about the approaching war and what they can obtain fromit.

OFFICIAL INQUIRY CLEARS WILBUR OF OIL CHARGES

Mitchell Reports on Kelley's Story.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Attorney General William D. Mitchell today branded as false and without merit the recent charges of corruption and wrongdoing directed against the interior department in connection with its administration of vast oil shale reserves in three western states. The Mitchell findings climaxed a three weeks' investigation of accusations made against the department by Ralph S. Kelley, chief of the general land office in Denver.

In a letter of resignation submitted to Secretary Wilbur on Sept. 29 and in subsequent newspaper articles Kelley delivered a series of sensational charges against Secretary of the Interior Wilbur and department employés, as well as former department heads. The burden of his allegations was that oil shale lands valued potentially at 40 billions of dollars were being permitted to slip through the fingers of the government employés into the hands of powerful oil interests.

In a letter to Secretary Wilbur dated Oct. 24, in which he gives his fellow cabinet member a clean bill of health and flatly denies the truth of Kelley's allegation that large amounts of government oil lands have been dissipated. Attorney General Mitchell disposes of the Kelley charges in three cryptic sentences.

"The assistant attorney general has made a thorough and painstaking inquiry," Mr. Mitchell states in referring to the investigation made by Seth Richardson, his assistant. "His conclusions are that there is no merit of substance in Kelley's charges against the interior department. With his conclusions I fully agree."

FOREIGN LABOR BUILDING 16 NEW VESSELS FOR U.S.

New York, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Sixteen vessels which will be used to carry oil are under construction for American companies in foreign yards because standards of living abroad permit workmen to accept lower wages and prevent American shipyards from competing for the contracts, according to a statement issued today by the national council of American shipbuilders.

These vessels would be built in the United States for about $24,5000,000 and would provide work for 15,400 men for at least a year, the council pointed out.

Protection of the shipbuilding industry by the government is suggested on the means of holding American ship contracts in American yards, thus providing relief for unemployment and utilizing the shipbuilding facilities of the nation, only one-third of which are now used, according to the survey.

GOVERNOR TALKS AT CELEBRATION OF LITHUANIANS

Education and good government should go hand in hand, Gov. Emmerson said yesterday in an address at a patriotic gathering of Chicagoans of Lithuanian descent at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium. World leadership has been achieved by the United States because it has opened the doors of learning to all, the governor declared.

"General education of the working classes has brought happiness and prosperity to our people," Gov. Emmerson said. "It has fostered patriotism and instilled the love of good government in the minds of our boys and girls and our men and women.

"Government is the biggest business in the state, but it is only intensive coöperation among individuals. You have made it so big that it demands a fair share of your attention. You wouldn't intrust your money in a business venture and forget it. Yet the man who fails to interest himself in government is doing far worse. If you want good government don't leave it to the other fellow to furnish."

HELEN MITCHELL, DOCTOR'S WIDOW, IS DEAD AT 96

Mrs. Helen Leeds Mitchell, 96 years old, widow of Dr. Joseph Sidney Mitchell, and mother of Leeds Mitchell, 2430 Lake View avenue, broker, died Saturday at her home in Nantucket, Mass., friends here learned last night.

Mrs. Mitchell was born in Philadelphia and was a graduate of the Ogontz school there. She came to Chicago with her husband in 1866. Dr. Mitchell was president of the Chicago Homeopathic Medical college for 30 years, and chairman of the World Congress of Physicians and Surgeons during the fair in 1893.

Mrs. Mitchell was a member of the women's board of managers of the Presbyterian hospital from 1895 to 1911. She will be buried Wednesday at Nantucket, where she made her home the last few years. Surviving her besides Leeds Mitchel are another son and daughter, Sidney Mitchell of New York and Mrs. James Todd of Oak Park.

DAUGHTER BORN TO THE WIFE OF F. S. HARDINGE

A daughter was born yesterday in the Ravenswood hospital to Mrs. Franklin S. Hardinge, wife of the wealthy oil burner manufacturer, who a year and a half ago was sued for $250,000 for breach of promise to marry by Miss Anne Livingston, divorcee of Tulsa, Okla.

Mr. Hardinge, who is 62 years old, settled the breach of promise case for $20,000 after a jury had awarded Miss Livingston $25,000 damages. His wife affirmed her faith in her husband throughout the trial.

Mrs. Hardinge had been divorced. After her marriage to Hardinge, she conducted a fight for custody of her two sons, Troy Weems Jr., 9 years old, and Norman Weems, 7 years old, finally being awarded their custody nine months out of the year.

Simmons Co.

Please give your opinion and all the information you can on Simmons company. I am very much interested in it. Your coöperation will be appreciated.—E. G.

Simmons company, manufacturer of bedsteads, steel furniture, mattresses, springs and related products, was incorporated in 1915 to carry on a business started in 1884. Recently this company has adopted a more aggressive policy and through acquisition of a number of concerns has entered the general furniture field. Berkey & Gay Furniture company, manufacturer of high priced house furniture, was acquired in 1929 along with several other concerns. Simmons company did not have an opportunity to demonstrate the effect of this expansion on its earnings before the collapse of the stock market last autumn. Since that time, due to general business depression, the market for furniture, especially in the higher priced division, has slackened considerably.

The current earnings are hardly comparable with those of past years due to inclusion of the results of newly acquired subsidiaries. Earnings are reported only twice a year. For the six months ended June 30, 1930, consolidated net profit was $166,631, equal to 15 cents per share on the 1,133,236 no par shares outstanding. This was after inventories had been written down to market in all classes where the market was lower than cost. This write down of the cotton inventory alone amounted to almost $400,000, or about 35 cents per share.

In the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1930, sales of the parent company alone were $25,611,036, against $31,158,266 in the corresponding period of 1929. Sales of subsidiaries not owned during that time last year totaled $8,755,495 for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1930.

In 1929 Simmons company net income was $4,695,572, or $4.15 per share. As of Dec. 31, 1929, current assets were $34,182,370 and current liabilities were $9,366,138, leaving a net working capital of $24,816,232. Surplus was $9,758,611.

In August, 1930, the common dividend was omitted, although the company's cash position was strong. Directors voted to conserve the company's resources in view of the uncertain duration of the general business recession.

The stock is speculative at present.

State of Louisiana.

I have a $1,000 state of Louisiana 7.3 per cent bond, dated May 29, 1873, and due Feb. 17, 1893, with all coupons attached. I would appreciate it if you will advise me whether or not this bond has any value and, if so, where it can be cashed.—Mrs. F. W. H.

State Treasurer H. B. Conner of Louisiana informs us as follows: "Replying to your inquiry, please be advised that the bond referred to in your letter is absolutely worthless."

Godchaux Sugars Covers Preferred, 'A' Dividends

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Dividend requirements for the entire fiscal year on the preferred and Class A stock of Godchaux Sugars, Inc., have been earned in the first eight months of this year, officials state. Net earnings up to the end of September applicable to dividends and reserves totaled $436,545, and prospects for continued high earnings for the rest of the year are indicated by orders in hand.

Orders Sixteen 1,000 Watt Revolving Airway Beacons

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A contract for sixteen 1,000 watt revolving beacons, classed as one of the largest private airway beacon orders ever placed, has been awarded the Crouse-Hind company of Syracuse, N. Y., by the Southern Air Transport line of Dallas, Tex. Its installation is to be made on the private airway of the southern line between San Antonio and Big Springs, Tex., a distance of 250 miles.

WHEAT VALUES GROPE IN A FOG OF UNCERTAINTY

Keep Within 3¼ to 4 Cent Price Range.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A more confusing wheat situation than the trade has encountered for a long time makes it difficult for operators to accomplish much in swaying values in either direction. This is indicated by the range of 3¼@4c for last week, with a finish only ¼@ 1½c higher than a week ago. Between the old style and the new style deliveries, conflicting reports from Russia, and uncertainty as to the Argentine crop, the trade is making no particular headway.

For several weeks all reports from Argentina have been most favorable. Saturday, however, a late cable announcing that black rust had been found in the province of Cordoba, brought a new and unexpected factor. It turned a slow, weak market into an advancing one for a time. Should black rust spread throughout Argentina and cause serious damage as it did last year, it might change the entire complexion of the world's wheat situation, and bring foreign buyers who have recently announced their determination to await Argentine and Australian crop outcome before taking North America supplies.

Estimates prior to the discovery of black rust gave Argentina production 251,000,000 bu, with 165,000,000 bu exportable surplus for 1930 to 1931. Australia is expected to have 200,000,000 bu, which would make 451,000,000 bu for the two countries, and leave a large exportable surplus.

Reports from Russia.

Latest reports from Russia are conflicting but cables on Friday said Russian wheat was offered presumably in Liverpool at 71⅝c, but made no mention of quality. The latter, however, is an important factor, and possibly accounts for the low price. At the same time Argentine offered new wheat for January shipment at 74⅜c. When the freight is considered, producers in these countries will get very little for their grain.

In Canada there are prospects of an improvement in conditions where threshing has been delayed by unfavorable weather, due to a change for the better, but there is 65,000,000 to 70,000,000 bu said to be in northern Saskatchewan and Alberta on which the grade has been lowered, and will make a large supply of poor wheat, the milling value of which, however, will depend upon its protein content.

Movement of wheat to primary markets is the lightest at this time in ten years, and possibly for a longer period.

Conditions in the cash wheat market all this season have been entirely different from those of 1929. A premium has been paid all this season. At present it is 1@7½c, compared with discounts of 1@3c a year ago on contract grades, based mainly on the December. Within the last few days, however, soft red premiums have eased 1@1½c, while hard winters advanced ½@1c, as compared with December.

Winter Wheat Prospects.

Winter wheat prospects, especially in the southwest, have been improved by more favorable moisture situation. Open interest in wheat has increased to 130,453,000 bu, the largest of the season, against 174,822,000 bu a week ago. Sales for the week of 201,333,000 bu, compared with 167,283,000 bu the previous week, and 478,951,000 bu last year.

Prices are down to a level where all bearish conditions are believed to be discounted, so that unexpected developments which are always an important factor, are considered to be in favor of the holder.

December wheat closed Saturday at 78⅝@79c, March 82⅝@82¾c, May 83⅜@84⅛c, July 84⅞c. Prices for the week follow:

	December.	March.	May.
Mon..	77⅞-79¼	81⅝-83⅝	83-⅞-85¼

Corn traders say that outside buying is too small to enable local bulls to hold bulges, and they take advantage of upturns to secure profits, and replace their holdings on sharp breaks. There is a bullish sentiment based on disappointing husking returns, and trade estimates as to the final production range from 1,950,000,000 to 2,000,000,000 bu. Expectations are that the government will reduce its latest figures of 2,047,000,000 bu, given out

Pay Rolls and Employment Show Decline

BY O. A. MATHER.

"With few exceptions, reporting lines of industry in the seventh reserve district registered further declines in employment and pay rolls during September," says the monthly review of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank.

Fourteen groups showed a decline of 1.6 per cent in number of wage earners between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15 and a decline of 1.3 per cent in total earnings. But savings bank deposits on Oct. 1 were three-tenths of 1 per cent higher than on Aug. 30 and were only 1.1 per cent below Oct. 1, 1929.

Coal Mining Improves.

"Coal mining, influenced by the usual fall demand, was the only group showing expansion in both number of workers and their earnings. A seasonal increase took place in textile employment but wages totaled below the preceding month. Merchandising gained slightly in numbers but fell off in pay rolls.

"Increased payrolls, with a reduction in wage earners, were reported in the food products, stone, clay and glass, and chemical groups. Most significant declines were in paper and printing, lumber, vehicles, leather products, and construction.

"In the total for manufacturing, September represented the seventh consecutive recession in both number of employés and wages. In the total of all groups no increase has been recorded since September, 1929, in wage earners and none since April, 1930, in their earnings. The department of labor reports some reduction in the farm labor surplus on Oct. 1, compared with a month previous for the country as a whole and for the north central section."

The last few weeks have given some encouragement in business developments, according to the monthly review of the Guaranty Trust company, New York. While definite recovery is not yet evident, the pronounced recession of last spring and summer has given way to irregularity, with positive improvement in some lines.

Says Pessimism Excessive.

"The recession in security values has reacted on business sentiment, creating in some quarters a degree of pessimism by no means warranted by its intrinsic importance," the review continues. "Commodity prices also have failed to maintain the firmer tendency that was noted a month ago. But recent movements have covered a comparatively narrow range, suggesting that readjustment, if not actually completed, is at any rate far along on its course.

"Among the most encouraging business reports that have appeared this month are the improvement in sales of new life insurance, the increase in raw cotton consumption, the rising level of residential construction contracts, the advance in foreign trade and the large amount of current dividend payments as compared with the total a year ago, notwithstanding the numerous reductions and omissions of dividends recently reported."

Business is doing somewhat better than during the slow summer months, "which will probably pass down in history as the bottom of the 1930 depression," says the review of the Bank of American National association. "The improvement, however," the review adds, "is disappointingly slow and the outlook indicates a long drawn out recovery.

REPORTS ON SEPT. RECESSION IN U. S. FOREIGN TRADE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Foreign trade recession in September, as presented in figures of the commerce department, showed that American exports of manufactures and partly manufactured goods declined more rapidly than did exports of raw materials.

About 55 per cent of exports included manufactured products, as compared with 58 per cent in September, 1929. Exports of raw materials made up about 30 per cent of the total, as compared with 26 per cent last year.

Exports and imports for September as compared with those of the same month last year, by commodity groups, follow:

Exports—Manufactured goods, $130,782,000, against $190,945,000; partly manufactured goods, $37,165,000, against $57,690,000; foods ready for consumption, $27,815,000, against $40,963,000; raw foods, $12,183,000, against $29,943,000; raw materials for use in manufacturing, $93,669,000, against $112,260,000.

Imports—Manufactured goods, $61,767,000, against $85,606,000; partly manufactured goods, $40,970,000, against $70,609,000; foods ready for consumption, $20,588,000, against $32,328,000; raw foods, $27,582,000, against $40,701,000; raw materials for use in manufacturing, $75,405,000, against $122,062,000.

FIRE INSURANCE LEADERS MEET FOR CONVENTION

Men who hold $7,206,000,000 worth of fire insurance on property throughout the United States will meet in Chicago today. These men are officers of 75 of the leading mutual fire insurance companies, controlling resources of $92,500,000. The occasion for the meeting here is the annual convention of the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance companies.

James S. Kemper of Chicago, president of the federation, is a member of the executive committee of the Hoover national business survey conference.

URGES CHANGE IN POLICY OF FARM BOARD

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Duluth Board of Trade announced tonight that it had adopted and sent to President Hoover a resolution urging a change in policies of the federal farm board insofar as it is in competition with private business.

The resolution said the farm board is operating in a manner directly opposed to principles which President Hoover enunciated in his Cleveland address, Oct. 2.

In pointing out the President's statements, the Duluth board resolution declares, "the federal farm board is functioning in a manner diametrically opposed to President Hoover's avowed principles, by its action in forming cooperative organizations through its own initiative and coercing members into joining them; by interfering with the free play of competition in business, by favoring cooperatives over independent dealers; by using government funds to compete with independent dealers on an unbusiness like basis; and by unwarranted speculation in commodities."

President Hoover notified the Duluth board that the resolution has been turned over to the farm board for consideration.

General Shares Forms New Fixed Investment Trust

Formation of a nation-wide group of investment houses in chief cities of the country, to be headed by General Shares corporation of Chicago, which will offer shortly a new fixed investment trust, Leaders of Industry Shares, to be issued in two series, one of the maximum return type and the other of the capital accumulation type, is announced. A stock unit of each series will comprise 33 common stocks of leading American corporations and is diversified by groups, 12½ per cent being in rail securities, 21 per cent in utilities, 8 per cent in oils, and 58½ per cent in industrials.

Underwriting Opportunity

A manufacturing company, one of the oldest in its line, doing excellent business, desires to place $500,000 issue secured by first mortgage on its entire newly completed plant in northern Indiana on the New York Central R. R. The company owns 17 acres, 6½ of which are under plant. Recent American appraisal, $1,200,000. Past 5 years' earnings over 3 times interest at 6% on this issue. Proceeds of issue to liquidate recent plant extension and care for increasng business. Unfilled orders now on hand sufficient for next year's profitable operation. Company had no funded debt. Replies invited from reputable individuals or investment houses.

Believes Time May Remedy Some Ills of Realty Bonds

BY SCRUTATOR.

So much has been written and so much more said in recent months about the perilous situation in real estate securities that it may not be amiss here to state that time could remedy many of the ills which are being complained of.

It is notorious that real estate securities, as a class, are marketable now only at heavy sacrifices. So true is this that the principal danger, from the investing holder's standpoint, is that he will make the sacrifice for the sake of cash or attractive looking equity securities when his interests require him to hold his paper until maturity.

Housing of all forms is subject to laws of supply and demand. There are small straws blowing to indicate that residential building, at least, is not being overdone and that a shortage in living quarters may come earlier than is expected among the gloomy.

Sees Little Improvement.

Building of this type has been at a low ebb for two years. The American people, in that period, could hardly be said to have improved their shelter arrangements at all. This year it is known that no more homes are supplied with electricity than there were a year ago. That can only be the fruit of depression. The national industrial conference board attributes this to joint causes; the cutting off of service for those who don't pay bills and a doubling up of families, a familiar recourse adopted as a necessity.

There is considerable unrented residence space in Chicago, and a good deal more for which the inhabitants are delinquent in their rent. This cannot be a permanent condition in a city growing at the rate of 60,000 a year and certain to be in the forefront when business starts upward.

Some new observations by the real estate securities committee of the Investment Bankers' association may be quoted. The members held that rents are within 3 or 4 per cent of their low figure, if indeed they have not reached that point. They believed, they said, that inexperienced and over-optimistic leaders were responsible for the overbuilding of office, commercial and industrial properties in the years preceding the last two.

Views of Committee.

They criticized the capitalization, for lending purposes, of prospective building income when this income basis was greater than the physical value of the property. And the committee believed that bad lenders had not only hurt themselves and the people to whom they sold bonds and other securities but also had had an unwarranted effect in running down the immediate cash value of the good loans.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that there is nothing wrong with the ultimate values of good real estate securities. Because the oversupply is less marked in residential building, it is expected to come back first and even to precede the upturn in general business. This is an opinion, but one of weight, coming as it does from careful, experienced men. Realty bond holders may well look askance at propositions to get rid of their holdings for something not so well protected, or for small cash, when the market is at its present low ebb.

ABBOTT FIRM MAKES CHANGES IN PERSONNEL

Changes in the personnel of Abbott Laboratories as the result of its consolidation with the Swan-Meyers company has been announced by President Alfred S. Burdick.

R. M. Cain, president of Swan-Meyers, has been elected vice president and director in charge of sales. Dr. Frank B. Kirby will continue as sales manager.

Other changes to become effective at once are: S. DeWitt Clough, secretary and director of the Abbott Laboratories, has been elected vice president and director; James F. Stiles, former controller, has been elected treasurer and director, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. O. Brown; E. H. Volwiler, chief chemist, and E. L. Brach, purchasing agent, have been elected directors.

F. W. Scheigert, former secretary treasurer of Swan-Meyers company, has been elected secretary and director of the Abbott Laboratories. Among the other executives of Swan-Meyers who will join the Abbott management are Edgar B. Carter, A. E. Snyder, C. R. Jackson, Rolando Angiada, and O. C. Durham.

Bank of Poland Names Dewey Honorary Member

WARSAW, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Charles Dewey, American advisor to Poland, has been named an honorary member of the council of the Bank of Poland, in appreciation of his work in reorganizing Polish finances. Mr. Dewey's resignation was made effective Oct. 20, on the theory that Poland had carried out his stabilization regulations, and therefore had no further need of him.

FOREIGN ISSUES IN THIRD PERIOD ARE $153,000,000

Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Foreign financing by public offerings of securities in the United States during the third quarter of 1930 totaled $153,000,000.

This was announced today by the commerce department which said $60,000,000 of the amount was used in repaying foreign obligations maturing in the country, leaving a net total of $93,000,000 which was the smallest for any similar period in several years.

It compared with $427,000,000 in the preceding quarter, $232,000,000 in the first quarter of 1930, and with $79,000,000 in the third quarter of 1929.

Paul S. Dickens of the department's finance staff, reported that Argentina was the largest borrower in the United States during the last quarter, taking $66,000,000 largely to meet maturities of previous borrowing. Several European flotations aggregated $42,000,000, while Canadian issues accounted for most of the remainder.

Form First Bancshares Corp. of Fixed Trust Type

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 26.—The First Bancshares corporation has been organized as a fixed investment trust holding bank stocks. Henry O. Nichols, formerly with Harris, Forbes & Co., has been chosen president. Under the plan of organization, trust certificates will be issued against the deposit of stocks of sixteen major banks throughout the country.

STOCKS' DOWN TREND PROVES INFLUENTIAL IN COURSE OF BONDS

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A sagging share market proved a more potent influence on the course of bonds than the extremely easy tone of money last week.

Selling of stocks was accompanied by liquidating in bonds throughout most of the week, and while prime bonds receded only slightly, second and third grade issues dipped into their low ground of the year.

Since September domestic bonds have receded with few interruptions until the average price is comparable with the lowest of 1930, and industrials have established new minimums.

The reaction has been in the face of very easy money conditions which influence greater interest in bond buying. Although call money held at 2 per cent on the stock exchange, funds were available outside at 1¼ and time money remained stationary at levels unprecedented in recent years.

Banks are still active in adding investment issues to their portfolios, the increase for the week totaling $28,000,000, and there has been some accumulation by other institutions. Despite these factors the dominant trend has been downward. Observers who found the reversal somewhat inexplicable have been forced to turn elsewhere in seeking an examination.

Much of the liquidation in bonds appeared to be a repetition of former experiences when good investments have been sacrificed to protect poor ones. At least that appears to bond men to be the logical explanation for the heavy selling on days when stocks were reactionary. Speculators forced to raise additional margin for their shareholdings were content to dispose of their bonds considerably under the previous price.

Although prices are down from the year's peak, confidence is expressed in many quarters that bonds will resume their advances as soon as there are definite signs that liquidation in stocks has run its course.

United States governments have been firm, selling close to their highs. Most of the changes in foreign dollar issues have been advances. The upward trend of Latin Americans was helped by the fall of the Brazilian government, an event which apparently foreshadows a return of stable conditions in the South American republic. Reports from Germany concerning the economic situation were somewhat confused and the movement of German bonds was highly irregular.

SAGGING STOCK PRICES CONFUSE CHEERFUL TALK

Public Confidence Is Now Stressed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 26.—It was not perhaps without significance that last week, in which the stock market averages went at one time under the previous low record either of this year or of last November, should have been selected for widespread declaration of confidence in the future.

Cheerful assurances were equally numerous last March, it is true, and were destined to complete disappointment. But their character was different. In March the oracles were fixing the date for industrial recovery. Some of them placed it only sixty days away; many of them hinted at prompt return of the stock speculation and business activity of early 1929. The speakers at last Wednesday's conference of industries at Chicago expressed unshaken belief in eventual recovery, and so did Mr. Schwab on Friday in predicting "a larger measure of prosperity than the American people have ever before known." But none of these prophets named a date; they might have been talking of 1932 or 1935.

Stress Need of Confidence.

The Chicago orators laid much stress on the necessity for "return of confidence" in order to promote recovery. No doubt, it will be objected that "confidence" is a state of mind which is created by surrounding circumstances, and which, therefore, once lost, cannot be called back by a gesture. To urge people to be confident might be thought to savor of another proposal, lately much in vogue, that responsible leaders ask the plain consumer to buy more goods and thereby speed industrial recovery. A rather obvious answer to this particular suggestion was the query, how it is likely to impress the consumer who has lost his money, or his job, or both. But here again the analogy is not altogether fair.

There is a good deal of potential buying, whose objective is the necessary requirements of a time some distance ahead. If the potential buyer is confident of the longer future and if he has the resources with which to lay

New corn is moving in fair volume the earliest of any season, starting late in September, and increasing with more grading No. 4 and No. 5 than in any previous year. This has scared holders of old corn in Chicago as they have unloaded freely.

December corn, old style, closed at 77¾@77¾c, March 79@79¼c, May 81¾@81¾c, showing gains of ⅛@⅝c for the week. Prices for the week follow:

Speculators and industry are carrying good lines of oats, the latter having them hedged. These hedges have, in some instances, been changed from December into May, and there are fair sized lines still to be turned over. Consumption of oats in the country is heavy, but supplies are regarded as ample, although the movement to primary markets is the smallest in more than five years. Prices had a range of 1c, and closing trades were ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower for the week. December closed at 36⅛c, March 38¼c, and May 39¼c for old style. There is very little trade in new.

Union Carbide & Carbon Has Earnings Shrinkage

Reflecting quiet conditions in industry, the Union Carbide and Carbon corporation reports a decline of over 24 per cent in net earnings for the third quarter compared with the same period in 1929. Net income was $7,208,679, equivalent to 80 cents a share on 9,000,743 shares outstanding, compared with $9,522,421 in the third quarter of 1929, or $1.14 a share on 8,313,818 shares.

The Lambert company reported for the September quarter consolidated net profit of $1,904,121, based on ownership of 95.8 per cent of the stock of Lambert Pharmacal company and including Pro-Phy-Lactic Brush company, acquired this year. This is equal to $2.54 a share, and compares with $1,696,082, or $2.26 a share, in the previous quarter and $1,959,106, or $2.61 a share, in the September quarter of 1929.

A BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR BIG MEN ONLY.
We have an unusual opportunity for 3 successful one call specialty salesmen; you must be keen, aggressive and possess good business judgment, plus the desire to picture profits and possibilities in a convincing manner and close contracts on first call.
You must have had at least ten years' experience in the sale of ideas rather than merchandise and you must prove yourself to be a Big Money man. You must be 35 to 50 years of age and your last record must stand closest investigation to receive attention.
These positions require constant travel; you will appoint exclusive dealers for a highly rated manufacturer doing a national business. You will be paid large commissions and your traveling expenses will be advanced.
If you can meet these requirements call in person at 230 N. Michigan-av., Room 1112, between 9:30 a. m. and 1 p. m.

A Sales Opportunity

LOANS ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY

Why put one, two or more endorsers on a note when you can borrow money in The Household ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY?

We prefer to loan money to the man or woman steadily employed ON THEIR OWN SIGNATURE. Our records show that the greater part of our loans are SIGNATURE ONLY loans.

This service is such a departure from the old method of making loans that we gladly are amazed when it is explained to them.

Loans made from $10 to $300. Pay back any time you can pay only for the time you keep the money. Our service is made for the borrower.

For the few who do not qualify for SIGNATURE ONLY LOAN, A SECURITY OR ENDORSERS OR LOANS WITH ONE ENDORSER.

Give us a call. You will appreciate our service and we will appreciate your business.
